Activities Night Kicks Off Union '65-'66 Program

The University Union, which has yet to celebrate its first birthday, officially began the year with a gala Activities Night Thursday.

A one-hour exhibit time preceded the dance in the ballroom. Two talent shows were presented in Moore Auditorium during the evening.

Various FSU organizations operating booths displaying their purposes and activities.

Religious publications, religious groups, athletic clubs, and service organizations were all represented in the ballroom.

Attendance at the second annual Activities Night was estimated at 1,000. More than double that number, according to Dr. Herb Reynolds, Union director.

Activities on the program included free swimming, a diving contest, and free drawings. Reynolds said that this year's evening was "far improved" over years past.

Robert Owens, a freshman, won grand prize in the drawings, a new car. Owens said he wants to drive the entire University.

A private party which he plans to give for the freshman class, where then capacity crowd filled the ballroom to dance and listen to the music of The Chantones.

Reinhardt said, "The talent show, Mike Arenberg gave jazz renditions of old songs, and Joyce Graham and John Lowe each sang Broadway tunes accompanied by the band."

Following act by Carl Farrell included a worked-over apple. After a display of juggling skills, the crowd watched a Gymbarna demonstration.

A campus comedian Marshall performed the entertainment with a routine on freshmen, politics and satellite.

Tickets On Sale For Film Series

A limited number of season tickets are available at the Union office now through Oct. 5 at the FSU Film Club's foreign film series.

Free dollar tickets are available to students and non-students alike by sending a check to Chris Oglebay, 2917 Ivanhoe, Tallahassee.

Students may purchase single admission tickets at $1 each will be available at the Union office.

Performances are scheduled on alternate evenings at 8 p.m. in Moore Auditorium.

The first film this fall is "The French-German-Italian Conflict" about a young bank robber who is arrested.

Reynolds said he is enjoying himself spending the rest of the year to defend himself. (Continued on page 4)

From Summer Council

Solons Face Stack Of Suggestions

When Student Senate opens its first regular session Wednesday afternoon it will be faced with a stack of suggestions from the summer legislative Council ranging from married student representation to senate reapportionment.

These suggestions, in the form of resolutions, must be acted upon by Student Senate before taking effect.

Climaxing the summer session, the Legislative Council passed a resolution to reapportion the Student Senate on a 48-member legislative plan.

This plan, which will be introduced to the senate in a special session tomorrow, would abolish class senators and dual representation, giving FSU a one-man-vote type representation.

The suggested revamping of the Senate would give each of the 48 senators a 240-student constituency. Earlier in the summer the Council considered resolutions to make drastic reforms in the Honor Court system.

Rather than submit these resolutions to the Senate, the Legislative Council asked the attorney general's office to investigate the court system.

Among the reforms suggested by the LC were efforts to assure defendants the right of fair and unbiased trial by separating the duties of judge and prosecutor.

In the present court system the elected officials act as investigator, prosecutor and judge. According to Sen. Erik Collins, one proponent of the reforms this makes the underlying philosophy of the court "... guilty until proven innocent and it places the burden of proof on the defendant."

This is inconsistent with the rights of individuals as outlined by the US and Florida Constitutions and as honored in any other court said Collins.

"A right to trial by an unbiased court was such a fundamental right that it was incredible to believe

Students Must File

Tom Farrar, commissioner of elections, announced today that students seeking student government office must file with his office, 337 Union, during a period beginning tomorrow at 5 p.m. and ending Sept. 14 at 5 p.m.

Active campaigning starts Sept. 21 at 5 p.m.

Elections will be Sept. 28. Election stations will be located at Bryan Hall, Smith Hall, Landis Green, University Union, Westcott and Seminole Club.

that this was not the case at FSU," he continued.

Summer watch-dog of the LC, Sen. Jim Hilburn, proposed a resolution to investigate too few people wearing too many hats.

Prompted by the situation of the student body president also serving as an associate editor of the "Flambeau," Hilburn asked that the Student Senate investigate the multiple holding of offices by one person.

Despite heavy opposition when it was first introduced, a resolution to create an undersecretary for married students passed unanimously in its final form.

The undersecretary for married students would serve in an advisory capacity to the undersecretary of student welfare and would have to be a married student.

In another attempt to bring FSU legal procedure in line with existing state and federal laws, Sen. Billy Kidd presented a resolution, which was passed, to abolish the FSU Traffic Court.

Kidd said the FSU Traffic Court is not officially recognized by Tallahassee or the State of Florida.

According to Kidd, the procedures conflict with the Statutes of the State of Florida in several areas, especially that of enforcement. The FSU Traffic Court has no legal power to enforce its fines.

Reapportionment will be the topic for discussion in a specially-called Student Senate session scheduled for tomorrow at 4:15 p.m. in Moore Auditorium.

This session is a direct result of planning and work this summer by a joint executive-legislative committee chaired by George Beal, secretary of communications, and Sen. Rick Clemons.

Working along with Beal and Clemons on the committee were Tom Farrar, the commissioner of elections, Kathy Hafner, secretary to executive committee on reapportionment, and senators Joe Hartley, Billy Kidd, Mark Mitchell, and Cindy Skelton.

Fponents of this bill feel that the present system of apportioning the Senate is lacking in many respects. This bill, Beal stated, will give a consistent system of representation to Student Senate.

The plan Beal continued, would eliminate class senators who represent specific constituents but not specific living areas. It eliminates overlapping of districts, underrepresentation of others.

Another reason for the bill is the hope that there will be improved student understanding and participation in Student Government, said Beal.

Each senator, under this plan, is designated as the representative of a particular constituency where size does not preclude personal contact between constituency and senator.

Work on the present bill started back in early summer.

A list of all students here during the fall trimester of 1964 was compiled by computer. All dorms, fraternities, sororities, etc. were eliminated from the list so that only off-campus students would be left.

Next each block of the county and city was analyzed to determine exactly how many students lived or each block.

Two apportionment plans resulted from this survey. Plan 1 calls for a 48-member Senate with 250 constituents.

Plan 2 was approved by the summer legislative Council.

The resulting solutions do not differ radically from the present overall framework. The three major differences are: 1. All living areas, including those for off-campus students, are divided into individual precincts.

2. Class senators, elected in "at-large" elections, are to be discontinued.

3. The vote of all students, regardless of whether they live in dormitories, fraternity houses, sorority houses or off-campus, are to be equal in value.

The committee felt that certain basic principles should be established as a guide for reapportionment. Among these are:

1. Precinct boundaries should be free, as nearly as possible, bound-

Wood Says Free Buses Available

Tired of walking across campus in 15 minutes or running to and from dorms?

Now everyone can ride on and around campus free. Bill Wood, men's vice president, announced that bus transportation will begin tomorrow.

Last year's secretary of finance arranged for the Student Government purchase of two new buses. Although the new buses have not yet arrived at FSU, the University's old shuttle buses will be used until the new ones arrive.

Sen. Joe Hartley and cabinet member Tom Farrar with Lt. Lewis of the Campus Security Police are planning the schedules of the buses.

This schedule will approximate the one used in past years with runs designed to coincide with the changing of classes and with special runs to Alumni Village.

Men's Senate will distribute printed copies of the bus routes and schedules. The exact schedule will be released tomorrow.

Never Loses

To the Editor:

FSU made its mark in the world of big-time collegiate athletics in 1964-65. This success, however, was not just a series of broken records in the books, or trophies lined up in Tully Gym. It's proof of the ability of our athletes, and the enthusiasm and support they received from you.

Up until now, the odds have always been against us. It was easy, through necessity, to stand together against criticism. But everything is in our favor now, and more effort will be demanded of you in order to keep us on top.

Actively show your support for our athletic program through your attendance at sports events, and related activities. This year will be the best year yet.

Let's make success a tradition.

A winning spirit never loses.

The Cheerleaders

Welcome—Plus

It is traditional for the first editorial of each new school year to serve as greeting to all of the new freshmen and transfer students and a welcome-back to the rest of the University community.

While this one shall prove to be no exception to the rule, we would like to add that besides simply extending a welcome, we would also like to issue each of you a challenge to not only attend FSU but to make your presence felt here.

This is the ideal time for every student to get involved in the many extremely worthwhile and interesting extra-curricular activities that abound at FSU. Student Government, the University Union, student publications and many more are in desperate need of willing workers.

We hear many complain about the way things are being run but we see far fewer trying to do something about it. That one person who can make things right quite possibly could be you.

Our advice is to get involved with extra-curricular activities and do it now.

Student Friend

The summertime produced several occurrences, the foremost of which was the selection of Dr. John Champion as president of FSU.

In Dr. Champion, we at FSU have a president who is truly interested in student welfare. He has outlined programs of forums and discussions to allow students to question him and his staff about anything to do with the administration and has repeatedly stated that his office is open to students at any hour.

With this attitude, plus the tremendous amount of experience Dr. Champion has gained both in the academic and political world, we believe that FSU has at long last found the one man who can firmly grasp the reins of University management and guide us to a top rating in the field of higher education throughout the country.

'Give Us That New Time Religion'

Students can "get religion" through the week as well as Sunday with the initiation of a separate religion this year. Formerly a joint department with philosophy, the new Dept. of Religion will be headed by former University Chaplain Dr. Robert Spivey, who said that the separation came about as an out-growth of a three-year study by the University of trends and patterns of teaching religion in American colleges. "The department is non-sectarian in orientation," said Spivey, and is committed to a scholarly investigation and understanding on the phenomena of religion.

"The department approaches the study of religion from the broader framework of the humanities and will participate in the interdisciplinary programs in the humanities both at the undergraduate and graduate levels," Spivey continued.

Spivey said religion is an excellent major for anyone who is interested in a basic liberal arts undergraduate education.

"It helps one develop a perspective on the wider stream of human life and culture and is closely related to the disciplines of philosophy, history, English literature, classical studies and modern languages," he said.

The department also offers a minor in religion.

Spivey said that the department will present 22 courses which cover such areas as the literature and history of the living religions of the world, the influence of religion on western culture and religion as a social and cultural phenomena.

Other members of the department are Dr. Jackson Ice, Dr. Charles Wellborn, Dr. Grace Cairns, Dr. John J. Carey and William Swain.

Union To Offer Varied Services

The University Union, now officially open, will offer many new services to students and faculty during the '65-'66 school year.

New additions this year include the Union bicycle rental service where students can rent any of 12 single bicycles for $2.25 an hour, or one of three tandems for $4.40 an hour. Daily rates are less expensive.

An atmospheric cellar hangout called the Rathskellar is already under construction beneath the Union cafeteria. When completed, this new facility will sport birdcage booths and mushroom-like tables.

Since his appointment July 1, Director of the Union Dr. Herb F. Reinhard has initiated several changes in existing facilities. Outdoor furniture decorates the Olympic poolside, where ping-pong tables will soon be set up.

When weather allows, the pool may be rented to recognized University organizations. Times at which the pool and staff are available are 9:30 p.m.-midnight Friday and Saturday and 9:30-11 p.m. weekdays. Presently in effect are four alterations in pool policy:

If a thunderstorm interrupts swimming, rainchecks are given. Children under six may swim free of charge.

Upon approval of the Union Board last week the University administration sanctioned the following charge in Union dress standards: The Union Board requires that shoes be worn and that students realize the Union is a public facility. Shorts, slacks and other appropriate apparel are allowed.

1100 Coeds In Rush

Sorority rush accompanied by the usual rain and heat began with ice water teas Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Approximately 1100 women filled out sheets last week and visited 19 sorority houses during the two days of parties.

Women will pick up their invitations to Saturday parties Thursday. Sunday dresses will be worn to the parties Saturday morning and afternoon.

(NEW DELHI)—India's defense ministry says a Pakistani jet attacked Indian forces in Punjab State yesterday in a first strike outside the borders of Kashmir.

The jet is said to have fired two rockets at an Indian Air Force ground unit near the holy city of Amritsar, Indian planes, meantime, hit Pakistani targets in southwest Kashmir.

The Indian plane attacks were in an area where Pakistani troops have invaded the Indian section of Kashmir.

(KASHMIR)—Pakistani forces have pushed Indian troops back still farther in Kashmir in a thrust that put

The Pakistan embassy in Paris announced French President De Gaulle has been asked to help re-establish peace.

Red China said Pakistan is striking back in self-defense and that the offensive, therefore, is justified.

(VIET NAM)—Two Viet Cong units found themselves the victims, rather than the perpetrators, of entrapments by US forces in South Viet Nam.

US Marines surrounded a Viet Cong unit holding a coastal village and closed in on them as US planes attacked from above killing at least 25 guerrillas.

In the central highlands, US paratroopers trapped 10 Viet Cong in a cave and blasted it with artillery until they surrendered. Casualties were light.

(ISRAEL)—There was an exchange of gunfire today between Israeli and Jordanian forces in the central sector of the Jordan River south of the Sea of Galilee.

It came after Israeli commandos blew up 11 irrigation installations in a raid described by an Israeli spokesman as a retaliatory action.

aries of mutual interests of constituents within each precinct.

2. In order to provide fair representation, the number of constituents per senator should be as nearly the same as is possible within the precinct which they represent.

4. Senators should share the right to vote and hold office.

5. Voters should be registered by precinct on the basis of their place of residence.

6. A specific procedure should be established to prevent multiple voting or voting in elections or precincts for which the voter is not qualified.

7. Reapportionment should be carried out periodically in order to avoid obsolescent districting and precincting.

Student Body President Jim Groot said that the Senate can live up to its potential only if it is genuinely representative of the Student Body. "It can only be," Groot said, "genuinely representative if its composition is determined by a nonpartisan scientific formula."

Tom Farrar, the chairman of the executive committee on reapportionment, said that "equality is the most basic requirement for fair reapportionment, and consistency is a major key to the realization of equality." Therefore I am very much in favor of the proposed system." Farrar expressed the opinion that a smaller Senate will be able to favor the 48-member plan.

She was remaining relatively stationary about 335 miles east of the Florida Coast. The weather bureau said that small craft from Cape Kennedy to Sandy Hook, N.J., should remain in port and small craft from Cape Kennedy South to Miami should exercise extreme caution. Betsy carries winds of 125 mph.

The intramural athletic program is swinging into action this fall with a total of 43 teams, said Edward J. Nelson, director of intramurals and sports-related activities.

The fraternity league is expected to kick off with approximately 19 football teams, while the dorm independent gridders will open with about 24, said Cubbon.

The expanded program pits the teams independent against each other on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays, with the fraternities tangling on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays. The season is slated to end in early Sept. 20.

Cubbon has asked that anyone interested in officiating for the tag football games contact him. Previous officiating experience is preferred, but not required.

Individuals or groups interested in forming teams should contact Cubbon at his office in Tully gym.

There will be a meeting of all team independents and fraternity tag football managers and officials Thursday at 4 p.m. in room 212.

Details for the fall are campus sports and tennis tournaments. Details will be announced later.

Will Teamwork Work?

by DAVE NELSEN
Flambeau Sports Editor

As the beginning of the football season approaches, the big question in everyone's mind is, "Can the Seminoles equal or better last year's performance?"

The pessimists seem to think that last year's football successes were due primarily to the Tensi-Bilet-nikoff combination and the team can't excel without them.

This, however, is not the impression one receives when watching the team practice or from talking to the players.

The prevailing locker-room attitude is one of determination and high team spirit. The players feel they have "what it takes" and are determined to prove it.

This high spirit and teamwork was the real key to the 9-1-1 record last season. Some of the players have expressed the opinion that the team is in even better mental condition now than they were last year at this time.

If this is the case then it is possible, or even likely, that the season will be highly successful. At this point in the FSU athletic history it should not be necessary to have a "sensational" player to rally the team and boost morale.

Just the fact of finishing 11th nation-wide last year should create enough enthusiasm in the players and students to have the support necessary for an equally successful or better season this year.

Of course it all remains to be seen, but most of the prognosticators predict only a 6-4 season with the highest prediction 8-2.

With 23 lettermen returning to the line-up there is a very good possibility the Tribe will show that teamwork and spirit is the key factor in FSU football.

95-28-1: Coaches Ponder What Happens Now

(Editor's note: This is the first of a two-part summary of last year's sports. The concluding part will be in tomorrow's "Flambeau".)

The FSU Athletic Dept. has a problem.

The seven Seminole varsity sports carried FSU into the national limelight with 95 victories against 28 defeats and one tie last year.

The coaches are now faced with the immediate problem of equaling or bettering last year's record. Four teams went undefeated, three of them for the second consecutive year.

Two clubs competed in national championships.

The national spotlight focused on Seminole teams from the opening kickoff in football until the last row in baseball.

The football team rolled to its greatest season since FSU became a major college in 1955.

The season was highlighted by victories over Kentucky and Florida plus Oklahoma in the Gator Bowl.

After three straight shutout defeats against Miami, 14-0; TCU, 10-0; and New Mexico State 36-0, the Seminoles looked forward to their Homecoming game against the Kentucky Wildcats as the nation's only unscored upon team.

The Wildcats were coming to town on the heels of wins over "Ole Miss" and Auburn.

They were ranked fifth in the nation.

FSU quickly laid to rest the myth of Kentucky's invincibility by rolling up 21 points in the first quarter en route to a 48-6 victory.

The last scheduled game of the season drew the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in Tallahassee, when the Tribe met U. of F. at home for the first time.

The Gators had an idea of what was in store for them even before game time. Stepping off the buses, the reptile footballers found the fans had already packed the stadium. The boisterous crowd quickly let Ray Graves' men know what they thought of them, with well-meaning comments demonstrating the spirit of friendly rivalry.

The Seminoles made a prophet of the Gator mentor as they swept to a 10-1 win. Quarterback Steve Tensi riddled the nation's number one pass defense for 190 yards on 11 completions, including a 55-yard scoring shot to Fred Biletnikoff. FSU, led by Tensi and Biletnikoff, rewrote the Gator Bowl record book in what has been called "the greatest passing show in the history of collegiate football."

Tensi completed 23 of 36 passes for 303 yards and five touchdowns. All-American Biletnikoff picked off 13 shots good for 192 yards and four scores.

Both Tribe stars were selected to the Gator Bowl all-time team.

Coach Bud Kennedy's basketball team, led by seniors Bobby Lovell and Pete Gonzalez and Jerry Schulz, bounced back to a 16-10 record.

The cagers were in contention for a national tournament bid until the final week of the season.

GARY SCHULL

along with Pete Gonzalez and Bobby Lovell led the Tribe cagers to a 16-10 season last year. The FSU Athletic Dept. finished the year with a 95-28-1 record.

BOP Breathes Easy: Ginger Out

By KATHY URBAN
Flambeau Staff Writer

Ginger McInnis has eased the Board of Publications out of a sticky situation by withdrawing from FSU. Miss McInnis is resigning her position as editor of the 1965-66 "Tally Ho." This summer the BOP was faced with a problem when it was discovered that Miss McInnis did not meet the requirements of a publications officer at the time of her election. The BOP had elected an unqualified editor. Qualifications for editorship of a publication require at least two trimesters' experience in a responsible position on the publication staff and a 2.3 grade average.

This may be either the average from the trimester preceding the election or the cumulative average.

A subsequent check with the registrar's office confirmed Miss McInnis' ineligibility on the grounds of insufficient grades.

Because all members were not at the University during the summer, the BOP postponed their final decision until fall. Miss McInnis' withdrawal has relieved the board of an untenable precedent.

The BOP was faced with three choices which most members seemed to think were equally distasteful.

To declare the election null and void was not legal because there is no provision in the Constitution for such action.

Impeachment from office would have left an undeserved mark on Miss McInnis' record, several board members felt.

To ask her to leave office would have been ineffective as she would "be foolish to give up something she already had," said Dr. Griffith Pugh, board member.

In a letter to the BOP, Miss McInnis stated that her decision was "a difficult one" but for the best. She also said that the action of the board this summer "influenced but did not cause this decision."

Action to prevent a recurrence of the situation was taken immediately. A motion that the qualifications of any candidate for an editorship position be verified by the chairman of the Board of Publications was passed unanimously.

Parties scheduled for Saturday evening from 9 a.m. to 9:45 a.m., 10 a.m. to 10:45 a.m., 11 a.m. to 11:45 a.m., 12 noon to 12:45 p.m., Evening parties cover the times from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m., 8 p.m. to 8:45 p.m., 9 p.m. to 9:45 p.m. and 10 p.m. to 10:45 p.m.

Invitations to Sunday's parties have been picked up that morning from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. They will attend five engagements: 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., 3:15 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. (dinner) and 7:45 p.m. to 8:45 p.m.

Parties for Monday's parties are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Leon-Lafayette room. The next party that same evening is from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. Parties for Monday are 7:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The rushing period is over, and students will sign preferences from 5 p.m. Tuesday.

THE NEW BUS ROUTE

... was released today by Student Government representatives. Two buses will travel around the perimeter of the campus at 10 minute intervals. For schedule see page nine.

Over 13,000 Students Expected at Campus Enrollment Climbs

Enrollment registration figures for the fall term at FSU total 13,000, with an estimated total of 13,500. Registration will delay the admission of final numbers until the end of this week.

With late registration, drop out period will continue through the end of the term in the Union building.

Drop Policy Stated

Current policy of the U.S. Service concerning deferments of college students taking a minimum of 12 hours each trimester will be deferred from the draft with status. However, students taking a four-year course of study must finish in the fourth year. Also, if a student is suspended from the University, draft status would be classified immediately, according to Selective Service laws.

Dean of Students Harry Day, said that registration problems were at a minimum "considering the large number of people."

Other phases of registration were slow, said Day. The long lines for picture ID cards at the Union were diminished greatly when procedure was changed. Students returned for their embossed identification card later, rather than wait for pictures to be developed.

The lines at Tully Gym moved quickly once the registration gates were open. Few stations had long tie-ups, said Day.

As of yesterday, breakdown of classes has the freshman class with 2,356, sophomores with 2,580, juniors with 2,908, seniors with 2,405 and graduates with 2,028.

Men students lead the women 6,928 to 5,775, a difference of 1,052 as compared with last year's 1,000. Official figures for FSU registration will be available for publication when the Board of Regents approves the totals.

Meeting Announced

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Publications three weeks from today at 4 p.m. in the Union to elect a Tally Ho editor.

Error In Housing Contract May Mean Villagers' Pocket Money

A recently discovered error in the married students' housing contract may mean money to some student families.

The Housing Office has discovered a garbage pick-up error in the "Terms and Conditions of Occupancy" for married student housing.

Part I, Article 4, Section C said, "The University will remove the garbage and rubbish without charge". Married students are presently paying the City $1 per month to perform this service.

The whole misunderstanding resulted from a printing error, according to the Housing Office.

"Terms and Conditions" from the U of F was used as a guideline with the exception that FSU would not perform this one similar service.

It is assumed by the Housing Office that the printer used the old set of plates and the result was the current "Terms."

Since the University never has and never intended to perform the service of garbage collection, the Housing Office is not to blame for this error, according to a Housing Office spokesman.

Legally, any married student who signed the 1964 edition of the "Terms" contract is entitled to a refund of his garbage fees.

In most cases the refund would only amount to a few dollars so it is hoped that most students won't ask for the refund in view of an honest mistake, said Student Government officials.

So that a large financial drain will not occur, Housing Office officials said that the reimbursements are being staggered for those who ask for them.

The student will receive his refund when leaving University housing. A letter has been sent to all students in residence at University housing for married students explaining the error.

Also a new "Terms and Conditions of Occupancy" has been issued to the married students. It will take effect Oct. 1, 1965.

Reapportionment

Our Student Senate is in dire need of reapportionment.

Currently some of our Student Government leaders have spent a great deal of time in preparing a suitable reapportionment plan.

This plan will be presented at a special session of Student Senate today. Every senator should be there to discuss this vital matter.

The basic ideas of the reapportionment plan show that a great deal of thought and energy have been directed towards reapportioning the Senate. Everyone would agree that Student Government in the past has not been extremely effective. This plan, with moderations, should change this record.

The reapportionment plan should make SG more effective by offering better communications between the senators and their constituents.

Although most of the apparent problems seem to have been taken into consideration by the reapportionment committees, every senator should thoroughly examine this proposal. Some questions are still left unanswered.

For instance, what will an individual do if he has already signed up to run for an office that is abolished by the new plan? And do we need to do away with class senators?

Small questions such as this must be faced now.

This plan should be the one that Senate will operate under for years to come. It is a fair plan, but every possible difference should be ironed out before it is passed.

Says 'University Must Be Gadfly'

Webster defines a university as "a body of persons gathered at a particular place for the disseminating and assimilating of knowledge in advanced fields of study." One of my professors once defined it as the "free exchange of ideas."

Academic freedom is an imperative for a true university. The freedom to follow knowledge regardless of its consequences is a vital part of academic freedom.

This freedom is probably pursued further at a university than in any other place in our society. A university must inherently be liberal ("one that is open minded or not strict in observance of orthodox, traditional, or established forms or ways.")

Any institution of higher learning that is not liberal is not deserving of the title university. One primary goal of a university is to prepare people for citizenship.

Any society that no longer honors its value, traditions, and is doomed to an early death. American society, the university must be the gadfly to provoke, question, and cry.

I say that the university is more vital than "should be" because it is vital that there be a society, and it does not appear on any substantial scale else.

Our society is basically conservative in a basically revolutionary world. At one time we could understand the necessity of expanding national borders (manifestations of revolutionary action, American revolution). But now we see this same activity on the part of others not as a necessity, but as a threat.

Almost the sole protest of activities in Viet-Nam came from the sphere of the university. It is important whether the protest is right or wrong but that the protest is not suppressed. Nothing should be so sacred as a truly liberal society—everybody should be open to the spirit of inquiry.

Scholasticism (knowledge or learning based on dogma) dominated medieval university. Many of our society would like to dominate universities today. To these, inquiry is akin to heresy.

Tobacco, Hibiscus, Weeds Grow Side By Side In FSU Greenhouse

Glant tobacco plants, graceful hibiscus and rank weeds from the marshlands grow side by side in a new FSU greenhouse tended by a former Army sergeant who has developed a green thumb only during the past year.

Bernie Wheatley was a maintenance man in the Conradi Bldg. in September when Chairman Robert W. Hall of the Dept. of Biological Science promoted him to greenhouse technician.

The new 32 by 100 foot greenhouse near the entranceway of Conradi Bldg. was put into use after his appointment.

Some of the plants—coleus, mimosa trees, ferns, morning glories and beans—are used for classroom or lab teaching in botany or plant physiology, but most of the growing things are used in experiments being conducted in six or more laboratories across campus.

Some albino tobacco plants are being used by Dr. Hans Gaffron in photosynthesis experiments in the Molecular Biophysics Research Bldg. In the same building Dr. Howard E. Taylor, a molecular geneticist, is using some Bellevilla romana, a plant with only eight chromosomes. In genetics studies. Assistants from the laboratory of Dr. Lloyd M. Beidler, aphysiologists regularly visit the greenhouse to pick the red fruits from a shrub called miraculous fruit, or Synsepalum dulcificum. They're used for some experiments in human taste inhibition.

The fruit, when eaten after a lemon, makes it taste like an orange. Beidler said. The plant is a native of Nigeria and some almost forgotten literature from the 1890's indicated that natives used the fruit after drinking the sour wine from palm fruit, or a native of the Congo used it to sweeten the taste.

In addition to determining the effect of the fruit on taste, an effort will be made, with the assistance of Dr. Werner Herz of the Dept. of Chemistry, to isolate the substance responsible for its peculiar effect on taste.

In addition to the albino tobacco, there are scores of regular shade tobacco plants, grown in a series of experiments by Dr. George W. Keitt, assistant professor of botany, in which various chemicals are being used to control growth.

Dr. Margaret Y. Menzel, associate professor of biological science, has been conducting some experiments in genetics, using tomato plants and hibiscus among others.

Lepedeza plants are used by Dr. Arnold F. Clewell, assistant professor, in taxonomic experiments, and Dr. Robert K. Godfrey, another taxonomist, grows swamp-loving dogfennel, along with thoroughwort or boneseal, and hybrids of these two members of the Eupatorium genus.

Godfrey said it is speculated that an undisturbed species of dogfennel may have evolved from a cross of the other two species and some experiments are being conducted, largely at Tall Timbers Research Station, to shed light on this.

One of Godfrey's graduate students, Jean Wooten, utilizes several members of the Sagittaria genus, sometimes called arrowhead, in attempting to remove some taxonomic confusion because of leaf form. Wheatley has grown most of the plants either from seeds or cuttings, even though before September he had never done any gardening.

Wheatley retired in 1961 as a master sergeant in the Army after 20 years of service. He came to Tallahassee a year later and got a job with FSU's maintenance dept. Wheatley said he's learned how to handle the greenhouse principally by asking questions, reading a bit and then simply doing the job and thus finding out how to do it.

"I ask questions," he said, "I figure the best way to get information is to ask questions. When I don't understand something I ask about it. Sometimes I'll worry a person until I get an answer."

"As for books, I don't believe in getting 100 percent of your knowledge from a book. From the book I get the theory and figure out the rest for myself," he said.

Fall Coed Students Have More Freedom Due To Rule Change

This fall FSU women will have more freedom than ever before due to the changes made in Senate's rules last spring by Women's Senate and approved by the dean of women and the dean of students.

Topping the list of changes is the controversial apartment rule which prohibited women entering men's apartments unless chaperoned. The new rule allows upperclass women to attend apartment parties if two or more couples are present. Senior automatics have been increased from eight to 12 hours per trimester. This will allow senior Greek women to stay out one hour after regular closing hours on Sunday, Tuesday or Wednesday nights. Dorm women may take senior automatics any night except Friday and Saturday.

Dorm visiting hours now begin at 10 a.m. daily.

Under the new rules each dorm will set its own schedule for use of telephones after closing hours.

Tallahassee overnights have been increased from three to six per trimester for upperclassmen and four for first trimester freshmen.

Overnight out-of-town trips transfer students are now limited to three per trimester. Dorm closing hours on the following last final exams at night of commencement are 12:30 a.m.

Upperclass reactions to the changes are varied. "Do you new women's rules or women's rules?" asked a graduating woman.

"There's more leeway but still as much a farce as I commented a junior woman, "What about freshman—the to wait a whole year to see a senior man."

"We need women's rules if are still too strict," commented a graduate student who did his graduate study at FSU.

"They don't have hurs when from," he continued. "It's rules that are bad; it's over-ling that's bad."

Jack K. Arnold, associate professor, said he was pleased that the changes had been made through normal channels in Student Government.

"PLEASE SIR, CAN'T YOU REOPEN THE CLASS?"

A sign pleading on hands and knees couldn't persuade the departments to open classes as students were faced with, "Sorry, but this class is closed."

Weather Dampens Spirits While Registration Temperatures Rise

Despite the cooling rains, during registration week temperatures rose inside Tully Gym as students carefully-worked-out schedules were altered by the reply, "I'm sorry, but that section is closed."

According to discontented mumbling, security was at a new low as students entered registration before their appointed time to pull class cards. History, physical education, freshman biology, government and English classes were the first to go. Each department is responsible for its sections of class cards and the number of workers employed to distribute the cards. Some departments closed sections then re-opened them while others went on a strictly first-come-first-serve basis.

Although class cards became scarce and some lines lengthy, registration moved smoothly with the aid of additional floor space, clipboards, and mimeographed directions sheets.

Moving two stations to the lobby of Tully Gym increased the floor space within the gym to provide for more station operators and checking lines which helped keep the traffic moving at a steady pace.

The blackboards and direction sheets helped alleviate the problem of traffic jams. Students knew in advance what to have prepared for each station thereby avoiding last-minute shuffling or filling out of class cards.

A few departments provided separate lines for freshman courses, undergraduate and graduate courses, thereby speeding up the process.

According to Del Williams, registrar, the biggest problem is registration in adequate space facilities. A place twice the size of Tully Gym would be perfect, says Williams.

Successor Introduced

Bailey Asks 'Support' From Press

Thomas Bailey, retiring state superintendent of public instruction today called on the Florida press to give his successor, Floyd T.

Christian, and the cause of education "the same degree of support afforded me over the years."

Bailey, thanked the press for "its important role over the years in the improvement of education in Florida."

He commented that the people of Florida have never "turned a deaf ear to education when the question was presented in a statewide election."

In preparing to retire, Bailey took his letter to the press as an opportunity to introduce his successor to Florida.

Christian enters the office with 21 years of school experience. 1 years as Pinellas County superintendent. The first appointed county superintendent in Florida, he served as president of the Florida Assoc. of County Superintendents in 1954, and as president of the Florida Education Assoc. in 1955.

The school system Christian headed for the past 17 years was named in 1960 by the American Assoc. of School Administrators and the National School Board Assoc. as one of the 20 outstanding systems in the nation.

Christian received an AB degree from U of F and a master's degree in Education from the same university. He has done advanced studies at Peabody College and served as chairman of the Superintendents Work Conference at Columbia University in 1960.

He began his career in education in 1917 as a teacher and principal at Clearwater High. In 1945 he was elected Pinellas County superintendent of public instruction.

Under his leadership, Pinellas County built more than 100 school buildings and opened one of the largest vocational technical education programs in the state.

With an agriculture center and a technical education center, Pinellas County led in the development of educational TV studios at St. Petersburg and Clearwater.

The county was one of the first to provide a separate building for the special education of physically handicapped children and to provide regular classroom teaching facilities for the children.

He spearheaded the successful fight which took school systems from under the price tag of the Florida Milk Company.

Nationally, he is an active member of the American Assoc. of School Administrators and the group's advisory council on resolutions committee.

Deadline Nears For Fellowship

The deadline for application by students for nomination in the fourth Graduate Fellowship national competition is Oct. 1. Up to five qualified students may be nominated by the faculty committee chosen to interview the candidates.

The fellowships are open to senior men and women or recent graduates of accredited U. S. colleges who would like college teaching and who plan to study for a Ph.D. Applicants may be single or married and must be less than thirty years old at application time.

Candidates for the fellowships must exhibit evidence of intellectual power, personal characteristics, and concerns which range beyond self-interest and narrow perspective.

This one-year award is normally renewable for four years; stipends depend on individual needs with limits: single, $18,000; married, $2200, plus dependency allowances and required tuition and fees. Other fellowships may be held concurrently with this award.

Liquefier Used For Sub-Zero Tests

A helium liquefier newly installed in the FSU Physics Research Bldg. will open the way for numerous experiments requiring temperatures near absolute zero, or 273 degrees below zero Centigrade.

Helium boils at a lower temperature than any other element, just over four degrees above absolute zero or what is called 4.2 degrees Kelvin. It is therefore nearly always found as a gas rather than as a liquid.

By reducing its temperature to 4.2 K, the gas is converted to a liquid, bottled and made available for experiments.

In almost every field of physics and chemistry, there are experiments requiring a temperature somewhere between 20 degrees K and .01 degrees K, according to William Moulton of the Dept. of Physics whose field of low temperature and solid state physics is one of those using such low temperatures.

Henceforth the lowest temperature available on campus, except when from the outside, has been the 77 degrees K in liquid nitrogen.

Two devices, one in the Molecular Biophysics Research Bldg. and the other in the Nuclear Research Bldg., convert nitrogen gas into liquid nitrogen which also is widely used in various researches.

Moulton, who came to the faculty this year from the University of Alabama, said the new liquid helium facility will be useful in several studies at FSU.

Chemists can use very low temperatures in trapping free radicals which are stable at such low temperatures. Moulton has been conducting studies of this sort, using rare earth compounds and semiconductors.

There will also be studies requiring powerful magnetic fields. Magnetic fields have been created traditionally by placing a coil, or solenoid, around a piece of iron. Very heavy electromagnets and large amounts of electrical current have been required, however, to get magnetic fields which have only a fraction of the power of the 80 thousand Gauss field made possible by using a solenoid of certain materials reduced to very low temperature.

By suspending a solenoid, which is an alloy called Niobium Zirconium, in liquid helium it is converted into a super-conductor which, with a minimum of effort, can be made to produce such a strong magnetic field.

Chemists can use very low temperatures in trapping free radicals which are stable at such low temperatures.

Liquid helium can be used in developing ultra-high vacuums of the sort used by Dr. James C. Skofronik of the Physics Dept. in a thin film physics program. The vacuum possible by using liquid helium to produce it is about 10 thousand times better than when using liquid nitrogen, Moulton said.

The liquid helium is placed in insulated stainless steel bottles as the laboratory requires it.

During the experiments, a hose recaptures the helium as it boils off into a gas. The gas flows to a central storage tank by the way of a pipe system extending through the Physics Bldg.

Increased Enrollment Threatens Individuality

At I.S.U.: A Comparative Report On Growth

In considering the growing problem of integrating socially alienated students, Dr. Richard E. Hulet, dean of men, and Dr. Anna L. Keaton, dean of women, agree that with more than 7,000 students enrolled at Illinois State University, it is becoming difficult for the student to identify himself fully with the school and retain his personal individuality.

Dean Keaton commented that this lack of personal contact and integration existed not only among the students, but among the growing faculty and administration as well. It is impossible for a faculty member with an over-lecture class of 500 to know each of his students individually. Nor is it reasonable to expect that each student will automatically stand out in large groups and classes.

"But the difference between ISU and the universities which have stopped trying to integrate students and faculty," says Dean Hulet, "is that we have the philosophy and the desire to keep trying new ways to handle this problem."

He believes that student identity can be held intact by breaking down the segments of university life into smaller, more manageable units. On this campus, formalizing faculty-student contacts is going on in the classrooms, residence halls and extra-curricular activity programs.

At present, the residence halls are one of the main avenues of this effort. The dormitory, and especially the individual floors and corridors which contain a maximum of 50 students, is a place where the student may find peer acceptance and stand out as an individual.

For the off-campus student, however, such an opportunity is often missed. Only when a very well organized group of students is under the direction of perceptive householders can the residence hall situation be duplicated.

Dean Keaton emphasized a second approach to student integration in ISU's placement of faculty and administration within the reach of the student body for conferences and counseling. A further step, she said, is the constant evaluation of the larger classes in an attempt to make the classroom experiences have a definite personal meaning for the student.

INTENTLY WATCHING "DR. KILDARE"

... students enjoy the comforts of the air-conditioned television lounges during Activities Night at the Union.

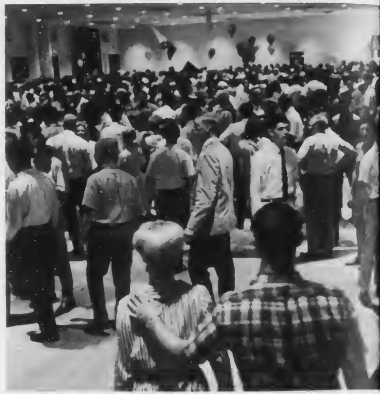

Melodie Betts

It was World's Fair night in miniature at FSU last week when the University Union opened its doors to over 6000 students.

Lines formed to the left and right for free bowling billiards, swimming and coffee. Streams of people filed past the many exhibits on display in the Union ballroom.

A capacity crowd listened to the music of The Chaotics in the ballroom while the lounges filled with television spectators.

Moore Auditorium had "standing room only" for both performances of the variety show sponsored by the Union.

Owens Own Press

Publish Or Perish No Problem Here

The "publish or perish" edict doesn't at all worry one new faculty member. He has his own printing press.

Asher Derman, new curator of FSU's Art Gallery, is not only a painter but a poet. The expense involved in having a booklet of poems and drawings privately published two years ago led him to buy a press. After shopping around New City, he finally found one that suited his purpose. It was a used one and reasonably priced. The six drawers of wooden type that came along with it are at least 50 years old, Derman said.

Derman's publications to date include "In Passing..." a booklet of poems printed in November, 1963, and the design and drawings for "Come to Life," poetry by Theodore Dimin, privately printed in November, 1964.

A teaching fellow at Rhode Island School of Design before coming here,

THE ACADEMICIAN'S NIGHTMARE

... publish or perish, holds no threat for a new member of the faculty. He owns his own printing press. Asher Derman of New York City, a new curator of the FSU Art Gallery, is a poet as well as a painter. After undergoing the expense of having a booklet of poems published, he bought the second-hand press and the 50-year-old wooden type shown in the picture came along with it.

Space- Research Scientists To Study In Engineering Program

The School of Engineering Science launches an undergraduate program in astronautics this fall designed to train elite research-scientists for the nation's continuing venture into space.

The graduates of this program will fill an increasing need for trained personnel by space-related industries located in Florida. Features of the new program will include course work in plasma processes, gas dynamics, applied dynamics and propulsion systems.

The new program joins and augments current programs in electronics, materials science and systems science.

The astronautics program will especially center on training research-scientists in the rapidly expanding field of propulsion, according to Dean Grover Rogers.

Rogers pointed out that in past years the Russians have held a lead in developing the large liquid fuel propulsion systems and the U.S. is in the process of overcoming this lead. In order to do this, much effort is being made in new types of plasma, ion and nuclear propulsion systems.

The astronautics program at FSU is the first such course especially directed towards this particular field in the Southeast and one of the few in the nation. The program will mean a rapid increase in faculty members and supporting equipment in the next few years.

The School of Engineering Science, established three years ago, designs its undergraduate program as a basis for graduate work.

Ninety per cent of its graduates enter graduate school for work on a master's or doctor of philosophy degree after receiving the bachelor's degree.

This high percentage of students entering work on higher degrees is a reflection of the high quality students entering the program, Rogers said.

Students admitted to the astronautics program must score in the top 10 percentile on tests such as the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, College Board Entrance Examination and the Florida 12th Grade Test. In addition, the student's high school academic record should average B plus or better, he noted.

The engineering science program at FSU cuts across traditional areas of conventional engineering. It recognizes no mechanical, civil or electrical engineer as such but is aimed at training the research-scientist to work in new areas, such as Astronautics, of engineering science.

By 1967 all activities of the School of Engineering Science at FSU are expected to be housed in units of the new Engineering Science Quadrangle. This new building was authorized by a recent act of the Florida Legislature and will cost $1,502,000.

Derman has been turning out art work for several publishing houses in New York City.

For three years he served as art editor and designer for children's magazines and designed publications for the sales department of Trans-World Airlines.

Derman received the B.F.A. in painting from the School of Art and Architecture at Yale University (1961) and the M.F.A. from Rhode Island School of Design (1963).

His paintings and drawings have been exhibited in a one-man show in New York City at the Artztz Gallery in 1960, and included in exhibitions at the Aspects Gallery, N.Y.; Norfolk Museum, Va.; and the Mitchell Wagman Gallery, Philadelphia. Derman is now getting ready for the gallery opener at FSU—the Jerold Rosenblum Exhibition of Recent Paintings—which will go on exhibition Sept. 15.

The new curator hopes to include films, lectures and art features along with the regular program of exhibitions this season. Derman's research interest is the psychology of creativity, or the origins of the artistic process.

Clean Mars Is Science Worry

How clean will our next spacecraft to Mars have to be to avoid contaminating the red planet when it lands on the Mars surface?

With a new one-year grant of $32,928 from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, FSU statisticians have begun a study of some of the contamination probabilities involved.

Since a determination of whether life exists on Mars is one of the goals of future Mars probes, NASA wants to be sure a space-ship aimed to land on Mars will not carry bacteria or other microorganisms along. Various members of the department will hope to:

(1) Form probability models to determine the decontamination level necessary for spacecraft in order to avoid contamination of Mars at least until after the indigenous life on that planet has been thoroughly studied.

(2) Study and develop statistical techniques for microbial assay in order to determine sterilization dosages of various types required to kill very high proportions of microorganisms.

(3) Form probability models which take into account current knowledge of both the surface and internal contamination of spacecraft.

Senate Committee Passes Bill 1

KATHY URBAN
Flambeau Staff Writer

A reapportionment plan and a voter registration bill were approved today in a committee meeting following a specially called meeting of the Student Senate.

In the Senate meeting, Men's Vice President Bill Wood moved that both bills be sent to a special committee on reapportionment "to iron out difficulties and to answer questions that may arise."

During the committee meeting, George Beal, sec. of communications, reported on the 250-48 plan approved by the summer Legislative Council. In the proposal, six districts divided into 48 precincts represent the entire student body.

Each senator would represent approximately 250 constituents. Beal explained the variation in the number of constituents per precinct by stating that Reynolds, which houses 250 students, is a precinct in itself whereas Cawthon, with 284 women, is also a precinct.

The reapportionment bill includes a section providing for revision at least every three years. Revision of the reapportionment would be based on registration figures for the most recent fall enrollment.

Two plans were considered for presentation to the Senate. Legislative Council approved the 250-48 plan because of a smaller number of senators and less division of campus established housing.

Two amendments to the reapportionment bill proposed by Wood were adopted by the 10-member committee.

Two senators, one male and one female from each class were added to the suggested 48.

The amendment to declare the bill operative and effective in the first election following its passage was also passed.

Dissenting opinions about the addition of class senators included the argument that "it's a compromise" which defeats the bill's main goal of closer representation.

The bill in its amended form will be brought before the regular Senate meeting this afternoon.

The second bill considered and passed by the special committee concerned voter registration. Tom Farrar, commissioner of elections, presented extensive outlines for the registration of students for all future elections.

Under suggested plans, largely the work of Beal and Farrar, students will register at designated polls before elections and during election day.

As students register, their present address will be matched to the housing address list from the Registrar's Office. Activities cards will be stamped with the assigned precinct number and class.

Candidates Told To Delay Filing

"I strongly urge potential candidate to wait until tomorrow to file for Senate elections," said Tom Farrar, commissioner of elections, today.

A reapportionment bill to be voted on in Senate today may change the precincts, so students would be wise to file after today, explained Farrar.

The same bill will eliminate freshman class senators unless a compromise amendment is made. Farrar stated that he expects a compromise because it is "not fair to represent by senators all classes except the freshmen."

Freshman class president, vice president, secretary-social chairman and all precinct senators may file today through 5 p.m. Tuesday Sept. 14. All declarations of candidacy must be filed with the commissioner of elections.

Active campaigning begins 5 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 21. Elections are Tuesday, Sept. 28.

There will be a compulsory meeting of all candidates Thursday, Sept. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in Moore Auditorium. All campaigning procedures will be explained at this meeting.

All candidates for office must have at least a 2.0 grade average and must be enrolled for the entire trimester.

GRE Coming Soon

Seniors required to have the Graduate Record Exam for graduation may obtain applications from the University Testing Service, 203 Education. The request must be stamped by the Bursar's office and returned to 203 Education by Friday evening. The GRE will be given Oct. 9.

SENATE REAPPORTIONMENT COMMITTEE considered and passed two bills yesterday that would provide for reapportionment and voter registration.

Sociology Head Meyer Ninkoff Suicide Victim

James Griggs, director of the Dept. of Social Research, will be acting head of the Dept. of Sociology for 15 years, was announced today.

Dr. Ninkoff, who served as head of the Dept. of Sociology for 15 years, was announced today in his home Aug. 21, 1965, the same day of an "apparent self-inflicted" head wound 10 years of age.

Coming to FSU in 1950 as head of the Dept. of Sociology, Dr. Ninkoff traveled widely, conducting foreign study tours. While at FSU, Ninkoff became one of the leading authorities on "Sociology."

Dr. Ninkoff authored "Technology and the Changing Family." In conjunction with the late W.F. Ogburn, he authored several other books including the widely-used text "Sociology."

Dr. Ninkoff was to have received an International seminar, which he helped organize, concerning research in the family.

Dr. Ninkoff's only son, Peter, was a student body president at FSU, and was practicing law in Miami. He was a New York City, N.Y., resident, received his B.S. degree from the University in 1925 and his M.A. degree from the University of Southern California in 1928, before his 24th birthday.

More Non-Block Seats Available For '65 Games States Erickson

There will be between 1,500 and 2,000 more non-block seats between the 40 and 50-yard lines in Campbell Stadium this year according to the plans drawn up by the Student Seating Committee, said Lie Erickson, head of the committee.

The plans chosen will place the blocks in a rectangle stretching from the 20 to 40-yard lines up to row 60, between aisles 13 and 15.

Groups wanting a block must send a personal representative with the number of seats requested to the attorney general's office the Tuesday before the game.

Wednesday at 5 p.m., the blocks will be drawn. If a group is not represented, they will not receive a block for that game, said Erickson.

Organizations entitled to blocks are Greeks, the Religious Council and any recognized club on file in the Attorney General's office, Erickson said.

Other plans were considered by the committee but rejected. These included two rectangles between the 30 and 40-yard lines on both sides, and a horseshoe-shaped arrangement from the 35 to 40-yard lines, up to row 75 and then over to the other 35-yard line and down.

Open House Set By FSU Theatre

The FSU University Theatre will have an open house and tryouts for its first play, "Heartbreak House" by George Bernard Shaw, Monday and Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Conrad Theatre.

This will be the first meeting of the University Theatre which presented the plays, "Antigone," "Thieves Carnival," and "Never Ask His Name" last year.

Film Series Opens

The Classic Film Series will open tonight at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. in Moore Auditorium with the English comedy, "Kind Hearts And Coronets."

The film is a satire of homicidal humor about an Edwardian gentleman who murders his way into a peerage. The eight victims, all played by Alec Guinness, are each eliminated in a cleverly-conceived "accident."

Admission is $5.00.

Discount Service

The merchants of many college towns have met with university officials and worked out a Student Discount Service. This small discount is offered to all university students and has been a tremendous success with all parties concerned.

The discount serves as an encouragement for the students to patronize the local businesses rather than purchase the majority of their clothes, supplies, etc., in their hometowns.

Many Student Governments have taken the initiative to arrange for such programs with their local merchants and Chamber of Commerce.

The discount is usually about ten per cent, and this is a lot more than FSU students are receiving at this time.

The existing relationship between our student body and most of the Tallahassee merchants leaves much to be desired.

The salespeople of many local stores are often rude to students and act as if it is actually a bother to serve students.

Perhaps we have brought this on ourselves, but this situation should be improved.

The Student Discount Service would be an excellent project for our own Student Government. Our SG seems to be doing an outstanding job at this time, but a service such as this would certainly be a benefit to our student body.

Projects such as this should be sponsored by our Student Government. When the students actually see how such SG-sponsored projects are affecting them, some of the apathy toward SG will surely dissolve.

Transportation

The campus bus is finally running after many promises by campus politicians and a few members of the administration. This will certainly help the residents of Salley, Smith and Kellum, as well as the many other students who take advantage of this free service.

As soon as the schedule is worked out, printed copies will be distributed. It is hoped that enough students will express their appreciation for this service so that the administration will continue the project.

A special tip of the hat to those of you who worked toward continuing the campus bus system.

Marcel Marceau Is First Artist Series

A man of action and no words, Marcel Marceau will perform in Westcott under the auspices of the Artist Series, Tuesday, Oct. 26. Marcel Marceau is the first attraction of the "Blue" Artist Series and will be at FSU for only one night's performance. Season tickets went on sale Aug. 31. They will remain on sale through Oct. 1.

Marceau is considered responsible for the revival of pantomime, the world's most ancient performing art. It is through this revival and mastery of an almost-forgotten art that Marceau's face has become familiar to millions of Americans through television.

Born near Strasbourg, France, he dates his interest in this least-practiced and most difficult art form to his youth. He was prone to imitating by gesture anything that stirred his imagination or suggested a picture.

One year later Marceau created his alter-ego, "Bip," with his white painted face, striped pull-over, tight trousers and battered hat topped with a trembling flower. Bip, whether a hunter, or guest at a party, is the silent witness of the lives of all men struggling against one handicap or another.

Both as a one-man show and with the company, "Compagnie De Mime Marcel Marceau," Marceau has appeared during the last 15 years in the major cities and theaters in some 35 countries throughout the world.

Football Practice Slows Down

LARRY GREEN,

... last year's Seminole sophomore halfback, will not see action this year due to a back injury sustained during spring practice.

Backfield Sensation L. Green Injured During Spring Practice

Larry Green, sophomore sensation last year at halfback for the Seminoles, will not see action for the true this fall.

The backfield swiftness was injured during spring practice and will not be ready for contact work until next year.

Head Coach Bill Peterson described Green as, "a fine back with good speed and nimbleness."

"He was an exciting runner, who we could put in and he would get the long gain," said Peterson.

Green's absence will be felt in the backfield since no other back has his breakaway ability.

Peterson is not overly pessimistic about the loss however, since he feels Phil Spooner, Wayne Giardino and Joe Teke are all capable of handling the backfield chores.

"They aren't as nimble as Green," Peterson explained, "but they can plow their way through for the short gains."

Green gained 206 yards in 50 tries last year for the Tribe. He also hauled in four passes for 36 yards and returned two kick-offs for 47 yards.

The Seminole football squad will back up and relearn its plays by walking through them this week.

After reviewing films of last week-end's controlled game scrimmage, Head Coach Bill Peterson decided to slow things down a bit "because we are making too many mistakes."

Overall, Peterson appeared pleased with the workout, especially with the defensive unit which harried the three offensive quarterbacks all afternoon.

Despite their constantly being rushed, Peterson was impressed with his field generals. "They all have things to learn yet, but they are coming along just fine," he commented.

Senior Ed Pritchett holds down the starting slot, but probably will be determined by the condition of Pritchett's troublesome knee.

According to Peterson, "the team seems to be in good shape." "Pritchett took a lot of bumps around Saturday and even broke a couple of quarterback sneaks. We can get him through these three weeks, he should be better than new," said Peterson.

Senate To Reconvene Today As Go-Slows' Stall Apportionment

... get through the two

... to add two classes

senators from each class, an administration compromise passed by a 21-4 roll call vote.

The second amendment, which the Men's Vice President introduced as "one that shouldn't take too much discussion as it is obviously needed," to initiate orientation as soon as it was passed, died after two hours of filibuster.

Hilburn, backed by "equally-concerned" fraternity brothers Jay Tullman and Doug Stewart, urged the Senate to consider the bill carefully and not rush into something that Hilburn and off-campus candidate Tillman expressed concern over the difficulties that potential off-campus senatorial candidates would have in learning their new districts and constituents.

George Beal, chairman of the summer reapportionment committee, pointed out to the opponents of the bill that the districts would actually be easier to campaign in as their previous precinct comprised the entire off-campus area, a constituency

Hilburn's amendment, opposed by Women's Vice President Nancy Ashely on the grounds that Hilburn "... was asking that we sacrifice 1,300 students for five politicians", was barely defeated 13-12.

For the next hour both the proponents and opponents repeated themselves while trying to get out of a parliamentary tangle that would not let the bill come to a vote until 11:30.

During its time, the brothers plus one (chairman of the loyal opposition Student Party) questioned and requested Beal and Commissioner of Elections Tom Farrar on the "vital time problem in informing candidates and students of the new districts."

Farrar assured them that when the candidates filed he would show them which district they were in. As far as informing the constituents of their precincts, Farrar said this could be done through the "Flam-

Reapportionment, said Beal, would divide the off-campus area into precincts of only 250 constituents. Certainly, said Beal, this would enable candidates to better meet their constituents and run an effective campaign.

Tillman and off-campus Senator Rick Frazier countered with the argument that it was much easier to campaign with wide open districts, because they could concentrate on certain population centers, like the Oaks.

'I lived out at Four Points, about four miles out of town, last year, but I only had to campaign right around campus to get elected.

Groups Should File States SG

Attorney General Jeff Erickson announced today that groups seeking organizational status and privilege to use University facilities should file an application in his office.

Three copies of the constitution and a personnel information sheet are required from the organization, Erickson said.

Upon his approval, the constitution will be sent to Vice President Larry Gonzalez and the Senate for approval.

Only honoraries and special-interest clubs are handled by Student Government.

Raising Of Student Salaries Give Official Support By SG President

A movement for the adoption of a resolution by FSU for base pay of $1.35 an hour for student employees has won active support from Student Body President Jim Groot.

Soliciting help from various campus organizations for aid in the money campaign is the first step toward fund-raising.

All money raised will supplement department funds in the Office of Financial Aid, headed by William Sadler.

According to Financial Aid records, over 1,800 students were helped during the third trimester of last year. In one week of this fall session over 550 students were assisted.

Last year $55,000 was raised by private means to aid students. Approximately two and one-half times that amount will be needed this academic year.

To make sure that the most responsible person will be hired, the Financial Aid Office will be the only office authorized to handle the extra money.

There is a pressing need for the pay raise in students' salaries. Spiraling costs of college living have outstripped the rise in the standard of living. The great expansion of the University itself leaves less money for student aid.

A joint effort among many private student and alumni organizations with the Student Government as spearhead could create concrete results, said George Beal, sec. of communications.

Jim Groot said that the measure could even go to legislation, although he hoped a resolution would suffice.

Beal, Sadler, and other administration and student officials are studying the feasibility of different ways to collect funds and keep the same number of jobs.

Traffic Hazards

Many students remember the enforcement problem the Tallahassee Police Dept. had last year in attempting to persuade students to use the underground walkway while crossing Tennessee St. near DeGraff Hall. After placing informative signs along the street and taking up a few ID's, the police gave up.

Although the seriousness of this problem is usually disregarded, we would encourage our fellow students to use the underground walk. We agree, it is a lot of trouble to take five minutes to use the passageway, but if students continue to jaywalk across the street, it will only be a matter of days before someone is maimed or fatally injured.

University officers and traffic control officers are concerned over the problem. We are too.

We know one thing for sure, however. Those cars have been going too fast along this section of Tennessee St., for we too, have been having trouble dodging them.

See Any Job Discrimination?

To the Editor:

The following problem I wish to bring to your attention concerns only a small segment of the student body. However, it is of great importance since it deals with a job application that removes the dignity and self-respect of anyone applying. Specifically, I refer you to the Jitney Jungle job application.

"As a part of my application for a job, I agree to take a Polygraph Examination to predetermine my qualifications for a job with Finer Foods, Inc. I also agree, if accepted, I will pay for this examination by payroll deductions. The cost of this examination is $25.00 and I agree to a withholding of $5 per week for 5 weeks to pay for said examination. I further agree to take other examinations when requested by the Company after being accepted for employment with the Company and at the Company's expense provided the Polygraph Examination indicates no dishonest acts or derogatory information concerning job performance.

"If at any time the Polygraph Examination shows I am not being fair and honest with the Company, I agree for the Company to withhold from my payroll the cost of this Polygraph Examination plus any other losses to the Company. I understand that this payment will not relieve me of prosecution to the fullest extent.

"The Company hereby agrees not to pry into my personal affairs unless derogatory information available indicates otherwise and, unless it is necessary in regards to any misconduct while employed with the Company, the Company is only interested in incentive, attitude, honesty, desire, ability, drinking habits, health and personality of the employee.

"The employee or prospective employee will be asked if he/she will report a dishonest act by another employee and if said employee will not be willing and will not report another employee's dishonesty properly, this person will not be suitable for employment with Finer Foods Inc.

"I understand this agreement thoroughly and by signing do agree to uphold and comply with it."

Slight shades of intimidation? Someone applying feels that the Jitney Jungle supermarket deals in gold ingots instead of over-priced groceries. Rest assured students, your grab is bagged only by thoroughly lie detector cleansed bagboys.

You can sleep well tonight, your Jitney Jungle polygraph is awake. DeWayne A. Williams, Jr.

Away Games Threaten

Flambeau Sports Editor

A quick look at this year's football schedule leaves most people with mixed emotions.

Looking at the home schedule gives one a great deal of confidence about the coming season. There should be some outstanding home games this year with the Seminoles winning all or most of them.

The away games are the real threats to the success of the FSU gridgers. In most of the pre-season prognostications, FSU's losses are predicted to be in the away games.

To be specific, Alabama has been picked a winner in every case. Florida has been picked to win in most predictions and many prognosticators have gone so far as to say Kentucky will get its revenge this year.

The Alabama game will pose a double threat. First, just the power of the Crimson Tide on their home field is something to be feared.

Second, the Tide will be wanting to give the alumni a good show for homecoming. This does not necessarily mean the Seminoles will lose, but it will probably be the toughest game of the season.

The Florida game will come in for a close second as the toughest game of the year. The Gators will be after blood to make up for last season.

Kentucky will have the same idea in mind, but they are not likely to have the equipment necessary, even though they have 27 returning lettermen.

This year in Lexington, FSU has the chance to even the score with the Wildcats by making the five-game series a 2-2-1 record.

Sports Announcements

Soccer practice will be on the soccer practice field behind Tully Gym Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Future practices will be Mondays and Thursdays at 4 p.m. and Saturdays at 10 a.m. Anyone interested may attend.

The Seminole Diving Club will have its first meeting of the year tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the University Room of the Lohr.

The main purpose of the meeting is to organize a course in the use of SCUBA equipment.

Anyone interested in learning to scuba dive may attend the meeting.

Three Contenders

Q'back Situation Encouraging

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series on the status of the FSU football team.)

One of this fall's most encouraging situations has developed among FSU's quarterbacks.

A position which seemed to be hopelessly weak without a healthy Ed Pritchett now has three strong contenders, any of whom might grab the reins for a run down the tracks.

Pritchett is first and foremost, and his performance so far indicates that he's ready to go in a big way. After waiting in the wings behind Steve Tensi for two years, he is mentally ready and physically able to guide the Seminoles.

Behind him are junior Tony Gero and sophomore Kim Hammond. FSU coaches feel that either can do the job.

"We've been impressed with the way our quarterbacks have come along during the first two weeks," Head Coach Bill Peterson said today. "All three have made great strides."

"They have weaknesses they must overcome, however. For instance, every quarterback has a few pass patterns he can throw better than others. They have to work hard on those they don't throw well."

Pritchett is a seasoned performer who completed 21 of 36 passes for 295 yards and nine touchdowns last season. He also handles the team's punting.

According to Peterson, Pritchett is very versatile. "He's a good passer, a good runner and a good kicker. We're going to let him do them all," said Peterson.

As the number three quarterback last season, Gero hit five of nine passes for 51 yards. Hammond is untested in varsity competition.

"All three have about the same ability when you get right down to it," said Peterson. "Pritchett is ahead of the pack because of his experience."

"We were very much concerned about the long pass. We didn't have it this season. If we were quarterbacks have shown we can throw it," said Peterson.

Another big plus factor is the attitude of the three.

"They have a renewed attitude between them," Peterson said.

"They all want to play very hard but they are always helping each other. Each has the leadership necessary for the position."

Senate OK's Reapportionment

"Little LB," Jim Groot, a little subtle behind-the-scenes maneuvering, sat back and said this statement last night: Senate passed the reapportionment bill yesterday.

It did not have greater pleasure than I will have when I see the bill number one into without a doubt this bill represents one of the outstanding efforts ever witnessed student body and is certainly step forward for SG.

It is more important than the fact that it represents is the fact that it allows the students to be fairly represented in their Student Senate. There are some disappointments in the bill, I think it is unfortunate that the Senate did not fit to finally allow graduate students some just representation, but this is something the elected Senate will deal with. As for the politics of the bill's passage, I can only say that our senators rose above politics and wisely with the issue at hand.

As all I am extremely pleased with the situation.

Something that should be mentioned regarding work of the Legislative Council, particularly the members Clemens, Farrar, and

STUDENT SENATE VOTES YES

... for reapportionment in yesterday's session. The solons also passed a bill to provide for voter registration.

Both the reapportionment bill and voter registration bill were passed by the Student Senate yesterday after two hours of wrangling and harangue over what were termed "petty amendments" and "delaying tactics".

Four amendments were presented to the 24 senators present. Two of the four were passed.

Sen. Palmer Williams proposed that freshmen be accorded two male senators and two female senators to increase the freshman voice in Student Government. This amendment passed.

On the other hand, graduate students were refused a voice in the Senate as designated "graduate student senators." It was made clear, however, that they have the opportunity to run for office in their proper precinct.

In the case that a precinct should not elect a senator, the president of the student body has the right to appoint a student to fill the vacancy.

An effort to combine precincts 13 and 14 in Kellum and precincts 16 and 17 in Smith Hall was defeated.

Main arguments against the amendment were that the proposed reapportionment plan was designed to bring the delegate closer to his constituents.

By electing two senators to represent the whole dormitory, the "one-man, one-vote" principle would not have been carried out.

The new voter registration bill will go into effect as soon as the student body president signs it. By the fall elections, every FSU student should register under the new program whereby the names and addresses of each person will be matched with the corresponding information on master lists at the polls.

A person's precinct will be determined by his residence. Precinct and class will be stamped on the activities card of each student.

Commissioner of Elections Tom Farrar and Secretary of Communications George Beal prepared the material and study sheets for both calls, called "praiseworthy," by Bill Wood, men's vice president.

This plan should cut down on multiple voting so prevalent in previous elections, Farrar said.

The 250-48 plan for reapportionment translated means that the FSU Community will be divided into 48 precincts including approximately 250 voting students within the assigned limits.

Although physical size of the precincts vary, number of constituents remains the same with equal voice in Student Government.

After the stalling of Wednesday's Senate session, some Senate members and observers were doubtful that the bill would be passed.

Even on the floor of senate, discussion ranged from the opinion that the reapportionment bill was the "best bill ever presented" to a "garbled mess."

Leader Says Volunteers Must Committees

All those people to fill the committees and other bodies dealing with University affairs, said Joe Tellone, Secretary of the Student Government, when they need help from committees throughout the year.

The most direct way students can know who is interested in University affairs, Tellone said, is to have a committee that will help the University become a qualified part of the community.

Who wants to meet this should see me in 337.

In the past three years, the file was used only in a few instances, he said.

Tellone is personally interested in anyone mentioned in the file who is still interested in working for the Government.

In procedure, every name in the file will be disregarded and a response or entered in the file will be used in this year's committee work, Tellone continued.

Teacher Rating Under Analysis By Faculty-Student Committee

The faculty-student advisory group, formed six months ago "to prepare a satisfactory teacher evaluation," has reported that the plan is still in the analysis stage.

A faculty member of the committee, Dr. Leland Williams, said that a meeting of the faculty members took place during the summer, but future meetings were delayed until the student members returned to campus.

The committee was originally established by President John Champion following an IBM-rated poll last March in which students were given the opportunity to evaluate their teachers.

"We felt at the time this came up that the best way to go about the task was to set up an advisory group to plan the rating and attempt to win the support of students and faculty. If we had something not seen by the faculty as well designed, they would have resisted," Dean of Student Harry P. Day said of the organizing.

The Student Government-sponsored faculty evaluation consisted of eight questions concerning teacher interest, stimulation and ability as well as the students' knowledge of the teachers' requirements.

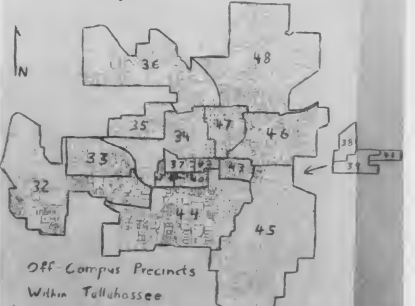

IBM questionnaires were distributed in each of the 1,100 classes affecting all 700 faculty members. The actual polling took about 10 minutes of class time.

Results of the poll will go to administrative and departmental heads so professors will see how well they are communicating with their classes.

"Hopefully," said Charles DeFoor, chairman of the faculty evaluation, "this will help give the faculty members an idea where their teaching technique could use some improvement."

The advisory group, composed of faculty members Ruth Rockwood and Williams, students Charles DeFoor and Virginia Vaughn and chaired by Dr. Charles Grigg of the Institute for Social Research, is awaiting a preliminary analysis of the questionnaires by the University Computing Center to begin its work.

REAPPORTIONMENT

... will create these new off-campus precincts which will have approximately 250 constituents per senator. The map is available in room 337, Union for all candidates to check their exact precincts.

Hail To The Chiefs

We would like to pay tribute to a group that somehow seems to be forgotten by a portion of our student body. To see a member of this group on campus, one would think that he (or she) was an ordinary FSU student. There is no boastful swagger or cockiness about his walk or manner.

These students come to the FSU campus days before classes begin. They practice hard in preparation for their first chance to show their skills. They spend many hours practicing as a group, and many more as individuals.

Each member of this group has been chosen because of his outstanding talent. Each is truly devoted to his work.

Many of these students get nothing more than their own satisfaction for their efforts.

Yes, we have a good football team, but we truly have a magnificent marching band. Everywhere the Marching Chiefs go, they leave a lasting impression of greatness, one that every FSU student, faculty member or alumni can be proud of.

We would especially like to welcome and congratulate the new members of the Marching Chiefs. We know that they will enjoy their years at FSU. The band members before them have done an excellent job.

We could not measure the amount of spirit the Chiefs have created through the years but we know that no other university in the South can match the excellency of the FSU Marching Chiefs.

Surely it must be a source of great pride to be a member of this team. The Marching Chiefs may not receive a great deal of publicity and they may be ignored by some, but in our eyes each member stands taller than trees.

(TEXAS, HURRICANE BETEY)—Last night dangerous Hurricane Betsy was churning her way towards the Texas and Louisiana coasts at a speed of 17 mph. She was centered about 250 miles south of Mobile, Ala., moving west-northwest. If she continues on the same path, chances are that she will come ashore this morning somewhere between the Mississippi River mouth and Galveston, Tex. Evacuation of both residents and cattle along the Louisiana coast had already begun late yesterday afternoon. (HOUSTON, ASTRONAUTS)—Astronaut Gordon Cooper said he decided to abandon an attempt to rendezvous with another satellite during the Gemini Five space flight last month.

The statement released at a conference was the first public disclosure of his role in this decision, Cooper says he and Conrad made excellent radar with the satellite, an encouraging development for the next flight.

(INDIA-PAKISTAN)—India is to have knocked out 75 P tanks in a 24-hour period in very heavy fighting. The dispute between the two countries on the border state of Kashmir resulted in numerous tank battles. On two new fronts, in the north and southern Pakistan, Pakistan is claiming victory. Communist China Premier Hu-En-Li told an audience in Beijing that his country supports Pakistan. He did not say Red China would provide material assistance. He claimed India as the aggressor and the US could have something to stop India.

Greeks Have Dual Senators

To the Editor:

At this writing, the battle over reapportionment is still raging on the floor of the Student Senate. Raging is actually the wrong word. A much better one would be "willing." Certain senators are sacrificing the student body to preserve their positions.

George Beal headed a committee of eight this past summer that spent the entire third trimester re-mapping the campus in an effort to give the students a semblance of fair representation. They came up with two plans, one of which was adopted by the summer Legislative Council to be passed on to the Senate.

Now, with the bill on the dissecting table, six senators stand dead-end against it. Five of the six are Lambda Chi's. As the University limits the size of any fraternity to 75 members, this means that Lambda Chi is represented in a ratio of one senator to every 15 constituents.

The same system which allows this gives the married students, 10 percent of FSU's student body, one whopping representative. Political specialists will hereby note an inconsistency. Although some of the Lambda Chi's may say that they stand for off-campus precincts, yesterday's voting confirms suspicion of dual allegiance.

This "dual representation," senators elected from one precinct while their hearts and votes go to another, is what the Senate is trying to eliminate. As George Beal says, "The best argument for reapportionment is the way Senate performed yesterday."

Arguments such as the selfish ones being put forth in Senate now do not enhance the image of Student Government. In fact, many students who, under normal circumstances couldn't give less of a damn about Student Government, are developing a profound loathing for the pettiness found in it.

And no wonder. There is far too much, "I'm for me," "I'm for my fraternity," and "my constituents before anything." How about a little bit of being for FSU? Or honest and fair political practices? Agreed, it could be a completely unique experience, but then, it might actually accomplish some good.

Reapportionment Plan Outlined

The Senate reapportionment bill is not a radical change in the system of Student Government at FSU. It is radical in that it adheres strictly to the one-man, one-vote principle in electing precinct senators.

The bill retains most of the features of the present system, including a unicameral Senate composed of senators from precincts combined with class senators. On-campus precincts are changed very little from their previous pattern.

The off-campus precincts, however, are designated as individual precincts, with only the residents of each precinct allowed to vote for their respective senators.

The bill is based on nine basic principles as outlined by the Legislative Council Committee on Reapportionment. They are as follows:

1. The number of constituents represented by a senator should be small enough to allow communication between the constituents and their senator, but large enough to avoid an excessively large and unwieldy total number of senators.

2. In order to provide a closer relationship between the senator and his constituents, voting should be by precinct with each senator elected by one individual precinct.

3. Precinct boundaries should reflect, as nearly as possible, boundaries of mutual interests of constituents within each precinct.

4. In order to provide fair representation, the number of constituents per senator should be as nearly the same as is possible within each precinct.

5. Senators should reside in the precinct which they represent.

6. Students should share, without regard to their classification, the right to vote and hold office.

7. Voters should be registered by precinct on the basis of their place of residence.

8. A specific procedure should be established to prevent multiple voting or voting in elections or precincts for which the voter is not qualified.

9. Reapportionment should be carried out periodically in order to avoid obsolescent districting and precincting.

In applying these principles to the local situation at FSU, the bill divides all students into six districts based on place of residence. These districts are: university housing for single students (dorms), university housing for married students, sorority housing, fraternity housing, off-campus supervised women's housing, and off-campus housing. The total number of students living in each district was divided by 250 to determine the number of senators for each district.

The statistics used for this purpose were obtained from the University Housing Office, the Off-Campus Housing Office and the Office of the Registrar. They were processed by the University Computing Center on the I401 Computer, using the Tallahassee City Directory as a guide to the location of off-campus students.

After the number of senators per district was determined as described above, each district was subdivided into individual precincts with approximately 250 constituents per precinct.

The result is that each precinct senatorial candidate runs for election in a precinct of about 250 constituents. At-large elections for precinct senators are eliminated. This was done to allow better communication between each precinct senator and his constituents, and to avoid at-large elections in which small blocs are able to elect senators who supposedly represent over 4,000 students, but who actually represent the bloc which elected them.

The net result is a Senate based on representatives from every segment of the University, with each student's vote equal in value in Senate elections.

Foreign Student Enrollment Up

Five years ago FSU had only 75 foreign students. This year over 200 are expected to register.

The students are from 49 different countries and 50 are new students this year.

Typical of the new undergraduate students is Sakit Chantanoote of Thailand. The outstanding graduate of a commercial high school in Bangkok, this slight, youthful-looking student plans to major in business administration. Coming to FSU was no easy task for Chantanoote.

He won the only government scholarship of its type available to high school students in his country. A member of the English Club at his school, he studied the language for four years.

Freckle-faced Eithne Mary Coyle of Dublin, Ireland, like many graduate students, has an assistantship at FSU. She's in the School of Social Welfare. "In Ireland there is no master's degree program in my field and after I graduated this June from the National University of Ireland, I began making plans to continue my education," she said. After receiving her graduate degree, she plans to become a medical social worker in her native country.

Far from being friendless and alone at FSU, the two will join other students from their countries. "International student communities in most large universities across the country are rapidly expanding," W. E. Byerts, foreign student advisor, pointed out.

The increase in the number of international students at FSU resulted in the appointment this year of a foreign student director with full-time responsibility for these students. Prior to that time, the job was handled by staff members in addition to other duties.

A retired Air Force colonel, Byerts received his master's degree this August from FSU in Guidance and Counseling.

"By 1970 there will be an estimated 100,000 foreign students in this country," he said. "They represent the cream of the crop from their countries. By the time the examination, selection, and screening process is over, only the best equipped students remain and they are usually highly motivated."

Foreign students rarely become "dunkouts," Byerts noted. "Only 48 of over 1,000 students here on government grants have left school because of academic difficulties. This is far below the dropout rate for American students." Nearly 85 per cent of the students are working on graduate degrees.

Educational funds for the students come from a variety of sources—government, civic organizations and private funds. However, many of the students have financial difficulties and Byerts said he is working on a loan program to help them over rough spots. Another difficulty is housing. Most of the students live off-campus because of lack of space.

The pattern of students attending FSU has shifted during the past few years. "Just a few years ago most of the students came from Europe but now the majority come from Southeast Asia and India. Most are interested in studying job-oriented subjects in the natural science field rather than in the humanities," he noted.

Byerts explains the influx of foreign students to this country (expected to increase 10 per cent by 1970) by pointing out that more money is available for the students to study here and the rising prestige of American education.

The blending of the international students into the university community is no easy job. The most important hurdle is proficiency in English. Each student is given exhaustive tests in the language to determine his ability.

Weekend Aids Shell Collection

Dr. Joseph Golden, FSU sociologist, spends his weekdays searching for answers to problems of the family and community in this complex society—but he spends his weekends at the seashore searching for shells to add to his collection.

To Golden, however, shell collecting is more than a hobby—it's a philosophy.

"The mollusk you find off your Florida shores is a soft, sensitive little animal with a hard outer shell as a protection—the shell is the first thing you see when you find one," Golden said.

"People are much the same way," he added.

In further explaining his philosophy Golden said, "Shells, like people, are also formed by their environment—the curve of the shell is a duplication of the curve seen when a wave breaks on a shoreline."

Golden, a native of Austria and now a US citizen, conducted one of his research projects in Tampa where he served as consultant on a National Institute of Mental Health project to study family-centered casework in homes that included a mentally ill patient.

He has also served as research consultant to the Atlanta Family Counseling Center, Ingle Study, Jacksonville Family Consultation Service, Homemaker Study, and the Tampa Hospital and Welfare Board Study on Enhancing the Role of the Unemployed Father.

Golden has several hundred shells in his collection now. Many have been sent to him by former students and friends from all parts of the country.

In Florida he hopes to find many new specimens from nearby beaches. He also would like to meet other collectors in the area and trade shells.

Some of his best specimens were found in Puerto Rico where he combed the beaches on weekends while teaching at the University of Puerto Rico for a year. They are a lot like Florida shells, the collector said, except "a little bit more colorful."

In addition to nearby shores, he hopes to do some collecting at Sable Island near Fort Myers. Known for its great variety of specimens, the rare and beautiful Junonia, a deep-sea mollusk is sometimes found there, according to Golden.

Golden, like many other collectors, prefer "bringing them back alive." The reason for this he said is that when the shell is collected alive the colors remain more beautiful. For this reason he often uses a boat and a dredge in his collecting expeditions.

The real thrill comes, he says, when the dredge, an iron construction, is lifted and the "treasure" examined.

Cleaning the catch is not the most pleasant part of shell collecting, and this is where his family does not care to join him, Golden said. They, however, enjoy the next steps—identification, classification and storage of the finds.

Golden is interested in the history of shells. Cowries and tooth shells were used as money by primitive tribes, he said. "The wampum of the American Indians was made by cutting and grinding beads from the clam shell," he continued.

In Tibet, a shell with the whorl turned to the left is held sacred. The story is told, the professor said, that an American sold a large quantity of left-handed whorls from the Florida West Coast in that country making quite a profit for himself and the shells were then placed in the temples.

One of the most interesting shell varieties, Golden noted, is the family Pectinidae. Those found on the Florida coasts are among the finest. In ancient times the pecten shell was used as a drinking cup.

WRA Intramural Sport Season Emphasizes Coed Participation

by MELODIE L. BETTS

FSU co-eds will have the opportunity to take a greater part in their intramural program this year. The Women's Recreation Assoc. today announced the beginning of a new and larger program which will give emphasis to greater participation for its members.

The past, sports seasons have been limited to six or seven weeks of actual playing time. Now each season will span an entire trimester, allowing for larger game schedules. For the first time, women students will be able to represent their dorms in two sports per season, providing the playing times coincide.

Games that will be offered for the season, which begins next week, include volleyball, tennis, golf, archery and bowling.

Intramural representatives of each organization will post schedules during the week on bulletin boards in the Montgomery Gym for girls to sign up for teams. Basketball, swimming, track and field, ping pong, badminton, and softball will be included in the spring season.

Women are reminded by the WRA executive board that this is their program. Besides keeping that extra weight down and getting some weekly exercise, WRA activities give co-eds a chance to take an active part in University life.

Throughout each season, various extra-curricular activities will take place. The big event for the fall is the Sportsday which will occur in October.

Three top Southern colleges will send teams to FSU for a weekend of sports competition. Last year FSU teams swept to a complete victory.

Team tryouts for the Sportsday teams will be announced later this month. Every co-ed is eligible to try out and participate in the week-end.

Artist Series

A Dollar Down Reserves Seat

Melodie L. Betts

Flambeau Feature Editor

This year two "student" artist series will be presented for the enjoyment of FSU students, faculty and friends. Notice the emphasis on the word student. This year the artist series is designed with the student in mind.

The series will consist of a "blue" and a "green" series. The "blue" series will give single performers while the "green" series will perform two evenings. Students will have to choose which performance they wish to attend in the green series.

Of the 1,629 seats in Westcott auditorium, two-thirds will be reserved for students with the other seats being made available for faculty and townspeople.

This season, in order to get a reserved seat for each performance, students must present their ID cards and certification of registration plus a $1 deposit at the main ticket office at the Union.

The reason for the $1 deposit is to provide every student with the opportunity to receive a ticket. In the past many students have obtained tickets with the thought of "in case I decide to go."

Thoughtless students who have tickets and don't attend the series not only insult the performers who have to play to a partially-filled house, but also prevent fellow students who do want to see the show from doing so.

Now students will forfeit their deposit if they do not use their ticket or return it before the series. The evening of each performance, students will be given a redemption slip at the door. The Monday and Tuesday following the performance, the student can redeem his deposit at the Westcott Ticket Office.

The two artist series will provide everyone with more and better entertainment, said Mrs. Kathryn Vernon, director of the series. Two Broadway plays, operas, ballets, dancers, choirs and symphonies will appear on the FSU stage this year.

Opening the series is the talented Marcel Marceau who will be making his second appearance at FSU. The same weekend the Harkness Ballet with Maria Tallchief, the prima ballerina, will dawn the spotlight at Westcott.

Students can obtain tickets for both the Marceau show and one of the two performances of the ballet.

In November the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra will delight students with their harmonious sounds.

Opening the new year in January, the Metropolitan Opera will be on campus for a two-night engagement. "Cinderella" and "Susannah" will be presented, respectively. Students will have to choose between the two shows.

Shades of Spain enter FSU's hallowed halls in February when Jose Molina's Bailes Espanoles will thrill the crowd with the flamenco tempo.

The trained voices of the famed Norman Luboff Choir open the month of March followed by the Pulitzer Prize winner for drama, "The Subject was Roses." The comedy hit "Barefoot in the Park" will close the series in late March.

Flambeau Spotlights SG

by Janice Dunn and Sherri Manley
Flambeau Feature Writers

Student Government has big plans for the coming year. To better serve the student, SG is examining such areas as the judicial branch of the government, the Honor Bureau, and block seating.

The necessity to change the judicial branch was apparent after a case involving women's rules arose this summer. As a result of this case, the Senate decided to propose a new resolution which would possibly include a jury system of sorts.

Student Government has also compiled information from various schools in the South on their honor systems and has decided that FSU's is among the best. Nevertheless, still pending is the decision to keep or abolish the Honor Bureau.

Finally, a committee designed to study student seating has been formed. Block seating at football games will continue although there will be a 2,000-seat shift. Arrangements are being made to solve the problem of student and non-student seating at other campus activities.

Reid Montgomery Going Home; Triumvirate Takes Over Duties

By BOB CORNET
Flambeau News Editor

It will take three men to replace Dr. Reid Montgomery, advisor to Student Publications, when he leaves Wednesday to become professor of journalism at the University of South Carolina, his home state.

Dean of Students Harry P. Day has named three staff members, Dr. S.L. Weingart, Dr. Herb Reinhard and Grady Toler, to take over Montgomery's duties with publications.

Weingart, said Day, will serve as the editorial advisor of Student Publications. "Though he is not a journalist, he is interested in publications and can give advice for value judgement and writing," Day said.

Weingart, a creative writing instructor, will take Montgomery's place as a faculty member of the Board of Publications.

Toler, currently head of the Student Publications Lab, will be responsible for day-to-day technical advice to publications, said Day. Third member of this publications triumvirate, Reinhard, will directly be responsible to Day and serve as the administrative link for publication to the dean of students.

Day assured representatives of publications that Reinhard, director of the Union, will have no editorial control of the publications.

"I anticipate no conflict of interest between Reinhard's responsibilities as Union director and his new job with publications," Day said.

In the new hierarchy of publications, Weingart will be responsible to Day while Toler will be directly responsible to Reinhard.

When asked why have the apparent doubling of administrative efforts instead of making Toler the liaison between the dean's office and publications and eliminating any possibilities of "conflict of interest," Day said, "I didn't see the need."

"Since the publications are housed in the Union, I think they'd want to feel more a part of it, less separated from the rest of the University," Day continued.

"There will probably be times when the publications will want to feel tied to the Union for its support. In day-to-day operations, they will get the same kind of support as Kay Vernon (director of special events)."

"This could be especially helpful to Toler if he ever needs secretarial assistance or special aid at particularly busy times of the year," Day said.

Carolina Bound

Dr. Reid Montgomery, advisor to Student Publications at FSU, is returning to his native state as a professor of Journalism at the University of South Carolina. He will also serve as secretary-manager of the South Carolina Press Assoc., which has headquarters at the school.

Declarations Of Candidacy Due Tomorrow, Meeting Scheduled

Tomorrow marks the deadline for declarations of candidacy in Student Government fall elections. Candidates may file applications until 5 p.m. on Sept. 13, Union.

Today there will be a committee meeting of all candidates at 2 p.m. in Moore Auditorium.

Women's Club Begins Events

FSU Women's Club will begin its activities tomorrow with a morning Mrs. John Champion welcoming new members. The tea, scheduled from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the Florida Room of the Union, is centered around a theme of "Operation Headstart."

This year's theme "The Great Tea at FSU" was announced to Mrs. E.P. Miles, Jr., general chairman for the tea.

Respective members may make reservations for dues of $2 payable to the University Women's Club.

Those unable to attend the tea may check through campus mail to Ralph Hurst, membership chairman.

Union Needs Talent
The Union Music Committee is seeking for talented students interested in participating in the Union talent show scheduled for Oct. 21.

The show is open to students, faculty and staff. Anyone who wishes to participate should call the Union program Director's office (2231, 2232) by Oct. 1.

Prizes may be from five to 10 dollars long. Selection will be based on talent and originality as well as on...

to explain campaigning procedures. Failure of candidates to represent themselves to attend this meeting will signify withdrawal from the elections, said Tom Farrar, commissioner of elections.

Prospective candidates must be enrolled for the entire trimester and must have an academic average of 2.0, said Farrar. Special regulations of the Elections Commission governing campaigning must be obeyed, said Farrar.

Total expenditures by candidates, including donations and discounts at full value, shall not exceed the maximum amount as stated in the Student Body Statutes.

Senators--$60.

Freshman class secretary-social chairman--$40.

Penalty for overexpenditure will be double the amount of overexpenditure. Any candidate exceeding the expense limits is liable for the charge of cheating. A verdict of guilty would bring automatic disqualification, according to the Statutes.

A fully itemized expense statement, complete with receipts, must be presented to the commissioner of elections before Oct. 5 at 5 p.m., said Farrar.

Active campaigning begins Tuesday, Sept. 21, at 5 p.m. No campaign material is to be publicly distributed or to occupy space on or off campus before 5 p.m., Farrar continued. Public property may not be used for election posters except with the written consent of the owner. Posters must be submitted ahead of time to the commissioner of elections.

Violation of the elections regulation will result in a fine and/or suspension.

MIRROR, MIRROR

...in my hand, what is the fairest sorority in the land? Fall rushers make repairs before continuing their rounds at weekend parties.

DR. REID MONTGOMERY

He will leave Wednesday to begin work in his new position.

Widely known in South Carolina as a newspaper man and journalism educator, Montgomery is returning to his home state from FSU where he has been professor of journalism, director of the University Union and currently director of student activities.

During his ten years, the "Flambeau" and the "Tally Ho" have achieved All-American status several times, and the "Flambeau" became the first collegiate daily in Florida.

Montgomery was made an honorary member of Gold Key fraternity at FSU's homecoming last year for his contributions in the development of the new University Union.

Currently serving as national vice chairman of the College Publications Advisors Assoc., he was named the outstanding college yearbook advisor in the nation in 1962. The 1963 "Tally Ho" was dedicated to Montgomery.

While at FSU, Montgomery wrote the booklet used by South Carolina newspapers, "Publications Laws in South Carolina." He was a contributor to the book "Careers in Journalism."

A member of the Southern Universities Student Government Association's Executive Council, he serves also as editor of the "Southern Student Leader." The SUSG Publications Workshop will be here in October.

Cooperation

Evidently there are a few people on this campus who enjoy adding fuel to the existing battle between the Greeks and non-Greeks on the FSU campus. Many outstanding universities have solved the differences between the two groups.

Many students resent the members of Greek organizations. Likewise, there are numerous Greeks who don't even want to associate with the non-Greeks.

There are quite a few outstanding leaders on the FSU campus. Some are Greeks. Some are independents. This is the way it should be.

A campus run exclusively by one group will become stagnant. The most effective programs are administered by a combination of Greeks and non-Greeks. In this manner, both sides have adequate representation and the views of both groups are expressed.

Some of the members of one group get much satisfaction cutting down the other.

FSU is a Greek minority campus. However, the Greeks do a great deal of worthwhile work for FSU. It is unfortunate that problems such as block seating can't be worked out without creating any dissension.

Perhaps it will hurt the pride of both groups, but what if the Greeks and independents at FSU could work together instead of against each other? Exactly what the results would be is not known, but we believe the cooperation would help build a better FSU.

JTC

Reapportionment

Student Senate finally has passed a fair reapportionment bill. While the plan still contains some inequities, it is undoubtedly one of the most critically-needed measures in the history of our Student Government.

We now hope that some of the faults of the plan can be worked out by the equally-apportioned Senate.

We can see no excuse for the continuation of the ancient and outmoded concept of class senators. It is a simple fact that we no longer have any vestiges of a class system. To keep class representation, therefore, can only be regarded as a last desperate gasp at providing a haven for budding campus politicians anxious to keep their name in the public eye.

Sen. Williams and his "high concern for our down-trodden freshman class" notwithstanding, however, next year we will only have two senators per class instead of the four at present. Perhaps the end to misrepresentation is yet in sight.

Navy Team Visits

The Officer Programs Team from the US Navy Recruiting Station, Jacksonville, Fla., will visit FSU today through Friday at the Union.

The team will accept applications from senior male students and junior and senior women students to attend the Officer Candidate School at Newport, R. I.

The male Officer Candidate School is a 16-week course of indoctrination in naval subjects leading to a commission as ensign, USNR, in one of several line or staff corps.

From OCS the new ensign will report to a navy school for further training or to one of 800 ships and numerous shore stations in the US and overseas.

There is no restriction on marital status in this program.

The Officer Candidate School for women is also a 16-week course. The first half of the course is served as an officer candidate (enlisted). The candidates are then commissioned as ensign, USNR. The second half of the course is officer indoctrination.

Seminole Offense Unleashed; Pritchett Directs 34-0 Victory

Quarterback Ed Pritchett engineered a combined running and passing attack, leading the Tribe varsity squad to a 34-0 win over the freshmen and B-team Saturday at Campbell Stadium.

The Seminole field general fired scoring strikes of 36 and seven yards in addition to scoring once himself.

Pritchett's worrisome knee was given a thorough testing, and from all appearances seemed to be as strong as ever.

The senior tosser was able to drop back or roll out with equal effectiveness, connecting on 15 of 25 passes for 220 yards.

The next time the Seminoles took possession of the ball, halfback Phil Spooner shook loose on a 48-yd. scoring jaunt around left end.

In the second quarter, Pritchett hit fullback Wayne Giardino with a pass to the 18 yard line.

The Seminole fullback picked up 15 yards on the next play and then bulldozed his way over for the third Tribe score.

A four-yard keeper around right end by Pritchett closed out the first-half scoring.

The offense slowed down considerably in the second half. The only scoring punch they could muster was a seven-yd. screen pass late in the third quarter.

The running of Giardino and Spooner and a 79-yd. punt return by Billy Campbell highlighted the Tribe ground game.

Head Coach Bill Peterson indicated he was pleased with the first half-offensive show.

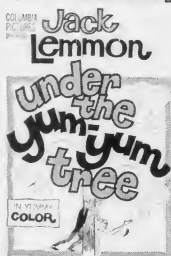

ED PRITCHETT

directed the Seminole offense in a 34-0 win over the combined Freshman and B teams Saturday. The Tribe signal caller completed 15 of 25 passes for 220 yds. and a pair of touchdowns.

Green Pastures

Today marks the end of an era in Student Publications at FSU.

Dr. Reid Montgomery, who for over 10 years has served as advisor to Student Publications, leaves today to greener pastures as a full professor of journalism at the University of South Carolina.

With all due respect to Montgomery's three-man management, the calibre of Student Publications will not certainly decline.

Under Montgomery's direction, the Student Publications and the Student Publications Laboratory system of producing University publications and other literary material has become the envy of the schools throughout the nation.

A measure of this respect for our system may be seen by the fact that the Southern University Student Management Assoc. (SUSGA) has asked to have its annual publications workshop at FSU this year in order to better study our publications methods.

Montgomery accepted an additional assignment three years ago when the FSU University Union building program was initiated.

He was made the first Union director and under his leadership were established not only the final physical facilities but also the concepts by which the Union is governed by a combination faculty-student board.

He could go on for many additional paragraphs listing the numerous honors accorded Montgomery from press organizations around the country or for his years of service as the publications advisor to SUSGA. This, however, is not the whole story.

Montgomery has not only been an advisor, he has been a friend. He has always worked along the principle that the student is right. This recognition of the dignity of the student student has produced a loyalty to the point of devotion from those privileged to work with him. At FSU has lost one of its finest men. We shall miss the poorer for it.

Delta Chi's On Rush Probation; Members Cry 'Discrimination'

by SUE DORRANCE
Flambeau Staff Writer

Delta Chi fraternity has been placed on rush probation this fall, but the reason seems to be up for grabs.

According to Dean Charles LaPradd, advisor of Inter-Fraternity Council, the Delta Chi's were placed on probation because of a violation of the rush rules and regulations.

On the other hand, members of the Delta Chi fraternity said that they were placed on probation for an illegal keg party.

The situation was handled by LaPradd representing the administration because the Inter-Fraternity Council was not yet organized and could not handle the case.

Other discrepancies exist. LaPradd said that rushes involved in the drinking party reported the situation to the administration.

Some Delta Chi's said that members of another fraternity and "two boys" reported them.

The members of the Delta Chi fraternity said that it is unfair that they alone were placed on rush probation, since, they claimed, all but two of the other fraternities on campus also had keg parties.

Investigations of other fraternities are being made, said LaPradd. But, the Delta Chi's said, "the harm's already been done."

LaPradd said that he wishes to strengthen the fraternity system at FSU.

The Delta Chi's said he was hurting the system by penalizing only one fraternity out of a majority. "It's a very bad situation when other fraternities have to resort to such low means to get pledges," continued a Delta Chi spokesman.

He said that the Greeks are in real danger when they work against each other.

While on rush probation, the Delta Chi's will not be allowed to have formal or open rush until next trimester.

members and may only have open house parties.

If the Delta Chi's abide by the rules they may be off probation before next trimester, LaPradd said.

"The amount of time the Delta Chi's are on rush probation is up to them," he continued.

LaPradd also said the administration and the Inter-Fraternity Council are going to make a real effort this year to make the fraternities something that the University can be proud of and to upgrade the fraternity system.

Grades Will Decide

Students Remain 1-A For Fall Term

Male students of draft age who applied for change of draft status at fall registration will remain 1-A until the end of the trimester. Only after one trial trimester, and only if the student maintains a satisfactory status at FSU, will he be deferred, said Itha Rosette of the Selective Service desk today.

It cannot be stressed too strongly that the grades which the student makes will determine whether or not he will be deferred," she added. Only 30 days after registration are allowed for students to apply for deferment. Many boys did not apply. "Boys of military age, 18-26, should come by the Selective Service desk in 102-B Westcott and apply for deferment," said Mrs. Rosette.

Upperclassmen with 2-S status must attend school two trimesters per year, she said. They will be deferred for the third trimester, usually four years, necessary to obtain a bachelor's degree.

Another classification, the I-D military deferment, is actually better than the 2-S (student) deferment since you cannot be drafted while you are classified I-D, she said. In a national emergency, a student could be classified immediately 1-A. However, full-time students cannot be drafted out of school (summer school not included) until the end of their academic year, she added.

William Wharton Named Registrar

William L. Wharton, a former assistant director of admissions at the University of Florida, has been named registrar of FSU.

Wharton replaces Dr. Murray W. Kenna who is due to accept a similar position early next year at the University of West Florida. Kenna will teach at FSU this fall.

The new registrar is scheduled to receive his Ph.D. in education in December from the U. of F. A native of Parkersburg, W. Va., he received his bachelor's degree from Florida Christian College, Tampa. From 1960 to 1964 he served as chairman of the Florida Committee on School and College Relations.

The 2-S classification is retained if the student goes on to graduate school. A 2-A occupational deferment is given to students who teach and to teachers who take classes, provided they are on contract, Mrs. Rosette said.

Approximately a "C" average is required to be in good standing with the local board. Last year only the freshmen in the upper one-half of their class were given deferment, Mrs. Rosette continued.

Graduate students must carry 12 hours or six hours and be on a work assistantship to be considered full-time students by the University, she said.

Students under 18 years of age and non-registrants over 18 should contact the local board within five days after their 18th birthday.

"You may register with Local Board Number 11, 1309 Thomasville Rd. They will notify the board in your hometown," Mrs. Rosette advised. She requested that students notify her of any change in status.

Recently married non-students are eligible for draft unless they have children before receiving their notification of draft, she concluded.

New Record In Honors Program

FSU has accepted a record number of 199 freshmen in its Honors Program for the school year.

All of the freshmen have made a score of 450 or more out of a possible 495 on the Florida 12th grade test or 1,100 on the College Entrance Board Examination and have made grades of 3.5 (A minus) or above in high school.

In addition to the freshmen, 185 returning sophomores will be in the basic studies Honors Program this fall. There will be 40 juniors and seniors in the upper-division Honors Program.

Fifteen faculty members have been assigned to the new freshman group. Basic to the philosophy of the Honors Program is "the closest possible contact with outstanding professors," according to Dr. Paul J. Piccard, director.

"Honors sections are limited in enrollment, composed almost entirely of honors students, and taught by specially-selected full-time faculty members," said Piccard.

"Instructors may depart from normally-prescribed course content and teaching methods in whatever way seems most advantageous to the students," he added.

Max, A 'Can't-Miss' Receiver

Fred Bilenkoff, Don Floyd and Bill Dawson caught a combined total of 110 passes for 1,691 yards and 13 touchdowns last season.

All three receivers graduated, but there is nonetheless a feeling of optimism about FSU's 1965 corps of receivers.

"They're really green, but they could be all right," said Head Coach Bill Peterson. "We have a group of young kids who haven't been tested. We think they can do the job, but we'll have to wait and see."

There is one receiver about whom Peterson has no reservations. He's Max Wettstein, 6-3, 214-pound senior.

Wettstein, although a two-year letterman, has started only two games as an offensive end. Nevertheless, he is regarded as a "can't-miss" performer at FSU's tight end position.

"Wettstein is like Bilenkoff in some ways," Peterson said. "He has the moves and can catch the ball in a group, but his techniques are more deliberate than Fred's. We expect him to be one of the best receivers in the South, so we'll be throwing to our tight end more than we did last season."

Wettstein showed his form as early as his sophomore year when he substituted for the injured Floyd and made headlines with eight catches, two for touchdowns against Wake Forest.

Even though Wettstein is the only letterman, Peterson is surrounded by a group of impressive young pass catchers.

The split end position belongs to Buddy Blankenship, who played behind Floyd last season and could be as good, said Peterson.

"All Blankenship needs is to overcome some weaknesses. He has good hands, good size and can run with the football," the FSU mentor adds. Blankenship is backed up by Jerry Jones, a sophomore with potential. Wettstein will be relieved by soph. Thurston Taylor.

Battling for the slot surrendered by Bilenkoff are Elton Revell, Donovan Jones, Bill Cox and T. K. Wetherell.

"We plan to use them all," Peterson said. "Revell and Wetherell have outstanding speed. Jones runs like a fullback after the catch and Cox is just a step away from greatness. We'd like to bring him along slowly, but we may not be able to."

Members of the Tallahassee University will have their first opportunity to select a concert program for the 1965-66 season. Sept. 17, to hear a recital with four Beethoven sonatas of their own choosing.

Performing artist for the audience choice concert will be Edward Kilenyi, professor of music at FSU. His recital at 8:15 p.m. Friday will be held in Music Hall 13.

Four of the 32 sonatas will be selected by the audience. The other 28 will be classified by groups: the early, middle and late periods.

Ballots Available

Members who wish to pick up absentee ballots for the Sept. 28 election request them before 5 p.m. from Room 337, Union, said Tom such as "Moonlight" and "Pathétique."

Ushers at the door will chalk up the choice of every audience member in each category and a quick tally will determine which four sonatas are played. Should the audience choose the "Hammerklavier" sonata from the late period, Kilenyi will play only this one and two others.

It is more than 40 minutes long, twice the average length of other sonatas. When Kilenyi gave his audience-choice recital in Tallahassee in 1956 the audience did in fact choose this famous sonata.

So far as is known here Kilenyi is the only pianist offering to play the sonatas on an audience-choice basis.

In order to play any of them a pianist must, of course, have all at his finger tips. This is equivalent to being ready to play seven or eight programs of Beethoven sonatas without any advance practice.

Kilenyi's first performance of the kind was in Chicago's Art Institute in 1948. He later repeated the audience choice recital in the same city. He has given similar recitals in Atlanta and Jackson, Miss., as well as Tallahassee.

This fall he will give one in Boulder, Colo., in October and Nov. 12 will devote part of a Philadelphia recital to audience-choice selections.

A native of Philadelphia, Kilenyi began his musical education in Budapest and for years studied under the late Ernst Dohnanyi.

His American debut was in New York's Town Hall in 1940. Since then he has concertized extensively in this country, giving, for instance, more than 20 recitals in Milwaukee alone.

He also is known to millions through his Columbia Masterworks and other records.

Spouse Football Tickets Now On Sale At $4 Savings: Groot

"Spouse football tickets for the season will be only $8 this year," Jim Groot, student body president, announced today.

Last year married students bought regular date tickets, costing $12 for the season, for their spouses.

This ticket is not to be confused with the "spouse card" costing $25 and entitling the spouse to attend all student activities, said Groot.

The tickets go on sale today at the Tully Gym Ticket Office. The wife or husband of the student must bring an ID card, student number and student's name.

A photograph for the ticket will be made at that time.

If at any time the ticket is lost, the spouse cannot get a replacement without going through the entire process again, said Groot.

This also means paying a second fee.

Last spring Groot had a group of "pseudo-pollsters" find out what things married students most needed. Top of the list was a season football spouse ticket.

Groot pushed the ticket through in following up on his campaign platform of last spring.

Groot said the achievement shows "splendid co-operation between students and the Athletic Dept. ... in an attempt to please the students."

"I hope the ticket will increase attendance at games and spirit of married students," said Groot.

Married students comprise over 2,000 of the total population of the student body.

A letter from the student body president's office is being sent to all married students giving them the details of the season spouse football tickets.

APO Chapter Second In Nation

The second most outstanding Alpha Phi Omega chapter in the US is housed on FSU's campus.

This recognition was earned at last year's national conference by the Iota Rho chapter for its many services to FSU, the student body and the Tallahassee community, announced Marvin Davis, president. APO is a national service fraternity with over 400 chapters throughout the US and the Philippines. FSU's chapter has been rated in the top 10 since its foundation.

APO, devoted to friendship, service and brotherhood, is based on the Boy Scout oath and law.

The late President John F. Kennedy was a member of the fraternity.

Among services to the University are helping with registration, compiling and distributing the University Directory and operating the polls at student elections. APO also operates the Travel Service, grants $1,050 annually in scholarships and supports the University Religious Council.

APO aids the community through its "Used Books for Prisons" project and contributions to the Crippled Children's Home. One of the most recent donations to the campus is the fountain located in the courtyard of the Union.

NATIONAL-INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Collected from the wires of the Associated PRESS:

(WASHINGTON)—Astronauts Gordon Cooper and Pete Conrad yesterday told a luncheon of the Space Sciences Board of NASA that they can perform effectively and without damage to health in space. The Gemini Five co-pilots were awarded Exceptional Service Medals by President Johnson at the White House. Today they will start a six-nation good-will tour.

(NEW ORLEANS)—The flooding situation has eased in hurricane-stricken New Orleans. The death toll has climbed to 66. New Orleans counts 44 known dead, with 10 others reported in Louisiana. Florida reported seven, Arkansas four, and Mississippi one. Authorities say it's not yet possible to figure the total damage in Louisiana.

President Johnson declared both Florida and Louisiana major disaster areas, making them eligible for federal aid in restoring public facilities.

(UNITED NATIONS)—Secretary General U Thant and India's Prime Minister Shastri conferred on possible cessation of hostilities with Pakistan. Although there has been no word that Pakistan would be agreeable to a cease-fire, Thant reportedly optimistic. The cessation would not include any settlement of the issue which drove the two nations into war—the Kashmir dispute. Relative quiet was reported at the battlefronts.

(PAKISTAN)—US Air Force planes began removing some 1,300 Americans from Pakistan last night. State Dept. officials said the airlift began in the Lahore area of West Pakistan and the Dacca Region of the east. Most of the evacuees are wives and children of US officials.

Paul Brown

Says Our Freshmen Are Easily Influenced

A reading of the "Social regulations for women" in the "Pow Wow" brought to mind once again a problem that I am unable to reconcile. Basically it is this: What right does this university have to restrict women and men students (men inasmuch as they are given "joint responsibility" for upholding the regulations) in such areas as apartments, parties, and hours?

I have discussed these social regulations with several women (who term them the regulations for coeds and defined by Webster as "an ADULT female person"), and have found them generally to support the rules on the basis that they are in their best interest.

This is said to be especially true in regard to freshmen because they are automatically and easily influenced (toward vice and not virtue, of course). The Bible assumes that men are inherent sinners, and the "Knowledge for College" assumes that college freshmen are extraordinarily inherent sinners.

Digression is fun but back to the point. Perhaps an analogy will be helpful. Assume that the university passes a rule that no women student can get married until she is 21. Assume that the majority of the women students think that the rule is in their best interest. Assume that it is thought that there is a substantial divorce rate among college students who are married before the girl is 21.

Finally, assume that there is a minority of women students who wish to marry before they are 21 and have their parents' consent. Does the university (i.e., the dean of women and the Women's Senate) have the right to restrict the liberty of this minority? I say it does not.

In society one's liberty should be restricted only when it seriously interferes with that of someone else. Many of the women's rules restrict personal actions which do not interfere with anyone else's liberty. Even if the majority of the women support certain of the above mentioned rules, and even if some positive good comes from them, I do not think that the university has the right to make and enforce the regulations. In democratic theory majority rule is important but so are minority rights.

In relation to these social regulations, the majority (I say majority because I have heard the rules justified because they were approved by the Women's Senate—a democratic legislative body) of women are seriously restricting the liberties of the minority of women.

If certain of these regulations did not exist, the minority would NOT be restricting the liberty of the majority. It seems reasonable, therefore, that certain of the regulations can be explained only inasmuch as they are someone's value judgement and that these value judgements have been institutionalized.

For some miraculous reason the moral world does not disintegrate when a girl goes to a large city to work after high school. How can it be when she lacks the beneficence of our social regulations? How can the young women of any city preserve their virtue when there is no dean of women's office to protect them? The coed who chooses to go to college here is assumed, it seems to be immature and irresponsible in the regulations she is a woman ("an adult female treated as a child—sweet pea").

Court Bill Passes

Women's Senate passed a bill to divide women's off-campus living into eight precincts in a meeting of the year yesterday noon.

One representative from each precinct will be elected to participate in an Off-Campus Housing Council to divide women's off-campus living areas.

Linda Johnson is chairman of the court.

Another discussion concerning the nights for taking automatics for non-dorm women from three nights per week to seven nights per week.

Dormitory women seniors will be taking automatics every night from now on because of the convenience of the Director's Office.

Champion Tops List

FSU Staff Personnel Changes Made

Several important personnel changes were made in FSU's administrative ranks over the summer. The key change came with the appointment of Dr. John E. Champion as president of FSU. Before accepting his present position, Champion was acting president of the University. Prior to that, he served as FSU's administrative vice president. FSU will become the first university in the nation to use computerized placement when Dr. William L. Maloy, new director of the University Placement Office, begins a new program.

Maloy was appointed to the position July 1, having previously served as director of educational placement. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Omaha and his Ph.D. in elementary, secondary and teacher education at FSU. The new program is one of two "active participation" programs, according to Maloy. "We want to bring graduates into contact with the master's degrees," he said. "The use of computers is necessary because we intend to follow the careers of our graduates all through life. We want to keep in touch with them and help them out all we can," Maloy continued. The computers will aid in matching employee with employer. With the help of a government grant, the program will be in full operation by July, 1966. Dr. Herb Reinhard, the new University Union director, recently completed his studies at Indiana University where he received his educational doctorate degree. Reinhard, assistant director of the FSU Union last year, said he feels that the Union is already becoming too small for 13,000 students. He would like to see more rooms added. He added that the Union Board will do its part to have an outstanding college Union.

Michael J. Beaudoin, former news editor of the "Tallahassee Democrat," is FSU's new head of information services. A graduate of FSU, Beaudoin worked for the "Democrat" for 16 years, first as city editor and later as head of the news desk.

In his present position at FSU, he is responsible for news, information and general public relations for the University.

This fall the University also received a new registrar, Dr. William Wharton.

Adams Praises Campus Politics

"Political experience on campus is one of the best ways to serve your fellow man," said Tom Adams at the Student Government Election Clinic sponsored by the Student Party Sunday evening. Adams, sec. of the state of Fla., talked with candidates for Student Government offices concerning the responsibilities of holding an office and the importance of willingness to serve others.

"It is important that we carry on our political responsibility from one generation to another," continued Adams. We must uphold the democratic doctrines established by our forefathers," he added.

The clinic was attended by Student Government candidates interested in gaining better insight into Student Government affairs, said SP Chairman Bruce Robinson.

"Following Adams' speech, representatives from the branches of Student Government explained the responsibilities and organization of their respective branches.

The clinic ended with a question and answer period.

Entertainment Wanted

PP & M Tops In Student Preference

by MELODIE L. BETTS
Flambeau Feature Editor

The voice of the student was heard during the Activities Night Program when questionnaires were distributed and students were asked who they preferred to see appear on the FSU stage.

The final tabulations of that poll have been released.

The poll was taken in an effort to give the students an opportunity to voice their opinions on their "Entertainment Series" which last year presented the Kingston Trio and the Johnny Mathis Show.

Kay Vernon, director of the activities programs, was anxious to view the results. This year's program promises to be bigger than ever bringing top-named performers to Tully Gym claims Mrs. Vernon. It is hoped that the committee has signed with the stars the students want, she continued.

Although mum is the word on who will be here, Mrs. Vernon seemed pleased with the results.

Over 200 students participated in the poll. Each student was given a questionnaire which asked him to write in three personalities he would like to see appear in the "Entertainment Series."

The number one choice was Peter, Paul and Mary who received 65 votes. The rock and roll sensation, the Beach Boys, polled 50 votes.

Recording star, Joan Baez collected 32 votes. Students seemed to want a repeat performance, as the Johnny Mathis Show collected 30 votes and the Kingston Trio racked in 29.

Other groups and individuals who were chosen by more than 20 students were the New Christy Minstrels, the Smothers Brothers, the Rolling Stones and the Lettermen. Other choices included Andy Williams, Roger Miller, Ferrante and Tischer, Al Hirt, the Chad Mitchell Trio, the Supremes, Dave Brubeck, Peter and Gordon and the Beatles.

Some other favorites are Harry Belafonte, Norman Luboff, Jay and the Americans, Nina Simone, Gene Pitney, Pete Fountain, the Limelights, Van Cliburn and Jackie Gleason.

Of those selected or mentioned, at least three will appear this year at FSU along with other top-named entertainers.

Henry Mancini will open the series next week along with the Four Preps. One of the highlights of the season will appear Homecoming weekend, but the names will not be released until two weeks before each performance.

In order to give the committee an even better idea of what the students want, the "Flambeau" is opening a poll to its readers. If anyone has a favorite personality that he would like to see perform, send the name to "The Entertainment Series," in care of "The Florida Flambeau," campus mail.

What's New In 'Building' Names

SHERRI MANLEY & JANICE DUNN
Flambeau Feature Writers

Dr. Robert Strozler, former president of FSU, believed that all buildings on campus should be named for men and women who have made outstanding contributions to the school. In order to achieve his aim, he set up a committee to handle the naming and renaming of buildings.

The most recent of the buildings on campus which have received name changes is Deviney Hall, formerly Florida Hall. It is named for Edna May Deviney, who taught first at FSCW and later at FSU for 33 years.

During the last 15 years before her retirement, she served as head of the Dept. of Zoology. After her death in March, 1964, it was decided that Florida Hall would be renamed to honor her.

Other dormitories on campus also have interesting names. Rogers Hall, which will be dedicated on September 30, is named for Dr. William Hudson Rogers. Retired last year, Rogers was the first person to receive the title Distinguished Professor, conferred by members of the faculty.

However, even from the earliest times of the school, buildings have been given meaningful names. Bryan Hall, the oldest dormitory on campus, was named to honor Gov. Bryan in 1905.

The name Jennie Murphree honors an early president and Magnolia was named for the huge tree which marked the site of the dorm before construction.

Outlook 'Promising'

Swim Team Begins Workouts

by Melodie L. Betts
Flambeau Sports Writer

After a week of practice and "loosening up," Coach Bin Stults' swimmers look "promising."

It will be a long hot winter for the Tankers who will be practicing daily in the University Union pool to prepare for this year's schedule.

During the next month, the workouts will allow the team to get the "summer kinks" out and strengthen its strokes and form.

Freshmen are being acquainted with the varsity ropes and Stults is keeping a watchful eye for top potentials.

The major bulk of last year's undefeated squad returned this year. However, there are holes to fill. One of the biggest is that of a diver to replace Neal Allen, last year's undefeated diver.

Larry Profumo, the man who provided last season's one-two punch for the diving competition, was expected to return. However, he was unable to come back this year.

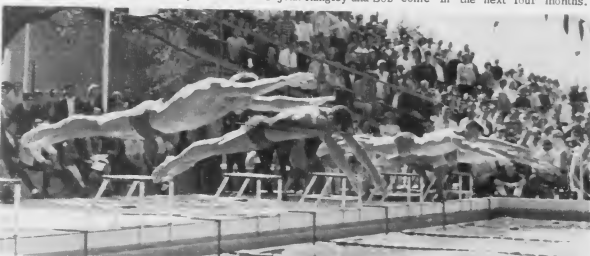

Stults mentioned Bob Cruickshank and Wayne McAllister as potentials in the diving spots.

Butterflyers John Ranglely and Bob

Durocher also graduated last year, leaving the butterfly competition wide open.

Dick Abbott, last year's ace in the relays, medleys and free style competition, will see action again this season.

Other returnees include Mike Blouin, Gene Dayton, Tut Heister, Charlie Robertson and Doug Kruger. Stults, who is a man of few words, wouldn't speculate on a third consecutive undefeated season. "The men are merely getting in shape for the many hours of hard practice yet to come in the next four months."

DIVING IN FOR A GOOD YEAR

... the FSU swimmers have begun daily practice to prepare for an attempt at three consecutive unbeaten years.

Basketball Team Sparks Hope

by Gene Raines
Flambeau Sports Writer

Actual basketball practice doesn't start until Oct. 15, and the first game isn't until Dec. 1, but Head Basketball Coach Bud Kennedy already has high hopes for FSU this winter.

"We should have an excellent club this year," he said. Last year's record was 10-10.

"We will have one, or possibly two starters who have never played one minute of collegiate basketball, so prognostications at this point are difficult," he said.

One probable starter who has considerable experience is Schull, the 6-7 senior who was last year's leading scorer on last year's team. Most of the players are new, but the imposed weight program will begin conditioning them the last week of this month, ready for opening practice.

May Moving Day

Infirmary Expanding Student Facilities

In keeping with the general theme around FSU, the infirmary is "building, expanding and improving its student facilities."

After being located on its present site for 46 years, in May the infirmary will move into its new building, now being constructed just south of the Union pool's bathroom, said
C. R. Gentry, chief physician and director of Student Health Services.
The new air-conditioned, five-floor infirmary is being built on anarchitecural design similar to the buildings in the Union complex at a cost of $1.5 million, said Gentry.

Initial construction started in April after four years of planning, with the help of Student Government, the Dean of Student Office, the administration and the State Legislature Gentry said.

The new infirmary will begin full operation next fall. The problem of space in the existing 58-bed infirmary which often runs out of space during influenza and dysentery epidemics, will be relieved by the new 72-bed building, added Gentry.

Other improvements the new building contains; improved outpatient facilities, improved complete facilities, enlarged mental health program and more comfortable patient facilities, said Gentry.

Ten full-time doctors and two psychiatrists will have offices in the new infirmary within four years, Gentry said.

The new facilities are being built to provide for the needs of our growing student body, said Gentry. "Last year the infirmary served over 40,000 outpatients and admitted
2,500 inpatients," he added.

The average stay of inpatients is about two-and-a-half days, said Gentry. He emphasized that the new one and two-patient rooms will contain desks, study chairs and special lights so that students can continue their studies (if permitted) while confined.

Furniture selection for the new infirmary is directed toward non-institutional styling to serve multiple functions, explained Gentry.
The term "infirmary" is actually a misleading description of our health center, he continued.

An infirmary is a place for isolating the sick and not for diagnostic services. However, our health center is technically a hospital, since complete X-ray and diagnostic facilities are provided there, he added.
However, our health center is not a "general" hospital because it cares for and treats conditions which would be cared for at home.

The navy recruiting team will present free movie and "reduced price" refreshments
tonight at the Tempo Bar from 9:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Student Senate Missing Quorum So No Session

Student Senate tried twice yesterday, but couldn't come up with a quorum to carry on their scheduled meeting.

Missing the quorum by three members the first time, senators voted to reschedule the meeting 15 minutes later, in the hopes that the missing persons soon would be there.

Senate would have been better off waiting for St. Nicholas.

At the second roll the quorum failed by four members with only 16 of the 24 senators answering the roll.

Among those taking a vacation after last week's extended sessions were senators Jim Hilburn, Ray Tillman, John Frazier, Bruce Robinson and Rick Fritz.

Also out were senators Cookie Wil-chester, Maureen McClellan, Sally Saier, Ray Cronmer, Sharon Cuningham, Tony Palmer and Cindy Skelton.

Between sessions several senators were heard expressing amazement that "senators who are seeking re-election would fail to show up for a meeting."

Vice President Larry Gonzalez said he was most disappointed in this poor showing by senators after such a successful beginning last week.

"The trimester is just too short to waste a week like this," Gonzalez said.

'Legend' Editor Corps Volunteer

Carolyn Marie Christensen, former editor of FSU's "Legend," has been named a Peace Corps volunteer.

Miss Christensen, who is from Homestead, Fla., has complete 10 weeks of training at San Jose State College in San Jose, Calif.

She left the US Sept. 6 for the Philippines.

While at FSU, Miss Christensen was a "Flambeau" writer, a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and the FSU Sailing Assoc. Her other activities included dorm committees and campus politics.

Miss Christensen will be one of 550 Peace Corps teachers expanding and replacing the present group in the Philippines.

The group will act as co-teachers.
They will work along with Filipino teachers in refining math, science and English curricula.

The co-teacher system enables the two teachers to evaluate each other's work and improve their methods.

Miss Christensen and her fellow students studied Filipino, new math, inductive science and English teaching at San Jose State College.

They practiced their new methods at schools near the training site.
A Peace Corps Placement Test is given throughout the country on the second Saturday of each month.

SG Show Aired

"Students Speak", the student government radio show will be aired over WFSU-FM for the first time tonight at 8:30 p.m. Dr. Reinhold is the special guest and regular panelists Jim Groot, student body president and Erik Collins, "Flambeau" editor.

HERE IS AN ARCHITECT'S DRAWING

FSU's new University Hospital Bldg., the 72-bed hospital will provide for more out-patient facilities the present facility, according to Dr. C.R. Gentry, director of University Health Services. There will a study desk in each room and a study room on each floor so that if the student's condition permits, he continue his University studies.

Real Night

Now that the Student Entertainment Series Committee, with the advice of Kay Vernon, director of special events, has put together one of the most outstanding entertainment schedules on a University campus anywhere in the nation, it's our turn to show that FSU is really willing and able to support big-name entertainment.

Henry Mancini and his orchestra will kick off the series Friday, Sept. 24. With Mancini, as an added attraction, will be the Four Preps. Most campuses would be glad to have the Four Preps alone as the main performers.

Experts have advised the committee that the sound problems in Tully Gym have been adequately solved. Thus there should be none of the troubles experienced in the Kingston Trio performance, the first performance of the Entertainment Series last spring.

To make the package complete, the Union is sponsoring a smorgasbord dinner before the presentation. Chartered buses will take the diners to the performance after the banquet.

Tickets are now on sale at the Union Ticket Office. Although the prices may superficially seem high, one need only be reminded of how much would have to be paid anywhere but on our campus to see entertainers of such top calibre to realize that this entertainment is one of the greatest bargains the student can buy.

Pick up tickets for both events now. Let's make a real night of it.

Workers Clarify Tests

To the Editor:

I am a thoroughly lie detector cleansed cashier that has never had a polygraph test. By definition, that makes me a Jitney Jungle employee. I have worked for Finer Foods for two years and think it is one of the finest companies I have ever worked for. I would like to clarify Mr. Williams' editorial of Sept. 9, 1965, in reference to lie detector tests.

The portion of the job application that was printed was a form for cashiers. Along with the application goes the following explanation: The lie detector test is a protection for both employee and employer. The only time you will ever be asked to take a lie detector test is in the event you are formally accused of a wrong-doing, and you still have the option of declining. The protection I have is that more than one person works on a cash register and in the event money is missing from my drawer, I can request a test for my own personal satisfaction to clear my name. To my knowledge, there is no employee in the store where I work who has ever had a test. In the event a test is taken, the company pays for it, not the individual.

In reference to turning in fellow-employees, this would be the choice of each individual, but I personally feel that any decent student or citizen that sees a crime committed feels obligated to report it to the proper authority, not to the individual, but rather respect, for a company that cares enough to take precautions to keep me from being falsely accused. In my opinion, Mr.

DeWayne A. Williams Jr. did more harm to his reputation and self-respect by writing his article than any test could. You see I have no crimes to hide.

John D. Milton

We Agree

To the editor:

The three authors of this article belong to that "small segment of the student body" being -- intimidated-by Jitney Jungle. Yes! We agreed to take a polygraph test but somehow we felt no loss of self-respect or dignity. However, we concede to the fact that we may not be as sensitive as Mr. DeWayne A. Williams, Jr. Yet, we are sensitive to such facts as --- If it wasn't for Jitney none of us could continue our college education on our own.

Contrary to Mr. Williams' article, though we do work for Jitney, we have never been submitted to a lie-detector test and to our knowledge no employee ever has. Furthermore, no employee ever will unless he himself requests the test to help prove his innocence in the event he is accused of wrong-doing. So you see, DeWayne, like the saying goes, "It's a two-way street."

In this case, in the form of a sensible policy that protects both employer and employee.

We appreciate the attempt to protect our small minority, however, we feel that the article was unfair and over-prejudiced against Jitney.

Faculty Wide Publishes Bo

Helen von Dohnanyi, widow of late internationally-celebrated pianist Ernst von Dohnanyi, a member of the FSU music has just published her latest work, "From Death to Life." Now available in the Tallahassee area, this book is described as a story of a soul in search of life. It concerns a woman born of affluence, social prestige, and literary prominence who finds in exile and a refugee.

The story relates the struggles newly-widowed woman to find direction for her life. It even discovers "the way that led to the footsteps of the Master." W. Leroy MacGowan, who wrote the book.

Native Hungarians, Helen Dohnanyi and her husband fled that country to Argentina after World War II. In 1949 they sailed to Tallahassee when Dohnanyi was appointed to the music faculty of "Message to Posterity" was Dohnanyi's work based on her husband's reflections on his life released in 1960, shortly after death.

Most of Mrs. Dohnanyi's life has been spent in literary work. "From Life to Death" was written by Mrs. Dohnanyi's son and also "to the bereaved, brotherhearted, the lonely, the sorrowful, and the sick...to those who are still in the darkness because they cannot see the Light," said MacGowan.

DR. HARRY SCHMIDT

demonstrates his invention, "the clarinet positioner" with the help of Diva Sweit.

"Schmidt Stick"

Teacher Develops Clarinet Positioner

A clarinet positioner, which supports the two-pound weight of the instrument from the chest while the clarinetist plays it, has been developed by an FSU clarinet teacher, Harry A. Schmidt.

Schmidt, of the School of Music, said having to support the weight of the clarinet with the right thumb while he plays, as a clarinetist normally has to do, is a problem to the professional and a handicap to the beginning student.

He has therefore developed what people around the School of Music now call the "Schmidt Stick."

Originally devised by Schmidt to help teach his students the right position for the instrument, it consists of a short stick held in place by a sling around the neck, and supporting the clarinet a few inches off the chest.

For many years professional clarinetists have felt the need for some such device to hold the weight of the instrument during long periods of practice and rehearsal, according to Schmidt.

"The problem is even more acute for the beginner who starts to suffer after ten minutes of practice," said

Schmidt, who has been teaching students at FSU to play the instrument for the past 15 years.

"The two-pound weight on the thumb then sets up tensions in the hands and lips which inhibit technique and proper tone production," Schmidt added.

"Today students are beginning to play the clarinet at an earlier age--and since much of our teaching and practicing is done standing, the need for an instrument support seemed more necessary than ever before," Schmidt said.

"The old practice of holding the clarinet on the knee has been outmoded because of the resulting pinch problem."

The Schmidt Clarinet Positioner is being distributed by the Leblanc Instrument Corp., with headquarters in Kenosha, Wisc.

'Betsy' Scouts

Eye Impressive At 40,000 Ft.

By ED ROWLEY
Flambeau Feature Writer

While most people were fleeing the devastating fury of Hurricane Betsy last week, four FSU students were chasing her. In fact, not only did students Xavier Prozenza, Joseph Golden, Russell DeSouza and William Woodley pursue the windy lady; they flew into the eye of her swirling fury.

These students were not on a "joy ride," however, but were pursuing a very definite, well-organized objective. All are meteorology majors and are part of the Navy Weather Bureau Project Stormfury.

Stormfury is an experimental project under the direction of presidential appointee Dr. Joanne Simpson.

The objective of the project is to fly into the eye of a hurricane with up to 12 aircraft and "seed" the hurricane wall in an attempt to weaken its strength. The project is still in the early development stages.

William Woodley described the flight as exciting, but not as frightening as anticipated. "The eye was very impressive. Inside it was dry, calm, and clear, but outside there was a solid wall of rain, wind and lightning soaring 40,000 feet into the atmosphere.

"It was as if someone had taken a knife and carved out a cylinder from the center of the hurricane," commented Woodley.

The quartet flew into the eye of Betsy, not once, but three distinct times on Aug. 31, Sept. 1, and Sept. 2. At that time the storm was following a northward course.

Hopeful of seeding the tremendous fury of Betsy, the mission was disappointed because the storm never reached the specified area of the Atlantic where seeding is possible. One of the criterion for marking the seeding area is that the storm must be at least 36 hours away from any land mass, including inhabited islands.

Woodley originally began working with seeding cumulus clouds. The project then expanded to include the hurricane mass. A third goal of the project is the seeding of heavy rain bands near hurricanes.

The four students are on constant alert throughout the hurricane season and may be called upon for a repeat performance at any time.

HURRICANE MEN

... from FSU are Prozenza, Joseph Golden, Russell DeSouza and William Woodley. The quartet flew into the eye of Betsy in efforts to "seed" the storm.

'Like Son, Like Father' Says Lt.-Col. George Groot, Student

Ordinarily the name Groot needs no introduction on the FSU campus, but this year there are two Groots enrolled and the second isn't Mrs. James Groot.

As the story usually goes, father talks son into attending his alma mater. However, Student Body President Jim Groot turned the story around and talked his father into coming to FSU.

Groot's father, Lt.-Col. George Groot, is enrolled as a junior and is majoring in social studies education. This is the first year Groot's father has enrolled as a full time student. He has accumulated two years credit while in the Air Force.

Like many men, Lt.-Col. Groot's education was interrupted by World War II. Following the war he chose the service as a career.

Lt.-Col. Groot retired from the Strategic Air Command (SAC) this past spring and moved to Tallahassee during the summer. Jim's brother, Lomie, is enrolled at Florida High. His youngest brother, George Jr., is attending Brevard.

Lt.-Col. Groot is interested in teaching and plans to remain in Tallahassee until he completes his undergraduate work. He has maintained a 4.0 average while at FSU.

Groot, a government major, graduates in April. Currently he has no definite plans for the coming year, but wants to work in some governmental capacity.

In 1957, fellow faculty members selected Rogers as the first Distinguished Professor of the Year.

Rogers Hall, the $998,000 building which is being named for him, was completed just before start of the school year. It has 96 apartments, each with a living-dining-kitchen area (there is a built-in stove, refrigerator and garbage disposal unit in each), a bedroom with ample closet space, a bath and a study area for two persons.

Each apartment is occupied by two male students. Of the occupants, 162 are graduate students and 30 are undergraduates. The undergraduates are either Honors Program students, men specially selected by the dean of men or mature (25 or older) male undergraduates.

Football Season Officially Open; Three '65 Team Captains Named

by HANK SCHOMBER
Assistant Sports Editor

The Seminole Boosters officially kicked off the 1965 FSU football season yesterday with a laugh-filled luncheon in the University Ballroom.

Highlighting the festivities was the announcement of the 1965 captains and Head Coach Bill Peterson's outlook for the Seminoles.

Before introducing the captains, Peterson commented, "this year we have broken from tradition and have elected tri-captains. The vote among the players and coaches was so close we couldn't choose only two."

"Often when captains are elected we wonder if they will really be leaders; but when three boys stand out like these three did, you know they will do a fine job."

Captains of the 1965 Seminoles are Bill McDowell, George D' Alessandro and Max Wettstein.

McDowell and D'Alessandro are members of the Seven Magnificents, FSU's touted defensive line. Both have lettered twice for the Tribe and have been team leaders all year. Wettstein won two monograms as a defensive end for the Seminoles, but this year was moved to the corresponding offensive post. He has looked good in his new slot, "catching everything thrown his way."

The boosters gave Peterson a standing ovation when he was introduced. Looking around cautiously, the "chief of the Tribe" commented, "I guess I'm on a spot."

"If I don't say enough all you good people will feel cheated. If I say too much I risk giving the team complacency."

"Last year at this time I made my prediction on the possibilities of the Seminoles, and everybody questioned whether or not they would live up to them. Well, the Gator Bowl Program Committee selected me predictor of the year.

"I said last year 'we may have the best team in the next 10 years at FSU.'"

"Well now I want to qualify that. I feel that right now this year's squad is further along than last year at this time."

"We have the talent. A lot of times you don't, but the talent is here and if the national press had been focused on us the way they are on some of our neighbors, we would be rated high among the potentially great teams this year."

There is one "if," according to Peterson, "and only the players themselves hold the answer."

"Motivation. They must have the right motivation. If they are going to be in the proper condition and have the split-second timing that is second nature to the football player, they must want to win for winning's sake."

"Then they can't give less than their very best. It's up to them," continued Peterson.

Comments from the team indicated that they are up to the task.

"The one thing we have this year that we didn't last," according to Joe Avezano, "is a past winning season. Once you have had a winner, you realize there is no other way to go."

Ed Pritchett, Seminole quarterback summed it up this way. "We want to win, we know we can and we will."

Recipes for music gourmets are Mancini's specialties. Included in his repertoire are "Music from Peter Gunn," "Mr. Lucky," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Breakfast at Tiffany's," "Charade," "The Pink Panther," "Soldier in the Rain," "High Time" and "Bachelor in Paradise."

Awards for top-sellers have included Grammy Awards presented by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences and additional awards from "Billboard Magazine," "Playboy Magazine" and "Cashbox Magazine."

Mancini has been the recipient of three Oscar awards and five nominations for the coveted Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science Award.

Receiving nominations were his musical score for the "Glenn Miller Story" and the song, "Bachelor in Paradise." The gold statue was presented to Mancini for the scoring of "Breakfast at Tiffany's" and the best song "Moon River," along with "Days of Wine and Roses."

Robert Owens, winner of the Activities Night Grand Prize, will sponsor a Pool Party tonight at the Union Pool.

The party will be in cooperation with the University Union to honor the freshman class.

The first campus political controversy of the year slipped quietly under the door without anybody really noticing until today.

Neither political party involved came out the winner.

The first squabble between the University Party "ins" and the Student Party "outs" came when Florida's Sec. of State Tom Adams spoke at a Student Party-sponsored Student Government Clinic Sunday.

Student Body President and UP spokesman Jim Groot said the SP had tried to con Adams into speaking by telling him the speech would be part of freshman orientation and he had called Adams to inform him of this.

SP leaders claimed that Adams had not been tricked and that Groot was using Adams to play partisan politics.

Adams was completely aware of the party sponsorship, his assistant Stan Tate said today.

Four of Beethoven's sonatas will be played by Dr. Edward Kilenyi, professor of music, tonight in Opperman Music Hall at 8:15 p.m.

The audience will pick the selections to be played from a list of 30 sonatas arranged in four groups representing the early, middle, late and popular pieces. Ushers at the door will run a quick tally of the choices of the audience to decide which sonata from each group will be played.

Kilenyi explained the rare form as the only "completely new innovation of a classical concert" that has not yet been employed.

He added that this type of recitation is the "only way I know in which the audience can participate in a Beethoven concert."

Erik L. Collins was recently elected chairman of the University Union Board for 1965-66. Collins served as summer chairman previous to the fall election by the board.

A native of Geneva, New York, Collins came to FSU as a freshman in 1962. During his college career he has filled positions in the Student Senate, Honor Court and Program

Collins has been a delegate to the Southern University Student Government Assoc. three times.

He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and Gold Key, both campus honoraries.

Collins was also named to the FS Hall of Fame and Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

However, Tate said, Adams was under the impression that the clinic was part of freshman orientation to stress to the freshmen the importance of student participation in campus politics.

It was to "correct this impression," that Groot called Adams about the clinic.

Groot said he had heard that Adams was coming here to speak at a partisan-sponsored function without realizing it.

"I called Mr. Adams to inform him that he was not going to address an orientation group and that the group he was going to address would likely not be of a size complimentary to his position since the event had been so under publicized," said Groot.

After learning this, Student Party representatives cried foul, saying Groot was indulging in partisan politics.

Who's Harmed

To the Editor:

I would like to commend Paul Brown on his article "Says Our Freshman Are Easily Influenced."

As a transfer student from a hometown Junior College, I was very much surprised by all the hundreds of regulations governing the women in this institution.

As Mr. Brown said, "many of the women's rules restrict personal actions which do not interfere with anyone else's liberty." I want to be able to maintain my liberty and my personal rights. Whether these rights are wearing shoes in the dorm or the more important matter of what time I return to the dorm, I am the one whose feet are hurt if I wear no shoes and I am the one who is harmed if I don't use my time wisely.

I would like to again thank Mr. Brown for defending my rights as an individual; but it is a shame that a man instead of a woman must write this article. Perhaps if FSU women, or those of us in the so-called minority, would speak up for our rights something could be accomplished in returning our rights.

There's more behind a new VW than a dependable engine.

A Volkswagen can't get by on looks alone. (Obviously!) So when it comes to hiring a staff, we can't think small. After all, the people who keep the VW going have to be as good as the people who made it. Or else, what's the use of making it so good?

That's why we send our mechanics to special training centers (15 in all), before they become our mechanics. And our service advisors go to service advisor school, and shop foremen to shop foreman school.

Then, when you bring your car in for service it's touched only by educated hands.

And any part it might need is on tap, within an educated hand's reach. So if you're thinking of buying a VW, we're not just another outfit with a pretty showroom up front.

We're an Authorized VW Dealer.

We have a showroom in back, too.

Only (?) $20,000 More Needed To Light FSU Baseball Stadium

by GENE RAINES
Flambeau Sports Writer

Athletic Director Vaughn Mancha said today his department still needs more than $20,000 to complete the lighting of FSU's baseball stadium.

"We have the poles now, and we've saved quite a bit by having some of the old fixtures reworked," he said. Woody Woodward, a former FSU baseball star now playing for the Atlanta Braves, donated $3,000 to kick-off the campaign. Woodward's contribution was used to buy the poles.

Several smaller contributions have been made, along with promises of free labor for installation of the new equipment. An all-out campaign to enlist the aid of alumni, particularly former athletes, has been launched, and fund raising ideas are being mulled over by the Athletic Dept. Some of the ideas include exhibition games, dinners and luncheons, and possibly a special spectator event. "We should be able to announce through the Flambeau within a week exactly what we will have," Mancha said.

"The possibilities involved in being able to have night games are really tremendous," he said. "More students could attend, and it would be good recreation.

"Of course, the department wouldn't make any money off student attendance, but if we could attract townspeople, and we can, it changes the whole proposition to an investment," he continued.

Last year FSU won the district three championship in NCAA baseball and went on to the college world series. The status involved in representing the southeastern colleges in national competition would draw many spectators, many more than if the games conflicted with office hours, said Mancha.

Night games would make the sport available to a great many more people, including many students who have afternoon classes, and elevate the stature of FSU baseball, he said.

Registrar's Office To Conduct Student Poll

Registrar's Office is appealing
FSU student body for a possible to ease registration problem.

that department could have an advance as to what courses demanded, arrangements could be to open enough sections to satisfy student's needs, said other factors add to the problem of a student body is oriened toward a greater liberal arts program, thereby making the demands for certain courses greater. A backlog of course needs also persists.

Upperclassman previously unable to take the basic courses are now enrolling in freshman classes in their junior and senior year, he said.

This creates a deficiency for each year's current freshmen who are shut out from a class. Thus the cycle continues. A logical progression in class order is unavailable, Wharton advised.

The obvious solution, said Wharton, is to team up with the students to reach an answer to this very perplexing problem.

Students' names were chosen at random for the poll. Every 10th student will be sent a questionnaire.
According to Wharton, the quicker the forms are filled out and returned to the Registrar's Office, the sooner a committee will be able to evaluate them.

The poll consists of general questions concerning the student's status at the University. The second section asks what the student's original schedule was and, if applicable, what he finally enrolled in and why he couldn't get the classes he wanted.
The final section asks for a tentative or precise schedule the student expects to be taking in the spring.

others who have won that honor will

ROY JOHNSON AND THOMAS WRIGHT

Opperman Music Hall.

Concert Pianist Thomas Wright Schedules 'Chopin' Performance

Thomas Wright, concert pianist, will headline "An Evening With Chopin" tomorrow night at 8:16 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall.
Featured in the concert with Wright are Roy Johnson, pianist; Betty Jane Grimm, contralto; and Owen Sellers, cellist.

"An Evening With Chopin" is part of the School of Music faculty recital series.

In the program, which includes some of Chopin's lesser-known works as well as his more famous ones, Wright will play "Tarentelle," "Nocturne in B Major," "Valse Brillante in A Flat Major," and "Polonaise in F Sharp Minor."
Wright and Sellers will perform a piano-cello duo, "Sonata for Piano and Violoncello in G Minor."

"Rondo for Two Pianos" will be played by Johnson and Wright, both professors of music in the FSU School of Music.

Miss Grimm, accompanied by Wright, will sing six of Chopin's songs, including "Lithuanian Song,"
"The Maiden's Wish," and "Poland's Dirge."

Wright makes frequent concert appearances throughout the country.
Last spring he played the inaugural concert for Dr. Gordon Blackwell at Furman University.

Although he is noted as a specialist in the interpretation of the piano works of George Gershwine, he has also presented Beethoven concertos, Rachmaninoff programs and selections of French and Spanish impressionism.

get some help through a poll being conducted by FSU Registrar William H. Wharton, today.

Canon Resigns Editor Position

Canon resigned from his as associate editor of the "Flambeau." Friday, he apparently said his position was untenable, which had been associate since the beginning of the year, had previously filled offices of men's vice president and phi-kappa-chi class president.
He said that any of his written article opposing the University or Cornet's administration had been tagged as "sour grapes."
He said from political reasons, he also reportedly in disagreement with the editorial policies of the "Flambeau." Editor-in-chief Erik

L. Collins acknowledged that Canon was in "a spot" although he is "certainly qualified for the editorship."
Collins added, "The Flambeau" has lost an editor of much potential and capability. Although it is unfortunate that Jack feels his resignation is necessary, I know he will put his abilities to good use in another way for the improvement of FSU."
At present, no one has succeeded Canon as associate editor of the "Flambeau." However, there are several prospects, according to Collins.

Thomas Wright

Noticing that a story about the concert tomorrow night featuring Thomas Wright and guests was missing from Friday's paper, we asked our news editor what happened. His rejoinder was the best indication of the high regard the FSU student body and the rest of the University community has for Wright.

His reply was, "Thomas Wright? We could run a story Wednesday about Wright's concert Tuesday and he still would pack the house."

Thomas Wright year after year has demonstrated his ability as a showman with concerts that literally have them standing in the aisles. This year should prove to be no exception.

What is more remarkable, however, is that nowhere in the University can be found a man more dedicated to the service of FSU or the concept of the dignity of the student. If there is a committee or a board that is composed of faculty members in whole or in part, the odds are that one will find Wright not only a member of the group, but a contributing factor in its success.

Tomorrow night's concert will be one of the best of the musical calendar. It will be performed by a man who is tops both professionally and as an individual. Enough said.

FLAMBEAU FORUM

Senate Actions Clarified

Since the "Flambeau" and Tom Marcus have only been able to present one side of the recent reapportionment issue, I should like to state some of the reservations which the other fifty per cent of the Senate possessed.

The methods by which certain individuals attempted to ramrod this bill through Senate were highly unethical. After accepting the bill for its first reading, in a special session on September 7th, the bill was sent to a "specially" chosen committee including, by some coincidence, Bill Wood, author of the bill, as chairman. Under his direction, the other "specially" chosen members, obviously biased, passed this many-paged bill in less time than it would take to read it.

On the following day, in a regular Senate meeting, Wood recommended that this bill be passed immediately as no discussion was necessary. He assumed that, because he and some other executive officials originated the bill, Senate should act merely as their "rubber stamp."

To many Senate members, a copy of this bill was not even made available. Often, requests for copies were from those without them; how-

Capable of speeds better than 2,000 mph, the YF-12A is the hottest aircraft around. Now Maj. Walter F. Daniel, test pilot for the YF-12A, answers your questions about the world's fastest manned airplane and America's Aerospace Team.

(Maj. Daniel, a test pilot since 1954, is a member of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots. He received a B.S. degree in Aeronautical Engineering from the University of Oklahoma. In February 1962, he set world class time-to-climb records in a T-38 jet trainer.)

Is the YF-12A the world's fastest manned aircraft? It certainly is. On May 1 of this year the YF-12A (formerly known as the A-11) reclaimed the world's absolute speed record from the USSR. It was clocked at 2,062 mph over Edwards Air Force Base.

How big is the YF-12A?

The exact dimensions of the YF-12A have not been released yet. But it's approximately 100 feet long, with about a 50-foot wingspan. That's half again as big as our present interceptors!

Is the Air Force training many men as pilots these days?

Yes, very definitely. In spite of all you hear about unmanned vehicles, the human pilot is still about as big in the picture. As a matter of fact, the Air Force pilot quota is on the increase.

What other kinds of jobs does the Air Force offer?

Since it's one of the world's foremost technological organizations, the Air Force has plenty of openings for scientists and engineers. There are also many challenging and varied administrative-managerial positions.

What do I have to do to become an Air Force officer?

Air Force ROTC is the best way to get started as an Air Force officer. The new two-year Air Force ROTC program makes this method available to men who have already completed a year or two of their college education. For college graduates, you did not take advantage of ROTC, you will still get started through Air Force Officer Training School (OTS), a three-month course open to both men and women.

Can I keep up my studies while I'm in the Air Force?

The Air Force encourages its men and women to continue their educations. For instance, you may qualify to study for a graduate degree during duty hours, with the Air Force paying a substantial part of the tuition.

What kind of future do I have in the Air Force? A bright one. As we move further into the Aerospace Age, the Air Force is going to grow even more important. And you can grow with it!

One-Man Exhibit Now On Display

Jerrold Rosenblum, art instructor at FSU, opened his one-man art show in the University Gallery Thursday night.

Seventeen abstract paintings of Rosenblum's hang on the walls of the newly-decorated art gallery above the Seminole Club.

The paintings are the result of three months of work. Rosenblum wished to be "loose and free" in his work. Consequently he broke away from the "tight, hard-edge art" he had done previously to produce the modern art in the show, he said.

The art exhibition is from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturdays and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sundays.

Rosenblum's display of art will hang in the University Art Gallery for one month.

ever, in spite of promises made by the Secretary of Senate, our requests were conveniently ignored.

Thursday, because of our persistence, various parts of the bill were finally discussed and amended. It was after these changes to Wood's so-called "best bill ever presented" that the bill was passed with a considerable majority.

Thus, the delay of the reapportionment bill was caused by Senators who considered their votes important. To these Senators, their votes were valuable enough that they would take the time to know and to understand the bill rather than to represent a "rubber stamp" for a few dictating individuals.

Spooner Leads Running Backs

Lead horse in a possibly great state of running backs at FSU is senior halfback Phil Spooner. Coach Bill Peterson is quick to acknowledge his value to the Seminoles attack.

"Our entire running game is built around Spooner," Peterson said. "He's a real gem. He has outstanding timing, and there's nothing you can teach him about running with the football. He had a little more speed, no one could touch him."

Spooner, a 5-11, 185-pounder from Ft. Myers, missed the 1963 season because of injuries but came back last year to lead the Seminoles on the ground with 516 yds. in 136 carries.

Joe Petko, another senior, is running behind Spooner at present, having been switched from fullback when it became known that Larry Green would not be able to play this year.

"For the first time in his career, here at FSU, Petko came to play," Peterson said. "He's had spots of greatness in the past, but has been inconsistent. If he becomes a consistent performer, he'll be extremely valuable."

The fullback position is in the hands of Wayne Giardino, 5-11, 195-pounder from West Palm Beach. He'll be backed by big Jim Mankins, a fellow that FSU coaches are itching to see under fire.

"Giardino can do everything," says Peterson. "He can block, run, throw and catch. His secret is tremendous balance. He's a sound football player and one of the most coachable boys I've ever worked with."

Giardino gained 256 yds. in half a season as a starter last year.

Mankins was an All-American junior college fullback at Hartnell in Salinas, Calif. He dislocated a shoulder before the season last year and was unable to play. However, he is a big man in Seminoles plans this fall.

"Mankins is in shape at 220 lbs., and has been impressive this fall," Peterson said. "He's a power runner who is hard to bring down. He also has good hands which is important in our offense."

The babies of the offensive back corps are sophomores Bill Moreman and Chuck Elliott.

Moreman looked good last spring but has been hampered by injuries this fall. Elliott, originally a halfback, was switched to fullback when Petko moved to left halfback.

'All Chopin' Program In Opperman Tonight

A concert of Chopin music will be presented tonight in Opperman Music Hall by FSU music faculty members.

Time of the program is 8:15 p.m. Thomas Wright, a specialist in George Gershwin piano works, will perform several Chopin pieces. He will also accompany Betty Jane Grimm as she sings six of the 17 songs that Chopin composed.

Owen Sellers on the cello and Wright on the piano will play a duet entitled "Sonata for Piano and Violon-cello in G Minor."

A piano duet by Wright and Dr. Roy Johnson, "Rondo for Two Pianos," is the only two-piano work by Chopin. The performance of it tonight will be the first on the FSU campus.

Wright is the composer of several FSU pep songs as well as several songs for Indiana University and Butler University.

He performed as a featured artist on three of the four major radio networks in New York City. He was also musical director and pianist for the "Song of the Stranger" radio series on Mutual Network.

On the movie set of "The Fabulous Dorsey's" he served as technical advisor.

Miss Grimm, contralto, has recorded on Columbia Masterworks under Stokowski. She has also sung "Carmen" in the Lewisohn Stadium in New York City. She is well-known throughout the South for her many performances in the oratorio "The Messiah."

A voice teacher in the FSU School of Music, Miss Grimm performed in "The Sound of Music" as Mother Superior this summer.

A STANDING OVATION

New Dorm Dedication

'Significant Event' Lauds Dr. Rogers

"This dedication is one of the truly significant events in the University's history," said John E. Champion, president of the University, at the dedication ceremony of William Hudson Rogers Hall yesterday.

In lauding Rogers, Champion said that the quality of a university is determined by the quality of its faculty.

Rogers, a member of the FSU faculty for 42 years from 1922 until his retirement in 1964, was the first FSU Distinguished Professor.

A great scholar and teacher, Rogers instilled in many men and women the desire for learning and was dedicated to the ideals of higher learning, said Champion.

FSU President Emeritus Dr. Doak S. Campbell delivered the principal remarks. Campbell commented that Rogers needed no words of praise since his past history speaks for itself. He said that Rogers was a great scholar and writer dedicated to teaching, a rare combination in academic circles.

"Best of Browning" and other of Rogers' publications are a great credit to him and to the University, Campbell continued.

Rogers, in acknowledging Campbell's remarks, said that he was typical of all men and was honored to have his name recorded for posterity.

Rogers, "...humbled at the great honor of having the new apartments named after me," said that FSU has always been good to him.

Thomas D. Bailey, state superintendent of public instruction, presented the building in one of his last official public acts.

And is a sign of Florida's forward-looking attitude in education.

Menser also said that Rogers Hall will benefit the advancement of higher education and serve the people of Florida.

Also present at the ceremony were five other FSU Distinguished Professors.

They were Dr. Marian D. Irish, government, 1958-1959; Dr. Wiley L. Housewright, music education, 1961-1962; Dr. Michael Kashia, chemistry, 1962-1963; Dr. Dorothy Hoffman, modern languages, 1963-1964 and Dr. Betty Watts, food and nutrition, 1965-1966.

Rogers received his B.A. degree in 1913 from Davidson College. He later received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Virginia.

From 1947 to 1956 Rogers was head of the English dept.

From 1955 until his retirement he devoted his time to teaching and writing.

Henry Mancini, Four Preps Too, Open '65 Series

"The Concert Sound of Henry Mancini," with 40-member orchestra and the Four Preps as special guest artists, will open the Student Entertainment Series Friday night.

Mancini has composed background scores for some 100 motion pictures and a number of television shows including "Peter Gunn" and "Mr. Lucky." The Four Preps are best known for their capacity for poking fun at the foibles of academic life. They recently added "Campus Encore" to their popular album. "The Four Preps on Campus."

In order to provide music enthusiasts with a complete "evening out," the first of four smorgasbords will be in the University Union dining halls just preceding the 8:30 p.m. performance in Tully Gym.

Smorgasbords are sponsored by the Student Entertainment Series, Campus Food Service and the Union Board. Tickets for both—dinner and the show—went on sale Thursday to students and yesterday to the public. They are priced for both students and public at $2.50 for Mancini Show and $2.25 for the smorgasbord.

HENRY MANCINI

Dedication

Dr. William Hudson Rogers, former FSU English professor, yesterday was accorded one of the highest honors a university can bestow on any man or woman.

The honor was in the form of the dedication of William Hudson Rogers Hall, the new eight-story apartment building for selected graduate and undergraduate men.

Dr. Rogers, in his response to the dedication remarks, said he was sure that the residents of Rogers Hall in the future would neither remember, nor perhaps even care, who the building was named after.

We would hope, however, that the men who occupy Rogers Hall in the years to come will uphold the tradition of chivalry and scholarship which Dr. Rogers has established during his 42 years of teaching and administration here.

Although Dr. Rogers has been retired for over a year, the dedication serves as a reminder to the University of our loss of a great scholar and teacher, a man who instilled in many men and women the love of learning.

We fully agree with the statement by President John Champion that the dedication of William Hudson Rogers Hall "is one of the truly significant events in the University's history."

Pen Not Needed To Write - Weingart

by MELODIE BETTS
Flambeau Feature Editor

Learn to write by putting your pen down.

Dr. Len Weingart, newly appointed advisor to Student Publications, believes that a writer, like any other career or businessman, must first learn the tools of his trade before applying for a job.

Keep the writer from writing, said Weingart, until he learns the techniques and can apply them to his style, not to an imitation of someone else's style.

... tells of his many hobbies including riflery, tennis and hunting.

When the writer finally takes his pen in hand, he must remember to always assume his audience is more intelligent than he is, and write up to them, said Weingart.

Weingart, who replaced Dr. Reid Montgomery in Student Publications, has served as an editor for Oxford University Press and has been a free-lance writer.

He received his B.A. degree from New York University and his Ph.D. at the University of California. His doctoral dissertation was "The Form and Meaning of the Impressionist Novel." Furthering this research, he is currently doing an intensive study on William Faulkner, his imagery and the language he relies upon.

Weingart has almost completed a campus-fiction novel entitled "The Round-Riddle of the Animal." Publishers Little, Brown and Co. are interested in the book. Weingart said, however, he can't predict a completion date. "I'm a slow worker and I work in spurts," he said.

In regard to the four campus publications, Weingart said his position was that of advisor and not supervisor. He expressed hope at being able to help answer any problems confronted him by any of the editors.

A CIGAR

... and a moment of solitude give Dr. Len Weingart time to think his novel and research paper.

"IT'S THE LAW,"

signs Jim Groot, student body president, to Vice President Larry Sales as he signs the reapportionment bill into law.

Now Who Has The PKA House? Looks Like International Group

Rumor has it that the International Student Center (ISC) is to be re-opened sometime during trimester II in what is now the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

According to Foreign Student Advisor Bill Byerts, however, no definite plans have as yet been agreed upon.

The Pike property was purchased on the approval of the Board of Regents last year with the understanding that the fraternity would remain in the house until its new residence was completed and that the building would then be turned over to the University for faculty office space.

ISC cannot take over the building without first submitting a detailed proposal of the plan to the University Building and Space Committee. The proposal will then be reviewed and turned over to the Board of Regents for approval.

A committee to draw up the provisions for the management of the proposed center and to present the plans to the building committee is in the process of being formed by Assoc. Dean of Students Jack Arnold. Its results cannot be determined for several weeks.

The ISC, which serves as a social and cultural medium for American and international students, was formerly located on College Ave.

It was forced to close last year when the property, loaned by the Tallahassee Council of International Friendship, was sold by the owner.

Since that time the 200 international students and many Americans who frequented the center and its coffee shop, El Kenz, have had no formal meeting place.

If the Pike House proposal should fall through there are no immediate alternate plans for re-opening the center.

Offensive Line Unimpressive

If current indications hold true, FSU quarterbacks can put their formal attire in storage for the duration of the 1965 season.

Last November, the FSU offensive line told quarterback Steve Teness he could wear a tuxedo to the Florida game. Afterwards, a wag commented that the only dirt on Teness was a spot on his knee—from holding the ball on field goals and extra points.

However, Jack Edwards, Dale MacKenzie and Tom West are gone from that confident organization, and though Joe Avezzano, Del Williams and Bob Mangan all come within the capable veteran category, offensive line play has been unimpressive during the early weeks of this fall.

"We're just making too many mistakes," Coach Bill Peterson reported. "We know we have some good boys in that line, and we've made some improvement, but we'll have to make much more if we expect to have any kind of offense at all."

Avezzano and Williams are the shining lights in a circuit which was shorted out by graduation and is now being rebuilt under the critical eye of assistant coach Don Powell.

"Williams and Avezzano, must lead," stated Peterson. "Both can be great football players, but they must take charge because of their experience and ability."

"Avezzano is a little heavy right now and needs to lose a few pounds to regain that speed of his. He's a guy who's always there on Saturday, though.

"We consider Williams one of the best tackles in the South. He's a good blocker, real tough," Peterson added.

Progress has been slowed by an injury to Mangan, two-year letterman who divided time with West last season.

"It's a shame," Peterson explained. "Mangan came back in shape for the first time. We're counting heavily on him, and now we're worried that he'll have trouble staying in shape."

The center position, handled so capably by Edwards last year, is now occupied by John Stephens, who at 201 lbs. is the smallest Seminole lineman.

"He may not be big, but he makes up for it with tenacity, speed and desire," Peterson said. "He took over in a couple of games last year and got the job done."

The guard post opposite Avezzano presently belongs to Edwin Pope, speedy junior who is a step ahead of Larry Williamson and Larry Kissam, a junior college graduate who has been moderately impressive.

Durham's Duffers Dig Dilemma Past: 27 Straight Wins; Next

by JUDY HUGHES
Flambeau Sports Writer

Coach Hugh Durham's golfers face the same problem: most of FSU's players and coaches have to race this year: What to do for an encore. "We have 27 straight wins; the most in our history, and two straight undefeated years," Durham said. "We lost four of our top six players by graduation, but we have some good players now, with real talent."

John Carsons, a three-year letterman, Joe Endry, who earned two letters in golf and Don Scartz, who lettered last year, graduated. John Danielson, another top golfer for FSU, graduated in three years and is no longer on the team.

All news isn't bad news however. Denny Lyons is back on the team after placing in several of the top amateur golf tournaments this summer.

Lyons came in second in the IKE Invitational in Connecticut, and third for the Porter Cup Tournament. Lyons shot a 69 in the Porter Cup play, which is one of the best eastern matches in the US.

Bill Boutwell and Terry Moore, both veterans of last year's golf team, are back. Two transfers, Jim Duval and Jim Conace, have also joined the FSU golfers.

"We will be a little green at first, but there's no reason why we can't extend our winning streak through the coming season," Durham said.

Carl Dicesare, Hugh Green, Bob Duval, Jay Morelli and Smokey Keeny make up the freshman squad.

The Fraternity League at the intramural flag football program off its season today with tilts scheduled for 4:15 p.m. intramural contests.

Three other contests are for 5:15 p.m.

The earlier contests pit the FSU against the KS's, the SE's, with the K's, and the PK's against the SN's.

The FDT's challenge the TD's to the TD's tackle the TX's and the TX's invade the ATU's at 5:15 p.m.

The FSU Army ROTC Rifle Team defeated the rifle teams from the other four colleges in the FAMU Range.

The score was FSU-1321, FAMU-1232 and Spring Hill-1200.

The scores for FSU were Ben movitz, Jeff Long, Jim Moore, ren Nites and Steven Pia.

Mancini Sounds Will 'Saturate' Gym Thanks To Sound System

MELODIE L. BETTS
Flambeau Feature Editor

The music of Henry Mancini will literally saturate Tully Gym Friday night when 32 strategically located speakers flood the air with the Mancini sounds.

An entirely new sound system has been installed for this year's Student Entertainment Series said Kay Vernon, director of special events. The main problem last year, continued Mrs. Vernon, was the difficulty in hearing the performer. "This dilemma of inaudibility was the result of the old public address system in Tully Gym. Speakers were placed along the side walls and sound waves would vibrate off the opposite walls causing 'false echoes' and feedback problems."

To alleviate the situation, the 32 new speakers were placed on the beams above the floor. The sound waves will expand and mesh as they are projected toward the floor and audience. This allows complete absorption of sound by the audience, allowing the viewers to receive the full impact of the sound.

The equipment is all high-fidelity with a 420 watt amplifier and four microphones. The success of the equipment depends on the volume which is kept at a minimum for full effect.

Only 46 Smorgasbord Tickets Sold; Minimum Of 150 Needed

Only 46 tickets have been sold for the smorgasbord which is planned for Friday from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. in the FSU Rooms, Union, said Kay Vernon, director of special events, today.

A minimum of 150 tickets must be sold before the smorgasbord can take place, said Dr. Herb F. Reinhard, director of the Union.

Tickets for the smorgasbord must be bought in advance for $2.25. It is possible that the smorgasbord will be cancelled if ticket sales do not reach the 150 mark by noon today, said Reinhard.

Tickets for the Henry Mancini show may still be purchased until 4 p.m. at the Union ticket office Friday, or at Tully Gym Friday night.

Ticket sales for the Mancini concert, which follows the smorgasbord, have already reached the $3,000 mark, but plenty of tickets are left, Mrs. Vernon added.

Hors d'oeuvres, a variety of unusual food served buffet style and a group of local entertainers will be the attraction of the smorgasbord. The smorgasbord is planned as an added attraction to the Mancini show, and is also the first in a series of three smorgasbords to precede future entertainment and possibly football games this trimester, said Reinhard.

Featured in the smorgasbord will be a variety of salads, appetizers, deserts and several meats including roast beef, turkey, fried chicken and shrimp. The food will be served buffet style with no limit to servings.

NATIONAL-INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Collected from the wires of the Associated Press

(India-Pakistan)

India told the UN that it is ready for at least a simple cease-fire in the war with Pakistan, if Pakistan agrees.

Indications are that Pakistan is cool to the idea, as evidenced by the burning of a US information library in Karachi and the pulling down of the UN flag.

The US State Dept. expressed strong concern over such attacks.

The UN Security Council directed both sides to comply with its cease-fire order by 3 a.m. (EDT) tomorrow.

In answer to this offer, Indian Prime Minister Shastri replied that even if Pakistan goes along with his proposal for a simple cease-fire, India could not comply in the time proposed by the UN. He said additional time is needed.

UN Secretary General U Thant met privately yesterday at the UN with the ambassadors from India and Pakistan. There was no report given of the meeting.

However, Pakistan's Foreign Minister Z.A. Bhutto met with newsmen in Karachi yesterday. He seemed to take a dim view of the cease-fire order, and added that this was not the time for what he called "decisions of expediency."

(India-China)

India's government yesterday said Indian and Red Chinese troops clashed in a mountain pass in the Himalayas.

It was apparently only a brief skirmish.

The shooting, reportedly begun in the Sikkim-Tibet area, brought on a declaration of threatened action by Red China unless India removes 56 bases that Peking contends are in Tibetan territory.

India has also received an ultimatum from Red China which is due to expire today.

India said Chinese troops have moved in sizeable strength into the area opposite Sikkim, which is an Indian protectorate.

Because the Indians believe the posts are in Indian territory, they told the Red Chinese to remove the posts themselves.

The situation is described by an Indian spokesman as a war of nerves.

(UN Assembly)

The shadow of the conflicts in Asia hung darkly over the UN yesterday as the General Assembly convened in New York.

Secretary-General U Thant said the conflicts point up the need for some kind of representation for all countries—including Red China,

Defensive Line Lacking Depth

They laughed when the shaved heads of FSU's "Seven Magnificents" first appeared last season, but the Seminole defensive line finished the 11-act performance to an ovation which shook the steel girders of Jacksonville's Gator Bowl.

Oklahoma had a first down at the FSU two-yard line with seconds remaining in the New Year's Classic. With the Seminoles leading, 36-19, a touchdown would not change the game's outcome. Only the collective and individual pride of the FSU defense was at stake.

But pride is the byword of the Seminole defense, and the "Seven" stopped four straight tries at the line to slam the door shut on FSU's greatest year.

With five of the original seven back, their hairless skulls already invincible on the practice field, Coach Bill Peterson has every reason to expect an encore in the high national rankings posted by his defense last season.

"The biggest problem in our defensive line is depth," Peterson says. "Our first seven are as good as you'd want, but behind them we are thin."

The best known, and perhaps the best, player on the line is Jack Shinholtzer, 217 lb., senior. Shinholtzer, the nose man, or middle guard, had a great junior year and has made several pre-season All-American teams.

"Jack is a little heavier than we like him right now," Peterson said. "The things that make him a great football player are his speed and strength. I'm sure he'll get himself ready because he likes to play."

At the tackles, FSU has around 500 pounds of Pennies, brothers Frank and Charlie. Frank is a two-year letterman at 215 lbs., Charlie is a 242 lb. junior.

"This could be the year that Frank blossoms into the great star he could be," Peterson said. "He was tremendous for us during the letterman part of last season. Charlie seems to have all the tools, but we'll reserve judgement until we see him under fire."

The Seminole defensive ends remind one of a 11-10, 400 lb. man sawed in half and set down side by side. At 5-11, 200 lbs., both George D'Alessandro and Terry Garvin are small as ends go—small like rattlesnakes are small.

"I don't know of two better ones anywhere," Peterson stated. "They're fierce. They sit out there and dare you to run at them."

EW Of Future

'Pedestrians Si, Cars No' FSU Goal

FSU become a pedestrian campus where automobiles are entirely banned from the campus. A. Tanner, University of Florida, and security director, said that, "The University buildings will take priority over parking, and there are alternative plans for some of the park lots to be demolished."

As cars outnumber the available parking spaces now, and the lots to be razed will not be replaced. This will further reduce the already insufficient number of parking spaces.

At present there are 7,909 registered cars, including those of the faculty, staff and students. The number of available parking spaces totals 6,688. Included in this number are areas as far removed from the main campus as the football stadium.

In the main campus area, there is room for roughly 3,100 cars. Many of these areas are off-limits to students from 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

To help reduce congestion, faculty parking areas are outlined in red, staff areas in blue and visitor areas in white.

The next parking lot to be wrecked for construction purposes is the general parking area at the corner of Copeland and Call St. A fine arts bldg., is proposed for the site. From 500-600 parking spaces will be lost.

Other areas which will eventually be confiscated for construction are lots near the circus area, the School of Music Bldg., and the library.
The opposite approach is being taken with the lot located west of the swimming pool. It is on the priority list to be paved in the near future.

In addition to parking difficulties, the streets of the campus are not built to handle the capacity of cars that are registered. At present, there are more registered cars at FSU than there were registered students in the early years of FSCW.
A pedestrian campus is not an unusual thing. It is the modern trend in university construction, said Tanner. At the U. of S.F., buildings are erected close together with main streets and parking areas relegated to the outer limits.

The problems of University parking are handled by the University Traffic Committee, composed of both students and faculty members.

Executive Tenures Tops Senate Action

By KATHY URBAN
Asst. News Editor

A bill to limit the tenure of office of the student body president to no more than one year was introduced in Student Senate yesterday.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Carl Domino, was referred to the Judicial and Rules Committee for consideration.

An addition to the Student Body Constitution, the bill includes the condition that a vice president succeeding to the office of president would not be subject to the new ruling.

Domino said that his reasoning behind the bill was that graduate students play an important role in campus life and, because of the length of time they spend in the University, might be able to remain in office over two years.

He added that the soon-to-be constructed law school at FSU would bring even more graduate students who would possibly be interested in participating in Student Government.

Also referred to the Judicial and Rules Committee was a bill, sponsored by Domino, concerning jurisdiction of the student court systems in relation to graduate students.

Domino said his theory in introducing the bill was that graduate students have an adequate court system already; therefore they do not need to come under the jurisdiction of the Honor Court.

Another bill introduced by Domino would amend the Constitution, changing the requirements of student body president and vice president to "at least junior standing" for the offices of vice president, men's vice president, women's vice president, and secretary of Senate.

The president of the student body shall be of "at least senior standing" according to the proposed bill.

The bill would also allow graduate students to run for Student Government offices. It was referred to the Judicial and Rules Committee.

Four amendments proposed to Senate rules of procedure were passed.

CARL DOMINO

Absences, the presentation of bills to Senate, the order of business and final consideration of bills were discussed. The six-page resolution was passed unanimously.

A recommendation to the Florida Legislature that 18-year-olds be allowed to vote, was also discussed by Senate.

Sen. Susan Richardson suggested that the recommendation be changed to "establish a committee to investigate the possibility of lowering the voting age requirements to 18 in Florida.

Flambeau' Begins Editor Board

"Flambeau" now has a board of editors to write for its editorial board. Jack Cason's resignation as editor, the board consisting of Sam Mozur, Tony Skiff, Steve Greaver and Darry Wood, has been accepted to write editorials.

NEA Picnic Set

Reservations for the NEA student-body picnic must be made by Monday in 208 Education Bldg.

The "Flambeau's" other editors will also contribute.

Mark Brandt is the new editor of the editorial page. Brandt will supervise editorial page layout, said Eric Collins, editor of the "Flambeau."

This move was made to get a diversity of opinions, said Collins.

"It is most difficult for one person to write an interesting editorial every day."

"We hope the new board should present a good cross-section of campus opinions," he said.

BYE BYE PARKING LOT

... This lot on Copeland and Call will soon be replaced by the new Fine Arts Bldg., which will be under construction shortly.

Flambeau Editorials

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or the administration of Florida State University. Editorials represent only the opinion of FLAMBEAU editors. Each editorial is identified with the initials of its author.

Campaign Views

It is significant that most modern college campuses have developed a style of political campaigns.

The coming election of student senators Tuesday will offer, in most cases, a choice of candidates. Getting to know the qualifications of precinct senator candidates will enable the voter not only to become acquainted with his representative but also to partake in the democratic process.

Senators are made, not born; therefore, it is necessary that the student body offer its opinion. To be able to choose plays a strong part in every man's and woman's college education.

There are unquestionably many different sets of criteria for determining the merits of a potential candidate. We suggest, however, that the most important is the ability to get the job done. Student Government effectiveness is equivalent to success.

Good representation is a reality for which no theory can be adequately substituted. Knowing candidates' names and backgrounds is the major step in establishing identification with campus affairs.

Notice the candidates and what they stand for; don't forget to vote.

Only 19 Lettermen Return

Frogs Lack Experience, Age

by RICK HALTEN
Flambeau Sports Writer

Despite a 34-14 pasting by burly Nebraska, Texas Christian has one definite advantage over the eager Seminoles Saturday night in Ft. Worth.

The Horned Frogs have played their season opener while the '65 Seminoles are still sitting, waiting to unwrap that tomahawk.

"Youthful, inexperienced, but with a willingness to learn," is the way soft-spoken Head Frog Abe Martin sums up his 13th TCU team.

Martin, along with the smallest college coaching staff in the land, has consistently developed seemingly mediocre teams into hustling, title-contending powers.

Three times Martin's spirited eleven has brought home the ultra-tough Southwest Conference title, a prize as hard to grab as a greased Texas porker.

The Frogs have been pegged for a second division finish. Of 19 of 38 lettermen return from the '64 team that finished a disappointing 4-6. Among the first 45 players counted on for hard-nosed duty are 23 sophomores, 14 juniors and eight seniors.

FSU will get another look at the complex TCU dual offense which uses both a "11" side and power side in the same formation. Stress is either on the pass or the run, depending on how the Frogs line up.

Brute power is possible from almost any of their formations with a confusing mixture of flip-flop linemen, flankers and guards. Tops on the receiving will be fleet Sonny Campbell who caught an opening game touchdown toss against Nebraska.

Last year Campbell was second only to All-American Larry Elkins of Baylor in the Southwest Conference in receiving. A big 200 pounder, Campbell is probably the most experienced frog in the pond.

On the tossing side is senior quarterback Kent Nix. He engineered two touchdown drives Saturday against the Cornshaws, whose beefy defense was third in the country last season.

Two sophomores, P.D. Shabay and Larry Peal, who had the heads turning during spring practice, are both itching to get game time as quarterbacks.

Running backs aren't speedy, but big, powerful David Smith has been touted as the best of the ballcarriers. His back-up man, sophomore Steve Landon, cracked across for the second score against rarely-scored against Nebraska.

Defensive secondary is where TCU is strongest overall according to the coaches and press. The threesome of John Richards, Frank Horak and Dan Jones makes up one of the stingiest pass defenses to suit up this fall.

They are all crack tacklers and defend equally well against the run. FSU's All-American pass snagger Fred Biletnikoff recounted that Horak "sure gave me a lot of trouble."

Along with this outstanding three-man secondary, the Frog defense will usually put six on the line plus two linebackers.

FSU won 10-0 last year but played one of its least exciting games, a tangle all the way.

Coach Peterson calls Texas Christian "big and strong and they've had contact."

Once again the contest will be under lights in Ft. Worth on the Frog's turf. Though experts ask FSU to start out '65 on a winning note, Coach Pete nervously refers to it as "a toss-up."

"At least they don't know what we have," remarked Peterson.

Defensive Backfield Looks Good

A combination of pride, experience and good football sense characterizes FSU's defensive backfield this season.

Three of last year's starters are back in harness. All are seniors, well-versed in the intricate system of pass coverage used by the Seminoles.

"We're expecting a good job out of our defensive backs," said Coach Bill Peterson. "They've played together, they can cover an individual, they're good tacklers, and all of them are smart."

Maury Bibent and Howard Ehler ran the corner back positions. Both could be outstanding offensive backs if their defensive talents were not so vital.

"Bibent is a football player. He's tremendous on Saturday," Peterson said. "He's a good tackler and he knows and thinks defense. He's a good runner and will be deep on punt returns for us this season."

Ehler is best remembered for his 63-yd. interception return for a touchdown against Oklahoma in the Gator Bowl.

Howard is strong and meets plays well," Peterson said. "He's a good tackler and a real competitor with enough running ability to be a threat after an interception."

The third veteran is safety Jim Massey, who has been hampered by an old knee injury this fall, and missed a good part of the early practice sessions. Filling in on the first unit has been Pat Conway who lettered as a sophomore behind Massey last year.

"We're not so concerned that they missed all that practice," Peterson. "We know what he's got. He's our signal caller in the backfield and another player who's great on Saturday."

The newcomer to the "four," as they were called last season, is Bill Campbell, a speedster who earned a letterman dash on the FSU track team last spring.

Campbell will share the wealth with Bibent on punt returns. He turned five for 72 yds. as a more last season.

"Bill is young and fast. We have all the tools, but he needs experience," said Peterson. "He's smart boy and real tough."

Campbell is the smallest group at 5-9, 177 lbs.

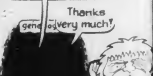

Conway, Bob Menendez, Butler and Alan LaMarche make up the rest of the backfield.

Menendez, like Conway, played last year. Riser and Conway have no varsity experience.

Seminole Fledglings Hot 'n Cold Jell Expected For Mexico City

by JUDY HUGHES
Flambeau Sports Writer

The FSU freshman team is in a "wait and see" stage of development awaiting the outcome of Saturday night's game with the University of Mexico City.

Alternately hot and cold in practice, the Seminole fledglings are expected to jell in time to display a consistent passing attack in the opening tilt against the Mexicans.

Gary Fajcik will start for FSU at the quarterback slot in a backfield composed of big, strong runners. The larger size of the backs prevents the possibility of any real breakaway threats, but Fajcik's throwing is expected to compensate for the running deficiency.

However, the offense at this time is a little ahead of the defense in actual preparation, said Coach Bill Proctor.

"We should be balanced by game time. We've had to work them a little harder because we're starting our season a week earlier than usual. "We'll wait and see Saturday night," he explained.

Proctor singled out Dale McCullers and Howell Montgomery, "McCullers, an offensive guard, and Montgomery, our defensive left safety, have been our most consistent players. McCullers has been working hard and opening up some holes, and Montgomery has been covering the receivers well."

"We'll be disappointed if we don't get a good performance from them against the Mexicans," he said. The frosh will be facing no ordinary opponent in the University of Mexico City. A varsity team, the Mexicans have several games' experience due to earlier starting dates in Mexico.

However, the fledglings will be battling a college team with relatively little high school experience behind it. If the Seminoles minimize their field mistakes they will be favored.

Jim Brown, starting fullback, and Billy Joe James, starting middle guard, will be out of action for the contest due to injuries. James will be replaced by Tom Hermann, Dick Hermann's younger brother.

The fullback slot will be filled by Andy Porter, an impressive youngster who also replaced Brown in an earlier scrimmage with the varsity.

THE FSU FOOTBALL SEASON COMES ALIVE

Saturday night when the Seminoles meet Texas Christian in Ft. Worth and the freshmen meet the University of Mexico City in Campbell Stadium. Students with an ID will be admitted to the frosh game free. Admission for non-students will be $1.

THE FOUR PREPS

Join Henry Mancini, concert artist, in the Student Entertainment Series tonight at 8 p.m. in the Gym. Tickets are available at $2.50 at the Union Ticket Office. The smorgasbord scheduled to precede the program has been canceled.

Mancini, Four Preps In First Series Show

Henry Mancini, his orchestra, and the Four Preps will play to approximately 4,000 people tonight at 8 p.m. when the first of five Student Entertainment Series concerts gets underway, said Kay Vernon, director of special events, today.

The program, to be in Tully Gym, will be the first presented with the new "saturated" sound system, Mrs. Vernon said.

Thirty-two speakers placed on the beams above the floor will project such sounds as "Moon River," "Hatari," "Soldier in the Rain," "Bachelor in Paradise," and "Pink Panther"—all hits by the composer Mancini.

During the two-hour show, which is officially billed "The Concert Sound of Henry Mancini and his 40-piece Orchestra with Special Guests, the Four Preps," listeners will see a variety of entertainment.

The Four Preps, known for their spoofs on academic life, will presented part of their new album, "The Four Preps on Campus."

Mancini's success stems from his effective use of dis-tinctive beats. In "Hatari" the cha-cha combined with a hoo-down fiddle to produce "Your Father's Feathers," which accompanied the ostrich chase scene in the picture.

Mancini received three Oscar awards and five nominations for the coveted Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Award.

He received nominations for his musical score in "The Glenn Miller Story" and the song, "Bachelor in Paradise."

"Moon River" from the score of "Breakfast at Tiffany's" won the composer an Oscar.

'Quo Vadis 1965?' Asked Students

"Quo Vadis 1965," Latin for "where does that?" is the University Union Forum Committee's attempt to point students in the right direction, said Marie Williams, Program Council director.

The lecture series was launched Tuesday night with a "profound and enlightening discussion on an almost impossible subject" according to Kay Price, chairman.

The lecture, presented by Dr. Jackson Lee, professor of philosophy, concerned "No Exit" by Jean Paul Sartre, which portrays three people in hell, a darkened room, with no resources for occupation but themselves.

Dr. Robert Latture, assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences and professor of English, will offer the next lecture on Robert Penn Warren's "All the King's Men," which is based on the life of Huey P. Long, former governor of Louisiana.

The title of the series is particularly significant, said Miss Price. It was chosen two weeks ago by the committee of students and professors from the suggestion of Dr. R. R. Oglesby, former dean of students and present professor of international politics.

The title was taken from the novel of the same name by Henryk Sienkiewicz.

The story deals with the breakthrough of Christianity into the dark and pagan world of the Roman Empire, said Oglesby.

The classic question of where humanity is being led poses problems as applicable today as when the phrase "Quo Vadis" was first coined in the days of Christ, Oglesby continued.

The series of lectures and book reviews intends to offer students an idea of where mankind is going, Miss Price said.

The program should be quite successful, due to the "high-type subjects and the highly qualified professors," she continued.

The movie version of the novel was the first movie to be shown on the new $2,000 projector obtained for FSU two years ago, she continued.

The series is divided into three groups by the subjects of the lectures.

The titles of the sub-divisions were chosen by the professors involved who also chose their own subjects.

The committee hopes to make the title a traditional one, Miss Price said.

The talks will be presented each Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. in Moore Auditorium. There is no charge. Other professors to speak by group, are:

1. Contemporary Literature and its Religious Implications: Dr. John J. Carey, Oct. 5 on "Too Late the Phalarope" by Alan Paton; Dr. Fred Standley, Oct. 12, "Rabbit Run" by John Updike; Dr. George Schweitzer, Oct. 19, "Philosophical Considerations of Modern Science."
2. Prospects for Peace: Dr. Marian Irish, Oct. 26, "Pacem in Terris"; Dr. R. R. Oglesby, Nov. 2, "The Elephants and the Grass" by Cecil Chestnut; Dr. R. C. Bone, Nov. 9, "US State in Viet Nam"; Dr. Richard Gray, Nov. 16, "Do We Really Need the Sun?"
3. Conception of Man from Faust to Willie Loman: Richard Fallon and Dr. Jackson Lee, Nov. 23, "Marlowe's Conception of Man in Dr. Faustus"; Fallon, Jan. 30, "Man's Conception of Man in 'Death of a Salesman'."

There will be a soap dance tomorrow night in the Union Ballroom from 9 p.m.-midnight. Admission is one bar of soap.

JOY DICKENSON Dickenson New Committee Head

Dickenson has been appointed chair of the Student-Senate Relations Committee by Larry Goller, student body vice president.

As chair of the Student-Senate Relations Committee, defined by Senate Body Statutes to "... coordinate the Student Senate's action to the student body and, ... it a means of communication between the student body and the Student Senate."

Under Miss Dickenson's direction, the committee will hold this year's committee body schedule meetings in general sessions at which time students may air grievances, discuss Senate issues or discuss their Senate or any other matter relating to Student Government, by initiative.

The committee will also prepare Senate-Senate newsletters to inform student body and otherwise stimulate student interest in Senate, he stated.

Working on the committee with Miss Dickenson will be one senator from each of Senate's four standing committees who will be appointed by the following fall elections, one member from each Senate district to be appointed by Miss Dickenson with the approval of Sen-

PETER NERO

Peter Nero Next Series Attraction

Peter Nero, concert pianist, will perform in the second Student Entertainment Series concert next Friday night at 8 p.m. in Tully Gym. Tickets are now on sale at the Union Ticket Office for $2.50.

Nero made his debut both as an actor and as a composer of film scores, in MGM's "Sunday in New York."

A creative instrumentalist, he blends his classical background with "pop" and jazz into a musical expression different from the conventional tunes, said David Fletcher, chairman of the Student Entertainment Series Committee.

His talent for "spicing up" melodies did not just evolve. Over a period of time Nero discovered that certain pop selections lent themselves naturally to jazzy arrangements, Fletcher continued.

Coeds Need Change

Tonight Round Board will sponsor Penny-A-Minute Night for all women students. Women must sign out in their residences before tonight to be able to stay out after the regular 12:30 closing hour.

A penny will be charged for each minute after 12:30; if the coed stays out.

Goller Appointed To General Staff

Goller's duties include acting as chief prosecutor for the University in Honor Court and lower court cases, assisting Attorney General Lief Erickson in preparing constitutional and statutory opinions, maintaining of the Organizations Bureau and bloc-seating for the football games.

A junior, Goller maintains a 2.5 average with majors in government and economics and a minor in philosophy. He plans to attend law school.

RONALD GOLLER

'Raisin In Sun' Movie Tonight

The Campus Movie Series will present "Raisin in the Sun" tonight and tomorrow night in Westcott Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $.25 per person.

"Raisin in the Sun" is based on the Broadway play that won the New York Drama Critics Circle Award. It stars Sidney Poitier, Claudia McNeil and Ruby Dee.

It is the story of the dreams, ambitions and frustrations of a poor Chicago southside family and what happens to them when they receive a $10,000 insurance bequest.

Courts Appraised

The student courts are a mess.

Unfortunately, much of the blame for this lies with the students. It is their fault that the rules of procedure prohibit cross-examination. It is their fault that the accused cannot be confronted by his accuser.

It is their fault that a justice was elected who believes that students who are tried in her court must have committed an offense or they wouldn't be there. That such biased jurors under conditions such as these render decisions affecting the whole future of a defendant is disgraceful.

While this situation has been compounded by the worst efforts of the faculty and administration, the students must undertake the reform of the courts where it is in their power, not only because justice demands it, but also because they now prove that they are capable of discharging the responsibilities which they have thus far so mismanaged.

If they cannot try someone fairly, they have no right to try them at all.

An effort will be required on the part of both individual students and their representatives in Student Government in order to solve these judicial problems.

Individual students must consider carefully who to elect to fill the positions in the judiciary, keeping in mind that someday this person may sit in judgement of them.

The Student Government must pass legislation to guarantee defendants their rights or abandon its claim to being a responsible government.

This will be a major test. There is no place in the court room for Mickey Mouse.

Reply From A Jitney Dissenter

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on Mr. J. D. Milton's letter defending Jitney Jungle's policy on lie detector tests.

As you know from De Wayne William's letter and his submitted copy of part of Jitney's application for cashiers job, any person applying for said job must sign his name to an agreement stating these certain facts.

The applicant agrees to take a lie detector test before he begins working for Jitney; the applicant agrees to pay for this test the sum of $25 to be taken out of five of his pay-checks.

Mr. Milton's defense of the Jitney job application begins with this phrase, "Along with this application goes the following explanation:--and then Mr. Milton tells us that it was explained to him that the applicant really doesn't have to take the test unless accused of wrongdoing and in the event a test is taken, the company pays for it."

Really, Mr. Milton, how naive do you think we are?

Student Voices A Complaint On 'Flambeau' Editor Collins

To the Editor:

During the long hot summer here in Tallahassee we were only amused by one small controversy. Erik Collins had somehow become editor of the Flambeau, editor of the Smoke Signals, Chairman of the Union Board and a member of Summer Senate. Editor Collins writing columns about Senator Collins was a farce which Student Government has yet to match.

But then Jim Hilburn who was a member of Summer Senate had the guts to buck the "czar" of campus politicians in editor's clothes and point out the absurdity of this situation. Hilburn even went so far as to ask that the multiple holding of offices be discontinued. Apparently he was naive enough to believe that those offices actually did anything and that one person couldn't handle all of them at once.

Hilburn's suggestions were also damaging to the "Little LBJ" of campus politics, Jim Groot, who was also receiving multiple pay checks as associate editor of the Flambeau; an appointee of his "czar behind the scenes" Editor Collins.

Poor Hilburn for trying to buck Collins. That story in the Flambeau about "Hilburn stalling reappointment" is probably only the beginning of Editor Collins' revenge for the trouble Hilburn gave him this summer. Of course, as long as Collins uses the Flambeau for his petty retaliations the students will never know what really is going on in Student Government (great loss). Collins has been editor of Flambeau for two years (going on his third) and he has apparently forgotten that the paper belongs to every student. Someone could take this issue to the Board of Publications but then the Chairman of the Board is his roommate and the rest are appointees of his buddy, Jim Groot (except one). Student Government has outdone itself.

Seminoles Kick Off 1965 Season

'A Bunch Of Winners'

The Tribe Is Ready, Said Pete

by HANK SCHOMBER
Assistant Sports Editor

"The saddest thing in the world that can happen to a football coach, outside of his family, is to have a losing football team; but I'm not worried. This year we have a bunch of winners."

With this sentiment, Head Coach Bill Peterson enthusiastically summed up the prospects of the 1965 Seminole squad, on the eve of its opener with TCU.

The Seminoles leave today at 1 p.m. for Ft. Worth, Tex. They will practice under the lights tonight and return to Tallahassee immediately after the game tomorrow.

Game time is 8:30 p.m. locally and will be broadcast over WNTT (1270) in Tallahassee.

"The team is ready," announced Peterson. "They are in good physical and mental condition, and I'm sure they'll do a fine job Saturday night," he said.

The Tribe mentor indicated he was pleased with the team's preparation this week. He said the defensive club finally pulled together and was looking like the "seven magnificent" of last year.

Peterson said he felt the coaches were to blame for the slow start of the defense.

"We knew what those boys were capable of doing and didn't push them as hard as we should have. They have come along now, though, and are ready to do a fine job."

The offense, according to the Seminole chief, is "set." They looked good running against simulans of the expected Horned Frog defense, he said.

Although most reports from Texas say that TCU is not supposed to have a powerhouse, Peterson is not taking the Horned Frogs lightly.

"They are big and strong," he said. "Last week they moved the ball well against Nebraska and the Cornhuskers returned 10 men from 1964's number three defense."

The fact that the Texans have seen action is causing some concern also.

"You can never be sure what you have until the first game. TCU has made adjustments to counter their mistakes. We'll have to wait and see about ours," Peterson added.

On the other hand, Peterson pointed out, FSU has scouted the Frogs in action while they have only been able to use last year's game films to check the Tribe.

"A BUNCH OF WINNERS"

... is the description attributed to the Seminole football team by Coach Bill Peterson. The Tribe tackles TCU in Ft. Worth tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. local time. The game will be broadcast over WNTT.

Champion Back After Sickness

Dr. John Champion, FSU president, is back in his office after a three-week recuperation period from exhaustion and fatigue, said Pat Hogan, director of University relations, today.

During the three weeks, Champion was given medical tests and passed them all favorably, Hogan said. A combination of the responsibilities of his new appointment and one long, hard year's work caused him to take this period of rest, he continued. Champion has been back for about 10 days and looks fine, said Hogan. A vacation had been on his agenda anyway. "Thankfully, no repercussions are foreseen," Hogan concluded.

'Heartbreak House' Cast Named

The cast for George Bernard Shaw's "Heartbreak House," the first theatre production of the season, Oct. 13-17, was announced today by the FSU Theatre.

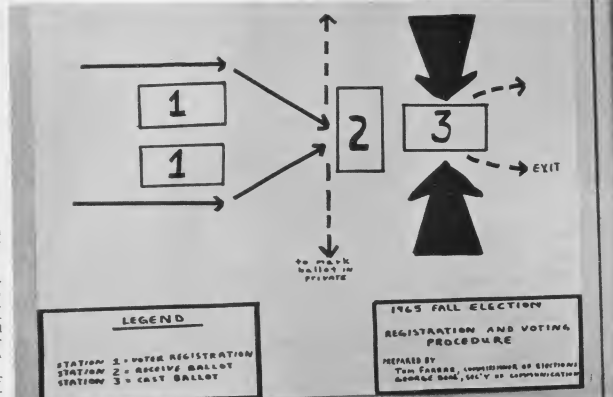

Members of the cast are William Gammon, Shotover; Ed Berry, Hector; Kent Wood, Mangan; Alex Kurjack, Mazzini; Charles Phipps, Randall; Steve Kleid, Billy; Ingrid Schuler, Hesione; Anne Phillips, Ariadne; Becci Blair, Ellie and Ann Jennings, nurse.

Shaw described the play as "cultured, leisured Europe before the war." It was written during World War I, but Shaw delayed the London opening until after the war.

The comedy on man's attempt to escape reality in modern life is considered one of Shaw's best plays. Louis Kronenberger, in an introduction to "Four Plays by Bernard Shaw," describes Shaw's intention: "We are meant to see in the outer life of a group the inner death of a society."

Season tickets are now on sale to the public at the Union Ticket Office. Student season tickets have been sold out, but individual tickets will be available to students for each production.

All productions will be at 8:30 p.m. in Conrad Theatre.

SE Series Tickets Now On Sale For Performance In Tully Gym

The emperor of the keyboard, Peter Nero, will make a guest appearance in Tully Gym at 8:30 p.m. Friday night in the second Student Entertainment Series concert of the year. Tickets are now on sale at the Union Ticket Office for $2.50.

The 30-year-old pianist is an all-around performer who combines three magical "tricks"—talent, technique, and taste, said David Fletcher, chairman of the Student Entertainment Series Committee. Recently he has been in motion picture roles, also.

He made his debut both as an actor and as a composer of film scores in "Sunday in New York," a romantic comedy based on a Broadway play. In the film he heads a combo at the "Club Nero," playing music he wrote especially for the film.

Nero's talent for merging two popular music forms—classical and jazz—did not come about overnight.

LRD Meeting Set

All students who filled out student host forms for Legislative Recognition Day will meet at 7 p.m. tonight in room 346, Union.

According to Nero, his proficiency evolved over a period of time when he discovered that certain pop selections lent themselves naturally to jazz arrangements.

Having first tried his hand at the xylophone, Nero transferred some of the tunes to a battered old upright piano, he said.

His early training paid off, for by age 14 Nero had performed in symphony hall concerts and had won a Juilliard School of Music scholarship.

A graduate of the High School of Music and Arts and a student of Saturday classes at Juilliard, he went on to graduate from Brooklyn College. After winning first prize on an Arthur Godfrey talent show, he toured with Paul Whiteman on TV and in various concert halls around the country.

Nero said he developed his style by combining his knowledge with all types of music. He said that an artist could not become a mere echo of a written composition, but should allow his own musical personality to come to the fore.

The audience will not only be entertained by Nero's musical talent, but by his wit and sense of humor, as well, said Fletcher.

STA Team To On Campus For Four Days

STA team from the national office in Washington, D.C., are here today through Friday.

Headquarters at FSU will be in 347, Union.

Here, representatives will teach students desiring information about the program.

These organizations may obtain a speaker during the week by calling the University Chaplain's office at 2155 or 7156.

A Volunteers in Service to America is the domestic equivalent to ROTC. Its program is concerned with minority groups, economic underprivileged areas and where there is need for volunteer projects, explained a VISTA official.

Men 18 years of age or older are eligible for minimum education and testing requirement. 24 samples are eligible if both male and wife qualify for service, he stated.

Volunteers serve for one year, usually a four to six-week training period. Military service may be deferred during VISTA service, but volunteers are not exempted from duty day, he continued.

During stresses supervised field work. The nature of poverty, race, or society and ways of changing it make up the core of the program, the spokesman explained.

Of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa and Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands are eligible for service. An applicant may express preference for location and type of work, he said.

Kings Men' Picture Subject

The "King's Men" by Robert Warren will be the subject of a new night's "Quo Vadis, 1965" Series at 7:30 p.m. in Moore Auditorium.

Robert O. Lawton, asst. dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, English professor, will speak on "Literary and religious implications of the novel."

The book is based on the story of a Louisiana governor, "Lafayette to Lawton." "It is not a tragedy or rather, it is a novel of the expression of what Warren wants to say concerning religion."

CANDIDATE LETTERS

PAUL LEACH

Frosh President

To the Editor:

Tuesday, our freshman class will elect the officers who will guide us through our first year of college. When deciding on the candidate of your choice for president, it is important that you choose a person who will serve the class to the best of his ability.

The political party, sorority or fraternity that backs a candidate is not important. Judge the candidate by his desire and potential to serve you and the class. Pick a candidate who will not quit working when elections are over, but will accept the responsibility of his office and carry it out in a competent manner.

I feel that some of the candidates in the presidential race have more experience in student government than myself. However, this should not be the only factor considered. If I am elected, my class would come first in mind. I would see that the freshman class becomes more highly organized and obtains a higher degree of participation in all campus activities. It is my sincere desire to serve you, and I hope you will consider me as your choice for freshman class president in the coming election.

Paul Leach

Frosh Secretary

To the Editor:

My name is Sandy Miley and I'm from Tampa.

I would very much like to serve you as Secretary-Social Chairman of our freshman class. I took an active part in student government in high school and am anxious and willing to continue contributing my time to Student Government at FSU. I can only promise to do my best and hope that you will give me your careful consideration when you vote Tuesday.

Sandy Miley

SANDY MILEY

Frosh Senator

To the Editor:

Mike Cudlipp, Mike Cudlipp, Mike Cudlipp, that's me! I am seeking the opportunity to serve as your freshman class senator. Experience is my spokesman.

This summer I was the only freshman senator to serve on the Legislative Council. I bring to Florida State a record of student government service in high school. Give me the opportunity to serve our class.

ALLEN EMMELHAINZ

Kellum Senator

To the Editor:

As Florida State University continues to grow at such a rapid rate, many of our administrators have tended to lose sight of the problems which confront students in the academic environment. More and more, the burden of concern for the individual student has fallen upon the shoulders of Student Government. While I feel that Student Government has responded vigorously and accepted this challenge with a deep understanding of its proper role, there remain many areas for improvement. Additionally, there are always emerging problems which our rapid growth brings about.

It has come time, for instance, to evaluate and more clearly define the

Precinct 45 Senator

To the Editor:

Do "not" vote for me if you want unfair representation in Senate. For it is my desire, if elected to Student Senate from precinct 45, to carry out the principles manifested in the Constitution of our University student body.

If you desire to support the best of your ability, especially reappointment amendments, cast your vote Tuesday for the candidate whom you believe in.

Too Many Mistakes

Seminoles Upset By TCU, 7-3

Crucial mistakes, errors, penalties and booby's were the order of the day when the Seminoles fatally met the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University in Ft. Worth Saturday night.

Scoring a field goal in the second quarter, the Tribe was ahead until the third period. TCU began a scoring drive on an interception of a Pritchett pass by E. A. Gresham on the FSU 48. With 32 seconds left in the game, FSU's Bill McDowell recovered a Frank Horak fumble on the TCU 12 yard line. The Tribe had no more time outs and quarterback Ed Pritchett ran the ball to the four. Before the team could line up for another play the clock ran out, erasing all hopes of a last second victory. The game ended with TCU winning 7-3.

FSU won the toss of the coin and elected to kick off. Pete Roberts booted the ball to the nine with TCU returning it to the 19.

The defense held the Frogs to a nine yard gain. TCU punted twice, the first one called back by offsetting penalties against both teams.

Taking over on their own 41, the Tribe made a first down after Giardino ran for seven yards in two plays and Pritchett swept to the right to the TCU 49.

Phil Spooner picked up five yards but a clipping penalty put the Seminoles back on their 41. Two plays later, John Hosack punted to the TCU 12 where Horak took it and returned it to the 44.

In six plays the Frogs were unable to pick up more than one first down and a 13 yard penalty for offensive holding.

In the next series of downs the Tribe moved the ball from its 33 across the midfield stripe. An illegal procedure penalty held the gains down and Hosack punted to the TCU 18.

After swapping the ball both ways, TCU again took over on its own 19. On their third play, fullback Ken Post fumbled and FSU's Bill Campbell recovered on the TCU 45.

Giardino picked up three and Pritchett connected with Buddy Blankenship for a first down. Three plays later Pritchett again connected with Blankenship for another first down on the 11. On the fourth down Roberts booted the ball through the uprights from the 13.

The first half ended with each team having possession of the ball twice more.

FSU kicked off. Twelve plays later Gresham intercepted a Pritchett pass setting up an 11-play series that ended with Post going five yards for the TD. The conversion was good and the score was TCU 7, FSU 3.

In the last quarter, the Tribe had possession four times in drives that ended on the TCU 18, 36, 40 and four yard lines.

The final gun sounded with FSU on the four with no more time outs.

The Seminoles made 13 first downs, 108 yards rushing, 128 yards passing, connected on 14 of 29 passes, had one pass intercepted, averaged 33 yards in five punts and was penalized 97 yards.

TCU made 12 first downs, 91 yards rushing, 118 yards passing, connected with 13 of 30 passes, had two passes intercepted, punted five times for a 34-yard average, lost five fumbles and was penalized 74 yards.

★★★ Freshmen Win 48-12 ★★★

The "Go-Go FSU freshman team unveiled a legacy to Steve Tenzel-Fred Billeitnikoff with a dazzling passing attack that hypnotized Mexico Tech 48-12 Saturday night.

Gary Pajcic teamed up with Ron Sellers for two TD's and two other long passes covering 98 yds. in the first half of the spectacle at Campbell Stadium.

Pajcic also proved himself an effective ground gainer, cracking through the Blanco line for 55 yds. and the leadership in that department. Jimmy Brown followed Pajcic with 34 yds. and a fresh score.

Clint Burton took over the reins from Pajcic in the second half and found a target in flanker John Crowe for three passes and one TD. Burton scored on a 25-yd. pass from Bill Capleman in the final period.

The FSU defense harassed Tech QB's Arturo Diaz and Enrique Zapata constantly and the Mexican ground attack never got moving. Diaz finally broke through the Seminoles line for a TD late in the third quarter and end Enrique Borda took a Zapata pass for the Mexicans.

other tally in the fourth quarter. The frosh marched 51 yds. in six plays the first time they had the ball with Andy Porter driving off left tackle from the one for the score. Pajcic then unleashed his first long pass to Sellers for 28 yds. and a score in a drive that began on the FSU 42 yard line.

Hard-running Jimmy Brown chalked up the third score with a five yard plunge. Then Pajcic connected again, this time nailing Sellers for a 21-yd. tally.

Burton caught Crowe for a TD to open the second half scoring, and Jeff LeCout recovered a Tech fumble before Capleman's 25-yarder to Burton ended the FSU attack. The frosh accumulated 22 first downs, with 197 yds. rushing and 23 yds. passing, compared to the Blanco's 10-20, and 171. Kickers John Richardson and Johnnie Hurst turned in fine boots. Richardson accounted for four extra points and Hurst two.

The game was marred by numerous penalties, especially in the second half.

Students Go To Polls Today

Students go to the polls today to elect freshman class officers and precinct senators and to try out a new voter registration plan. Tom Farrar, commissioner of elections, said that voting areas will be located in Westcott, the library, Bryan Hall, and the Union and the Seminole Dining Room. The new voting procedure was designed by Farrar, and George W. Sec, of communications. Students will register at station one where they will be told their precinct number. After receiving a stamp on the activities card (brown one), students will pick up a ballot at station two. Ballots will be placed in the ballot boxes at station three. Activities cards must be filled out with name and address before the random check of addresses, student numbers and names will be made later to assure an "honest election," Farrar said.

Well Folks, They Were Ready Anyway

By KATHY URBAN
Asst. News Editor

A bright red fire trucks raced to the campus Saturday to battle a gas, conflagration in Gilchrist building.

Ready to chop down doors, climb ladders to rescue maidens in distress and wield giant hoses, the women were confronted with a short fight in a stove burner.

A matter of minutes the entire crew had arrived on the scene, snuffed the already-extinguished fire and returned to the city fire.

To the relief of Gilchrist residents and representatives of the faculty, however, no fire alarm was sounded.

A freshman making a cake in the ground floor kitchen had turned on the back burner of the stove, immediately the wires shorted, causing two loud pops, like "a cap pistol going off." The heated wires melted the insulation and caused the fire.

Reception Planned

The School of Business will have its annual Student-Faculty Reception Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Welch Hall Lounge and Starr Conference Room in the School of Business.

All business students may attend to meet and get acquainted with the faculty and representatives of the student organizations of the school. Refreshments will be served.

Jasper Gaines, janitor of Gilchrist, was quick to the rescue with a fire extinguisher. Thanks to his instant response to the emergency, said Angeline Ashbrook, housemother, the fire was not serious.

No injuries were incurred. No permanent damage was done.

FSU's Asst. Director of Safety Jess Wilson was on the scene almost immediately. He commended the city fire dept. for its excellent service to the FSU campus.

"We are fortunate to have such a good fire dept. so near," Wilson said. "Every call from FSU is responded to in three minutes by the city fire officials. We are proud that we have such wonderful cooperation.

Organizations Wanting Blocks Must Submit Requests By 5 pm

Organizations wishing to register for block seats for the Baylor-FSU football game Saturday must apply today at the attorney general's office, room 333, Union.

Tomorrow at 5 p.m., each organization which has applied for block seats must send a representative to draw for the seating area.

Locations of the seats will be assigned to each group immediately after the drawing.

Because the size of each group will vary, however, the exact position of the seats will not be posted until Thursday outside Attorney General Lief Erickson's office.

Those groups not represented at the drawing will not be given block seats, Erickson said.

Eligible for block seats are Greeks, the religious organizations and any recognized club on file with the attorney general.

The block seats are in a rectangle extending from the 20 to 40-yard lines up to row 60, between aisles 13 and 15.

Other plans were considered by the summer seating committee but rejected.

These included two rectangles between the 30 and 40-yard lines on both sides of the 50-yard line and a horseshoe-shaped arrangement from the 35 to 40-yard lines, up to row 75 and over to the other 35-yard line and down.

Although the student seating committee has allotted block areas to parties desiring block seats, there are more non-block seats available this year between the 40 and 50-yard lines.

According to Erickson, head of the committee, there will be 1,500 to 2,000 more non-block seats this year as compared to previous years.

"We feel that this arrangement will give fair representation to all FSU students and will satisfy the organizations that want to sit in a block," said Erickson.

"Student Body President Jim Groot promised in his campaign that there would be fair football seating representation; he has followed up on his promises," Erickson concluded.

Confused Student Body Statutes Causing Court Problem: Erickson

A Legislative Council plea to find out what's what with the student courts has led to an investigation of overlapping Student Body Statutes.

A resolution was sent to the Senate recommending that the attorney general make a thorough study of several statutes dealing with executive and judicial power.

The main objection to the statutes, explained Lief Erickson, attorney general, is that they have allowed court officials "to investigate, prepare and present cases," which directly interferes with a person's right to appear before an impartial court.

If the justices investigate a case, there is nothing to prevent them from making a decision before the case is brought before the court, he added.

The purpose of the court is to decide whether a person is guilty or not on the basis of evidence submitted by the parties involved, not by the court's own investigation, Erickson said.

The power of investigation, according to the resolution, should be in the hands of the attorney general.

Erickson said the University Court is the prime target of the investigation. It is now a disciplinary committee.

Students appearing before it are pronounced guilty with no opportunity for defense, he added.

The investigation is already under way and will be completed soon. An appendix of suggested legislation for changes in the Statutes will be sent to the Senate along with a copy of the study, Erickson said.

Suggested legislation will include putting the University Court into a new court structure or taking it out of the judicial branch, making it a disciplinary committee, he said.

Erickson also said he wished to try to set up a modified jury system in the courts. The study is being conducted by Ron Gollar, asst. attorney general, under the supervision of Erickson.

9:00 til 5:00
A GENTLE REMINDER

from Student Government and Circle K will greet voters today in their mailboxes.

Exchange Ideas

What has been happening on the FSU campus?

The past two weeks students have taken the time and trouble to express concern for the way Student Government has been operating by writing letters to the "Flambeau." While the presence of reaction is definitely better than no response at all, each publication of a letter by a dissatisfied student renews the question of whether there is any value in consensus.

Since the majority of FSU students does not either actively or passively interest itself with any variety of campus affairs, the problem of consensus is hardly applicable here. There remains the matter of the letters to the editor.

Those who read the daily "Flambeau" are afforded the opportunity to digest a new angle of insight within the perspective of each letter. Criticism is one of society's human conventions; since we are no exception to this premise, we receive it and occasionally wonder about the quality of our leaders.

It has been remarked that a political body deserves whomever it elects. According to the American rule of supply and demand, efficient administrators are hard to come by. It is no little fact that our Student Government has chalked up dozens of milestones and incomparable accomplishments.

Letters to the editor reflect more than the hackneyed sour grapes attitude of a student body; they show in what way the student body accepts and rejects its politicians and its policies. Without a doubt FSU enjoys its share of conscientious leaders. The next step involves the cooperation of a patent student body. Those who keep in touch with their senators and student body executives are, like the other segments of society, taking advantage of something; nothing satisfies like an exchange of ideas.

Candidate Letters . . .

Candidate, Freshman President

To the Editor:

After meeting the specific qualities of leadership and ability, a candidate for president of the freshman class at FSU must also possess the most important requirement, that of a sincere desire to serve each member of the entire class.

A desire and never-ceasing drive to see our class reach and surpass all attainable heights under devoted leadership.

As your freshman class president, I would like a closely-knit council staffed by committee members to reach out and represent every freshman and each facet of his life here at FSU. No student would be a number in a vast machine, but rather an intricate and invaluable working part of that machine where any and all

Candidate, Frosh Vice President

To the Editor:

The freshman class is faced with the responsibility of electing officers to serve for the coming year. Because of the size of our class, it is extremely difficult for you to meet all of the candidates running for office.

I have sincerely tried, in my campaign for freshman class vice president, to meet as many members of our class as possible, but if I have not been able to speak with you personally, I would now like to solicit your consideration.

I sincerely believe that I have the experience which it will take to adequately serve you. In high school I served as student body vice president, president of Inter Club Council and Boys' State representative. Most important, however, is my desire to work for you.

FRANK HANSHAW

To the Editor:

On Monday, Sept. 13, 1965, I filed for candidacy to run for the position of freshman senator at large. The main reason that I am running is that I am sincerely interested in helping the freshman class be the best at Florida State.

I am running as an independent for the simple reason that if I am elected, I want to vote on any bill as I believe the freshman class would want me to vote. I do not want a political organization coming to me and saying "We put you in office, now vote this way on this bill," for the simple reason that I want to register my vote as the freshman class would want it registered, not as a minority organization would want it.

Hence I believe that I can do the best job and I know that I will do what the freshman class wishes.

In the spring, before sophomore elections, I would propose sponsoring election and activity clinics for interested freshmen. These useful clinics will give you a chance to see for yourself if policies or any other extra-curricular activities at FSU have a future for you.

Regular efforts will be made throughout the year to improve specific social regulations and activities for freshman students. A proposed week of social functions leading up to the Florida-FSU freshman football game could also be a freshman fall highlight, festivity-wise.

In summary, a high-spirited, effective and industrious administration will be a direct result of a vote for a leader with unmatched desire.

The possibilities of our class are unlimited, as is my energy to serve each member of the class. I feel will be the finest in FSU history.

Ed Pritchett Not Another Tensi

BY DAVE NELSEN

One thing for certain about Saturday's game is: the best team lost.

FSU had the best defense, and strangely enough, the best offense. The Seminoles were more aggressive and fielded a much stronger team man for man.

The problem seems to be that FSU is in dire need of a quarterback. As some folks put it, Pritchett sure ain't no Tensi. As a matter of fact, it appears that Pritchett doesn't really want to be a Tensi.

The game Saturday gave the impression that Pritchett would much rather run and run and run, than throw the ball.

Most of Pritchett's passes seemed to be thrown more as a last result of his inability to run with the ball.

Returning to the total team outlook, the picture is really a good one. The team never quit. It exhibited the kind of pride that made us proud of FSU. The defense made it known, and felt, that it is still number one and as "magnificent" as ever.

The offense showed that it has a lot of running power that can add up to a real, potent threat if supplemented with some average passing.

Didn't Make The Big Play

Not Enough Courage Says Pe

HANK SCHOMBER

Asst. Sports Editor

For the FSU football team, Saturday was the day of the play—the play that didn't come.

Head Coach Bill Peterson reported, "We just didn't make the big play. Our defense played a good game and gave us plenty of scoring opportunities, but we couldn't take advantage of them. On the other hand, TCU made the big play when they had to."

"We didn't have enough courage and determination when we should have," he added.

The elusive "play" popped up several times for the Seminoles on both offense and defense. Early in the second quarter the Tribe drove from its own 45 to the TCU seven.

With third and five, quarterback Ed Pritchett threw to Max Wertstein, but the ball sailed over the big end's outstretched hands and fell incomplete.

On the next play, Pete Roberts booted his first collegiate field goal for a three point Seminole lead. The ability to come through with the big play, however, was never realized.

Later in the same period, the Seminoles faced a fourth and less than three situation on the Frog 24. Pritchett chose to go by land this time and elected Phil Spooner to carry the mail.

The powerful halfback slipped around the left side. When they uncovered the ball it was less than a foot short of the first down.

According to Peterson, however, the two "biggest plays that weren't" came in the third quarter. TCU was backed up to its own 21-yard line and needed 13 long yards. Frog signal caller Kent Nix dropped back to throw, but the Seminole forward wall poured through him. Nix was chased by three of the "magnificent" back into his own end zone, but the shifty quarterback slipped away up the right side line to the 35-yard stripe before being hauled down.

With a minute and 40 seconds remaining in the game, Pritchett let fly with the bomb from the 40. The pass was intended for flankerback T.K. Wetherell at the Frog five-yard stripe.

Wetherell never saw the ball, however. Frank Horak cut in front of the speedy Seminole and took the ball at the eight. That play, according to Peterson, ended FSU's chances.

JOANNA ROMER

was elected editor of the "Tally Ho" at the first meeting of the Board of Publications yesterday.

ISTA Worker Encouraged But Reports Volunteers Still Needed

For seven people have already been recruited for VISTA applications," Margaret Wohlgenuth, director of recruitment section of ISTA, said.

"We encouraged and feel that this is good for the short time we have here," she added.

"The main office of VISTA is located in room 247, Union. It will be shown continuously every 10 minutes in room 252, Union, through Friday.

"VISTA booth will also be located in the arcade of the Union this week. The first VISTA was passed out on Friday.

"In 1964, so the program has been in operation almost a year. The volunteers were in the field by May. There are now over 1500, Wohlgenuth said.

"July 1, we hope to have 4,000 volunteers," she said.

"We continued that the government has in relation to VISTA must be since they have appropriated money this year.

"The qualities VISTA is looking for in volunteers are stability, flexibility and initiative, according to Miss Wohlgenuth.

Volunteers need to have a skill or ability they can share, though this is not necessarily in education, she added.

Training is only an extension of selection. Volunteers do parallel work while in training and conditions are as difficult as possible, she continued.

No volunteer may go into an area unless asked by a local sponsor. Then they become part of the community, said Miss Wohlgenuth.

Each volunteer must decide for himself whether or not he will take part in all community activities, she explained.

VISTA has four projects in Florida—with the Seminole Indians, with the Miami housing authority, with migrants and with rural projects in a tri-county area.

There are 52 volunteers in Florida projects. Volunteers from Florida will be present at the rally, with a total of 32 of the 1,000 who have applied.

Dances, Chiefs Highlight Rally

FSU cheerleaders will lead state dances starting at West 3rd Ave., College Ave., and Jefferson St. at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

The rally will follow at 7:30 p.m. in the Union. Coach Bill Peterson, Coach Bill Peterson, and the Marching Band will be present at the rally, as well as a special guest speaker, and fraternity roll call will follow.

Following with the spirit of the first game, dorms and Greeks are encouraged to put up signs spurring the team to victory, said Barbara Walker, head of the rally program.

Joanna Romer was elected "Tally Ho" editor at the first meeting of the Board of Publications yesterday afternoon.

Miss Romer, acting managing editor of the 1965 "Tally Ho," will fill the position vacated by the resignation of Ginger McGinnis this summer. Miss McGinnis was unqualified to hold the office to which she was elected by the BOP last year.

Qualifications for editorship of a publication require at least two trimester's experience in a responsible position of the publication and a 2.3 grade point average.

Miss McGinnis did not meet the grade point requirements. She tendered her resignation as editor of the "Tally Ho" this summer following the board's discovery of its mistake.

Dr. Griffith Pugh was elected secretary of the BOP.

The board approved a list of delegates to the Associated College Press convention in San Francisco in October. It adopted a motion on selection of delegates to all conventions.

Future representatives to publication conventions will be student editors, business manager and advertising manager. Other delegates will be selected by the board.

Delegates to the ACP convention are Danny Rector, Grady Tolson, Jim Groot, Erik Collins, Dave Nelson, Joanna Romer and Gary Wetherington.

Two motions establishing publication policies were passed. The board voted to allow business advertising in the classified section of the "Flambeau" at display rates. Recognition and "Tally Ho" will be sold at $4 instead of the usual $3, beginning with the 1966 issue.

Election Returns

Fall elections for precinct and freshman class officers resulted in 11 run-off races scheduled for Friday, according to Tom Farrar, commissioner of elections, late last night.

Brice and Danaher will face each other again for freshman class president. Freshman vice president will be settled in a race between Fox and Hicks, Sec.-social chairmen in a toss-up between Stephens and Walden.

The freshman women senator runoff will be between Hoffman, H. Knapp and Katowski. Freshman men will pick their senator from Bennett, Cuddip and Leland.

There will be a run-off in p.t. in p.t. 13 between Bryant and Gunn. In p.t. 14 between Domino and Wright, and in p.t. 23 between Bull and Myric.

Davis and Phillips will vie for senator in p.t. 24; Deston and Neufeld will face each other in p.t. 25 and Fritz and Hill will run in p.t. 26.

Last night's winning candidates will be in tomorrow's "Flambeau." The results are posted outside the SG offices in the Union.

Farrar said that there was one race for senator in p.t. 32, that will take a ruling by the attorney general to decide. The plurality majority but he didn't have the required 10 votes to take a runoff either.

LEGISLATIVE RECOGNITION DAY

... was the main topic of discussion at Student Body President Jim Groot's cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon.

Solon Recognition Day Subject Of Second SG Cabinet Meeting

Last minute details for Legislative Recognition Day, Saturday, were discussed at the Cabinet meeting yesterday.

Instead of each host being responsible for a specific legislator, they will act as hosts and guides, thus enabling more students and legislators to get acquainted said Randy Plotts, sec. of state.

"The purpose behind Legislative Recognition Day is to expose our campus to the legislators," said Jim Groot, student body president. The Student Government column will begin in today's paper, Mel Smith, sec. of inter-collegiate affairs, reported.

The block seating program is doing well. All the fraternities and other organizations have picked up their seating assignments," Attorney General Lief Erickson said. Tommy Thompson requested on the Dollars for Scholars program. Student Government is sponsoring another pep rally tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m.

Instead of 8 p.m. for the benefit of students with night classes. To promote more school spirit, the cheerleaders will visit the success of the remaining Student Entertainment Series, the new sound system for Tully Gym which cost $26,086 will be more than paid for, he added.

The Mancini Concert was considered a great success with the sale of over 4,000 tickets said Tellone. With the success of the remaining Student Entertainment Series, the new sound system for Tully Gym which cost $26,086 will be more than paid for, he added.

Nero, Quartet To Entertain Friday

Peter Nero and the Modern Folk Quartet will perform Friday night at 8:30 p.m. in Tully Gym. Tickets are now on sale at the Union Ticket Office for $2.50.

The Modern Folk Quartet will be making its second performance at FSU.

The four young men traveled around the world before forming their group. Their music includes songs from the four corners of the earth all done in folk fashion.

By taking large bites of mid-twentieth century musical know-how, the quartet brings the whole range of folk music up to date. They rearrange old sounds, but give away none of the guts, drive and excitement inherent in folk music, said critics. "We try to let the listener in on something new," said the spokesman of the group, Cyrus Farvar, who was formerly a member of the Whiskey Roll Singers with Dave Guard.

"The essential element in enjoying music is discovery of something new, the kind of thing that makes you wonder why you didn't think of it before," he continued.

Insurance Sale Ends Tomorrow

Joe Tellone, sec. of internal affairs, announced that tomorrow will be the final day for purchasing Student Government-sponsored insurance.

Many students have already purchased this insurance but some have failed to do so, Tellone said.

The cost, which is $15 per student per year, is very little compared to the benefits, Tellone emphasized. Benefits include accidental medical expense, accidental death and dismemberment, infirmity and hospital benefits.

Information about the plan may be obtained in the cabinet room, 337, Union.

Student Insurance is underwritten by the Gulf Life Insurance Co. of Jacksonville and is administered by Tom Overstreet of Tallahassee.

Dodging

We have been hearing complaints about "draft dodging" by college students from politicians and down state newspapers for over two months now and frankly we are getting a little sick of it.

It has gotten to the point where anyone who tries to further his education after high school is accused of being unpatriotic.

If these complainers would stop to look at the facts for just a minute, they might see that their accusations have been unfounded.

The average college student graduates with his bachelor's degree at 21 or 22 years of age. As the draft extends to age 26, it is obvious that deferring college students is not going to keep them from fulfilling their service to their country through military service.

As for graduates, the same age situation holds true for the average master's degree candidate. We believe that anyone who has the capacity to go on and successfully complete the requirements for a Ph.D. degree will be adequately serving his country by putting this knowledge into use in whatever position he assumes.

Besides these factual arguments, however, we would disagree with the implied charge that college students are any less patriotic than their counterparts who do not choose to further their education. We don't think many college students actually believe that the US owes them an education or the opportunity to live in a free society.

It is only through the college door that the US will be able to produce the young men and women to continue its leadership of the free world. The sooner some of our more vocal critics realize this by giving more support to higher education, the sooner we will be able to have a world free from the Viet Nams and other conflicts now threatening our security and the security of man everywhere.

GOVERNMENT NEWS

FLAMBEAU FORUM

by MEL SMITH
Sec. of Intercollegiate Affairs

Here's to the Wright Brothers, Adam and Eve and all those individuals who pioneered something that is still going strong.

Today marks the beginning of a like quality because of its inactivity on many issues important to him. He criticized Student Government for not getting out and jumping in the oil of each burning issue.

According to him, Student Government ought to take stands on controversial campus issues, become a crusading body instead of a seemingly inactive one and cease being a group of Walt Disney-like cartoon characters interested only in student insurance and entertainment events.

At this point I became rather disappointed in my extremist, for he had failed to see that Student Government is not a crusader's tool. It is not a soapbox for the airing of views concerning all the problems that face the University. Student Government should not dote on controversy and class.

Student Government is a continuing institution that lives year in and year out. It was not conceived to fight all the battles and uphold all the causes of the University, but to provide needed services and construct programs.

I'm sorry, my slightly radical friend, but you and Student Government exist on two opposing poles, you have your causes and it has its daily grind of executing a wide range of programs.

More on Student Government, later.

Alpha Council Meets

There will be an Alpha Council meeting tonight at 8:30 p.m. in room 346, Union.

Show Critics

To the Editor:
After viewing the Bill for show Sunday afternoon I was with the feelings of embarrassment and frustration. The quality of the show left much to be desired in the filming and the acting. It seems to me that a program as this, which reaches a television audience, and represents our university, is of better quality.

At least 50 percent of the camera wasn't within 10 yards of the ball carrier, and most of the time we didn't know who was carrying the ball for FSU, and only rarely we knew which of the "Mug Seven" were magnificent in particular play.

I have watched the same program for both the University of Miami and University of Florida. I must say we are sadly lacking. Reptiles have a very exciting program, complete with "stop-action" and "slow-motion" features.

It appeared that the people at the show Sunday realized the quality of the lighting was poor for the "lighting was bad in the stadium." This doesn't explain the year, though, when the film was just as bad.

Our school needs a better show. It is getting on this show so many people watching, let them something that we can be proud of.

From what I could see of the show, our boys played hard-nosed football. We just couldn't beat TCU on our own eagerness and mistakes. The looks of things, though, they tried to ambush several teams before the year is out, and send home "losers." Let's hope for Saturday night.

Air conditioning and a new central heating system will be the main features of a complete renovation of the Williams Bldg. now in the planning stages, said Dr. Griffith T. Pugh, assoc. chairman of the English dept.

The heads of the humanities depts. this summer under the direction of Pugh, then acting head of the English dept. in the absence of Dr. Francis G. Townsend, drew up the report of recommendations for the renovation of classrooms and offices.

The Board of Regents approved the report, and the state architects, Forrest Kelly and associates, are now drawing up plans for the remodeling.

The state Legislature recently allocated $30,000 for the plans and for preliminary reports.

According to Pugh, the committee has served its purpose and "it is the architects' move now."

Housed in the Williams Bldg. will be the depts. of English, humanities, philosophy, and religion.

Funds for the actual renovation will be appropriated in the next biennium of the state Legislature. No definite amount has yet been determined, Pugh said.

Actual work on the Williams Bldg. will not begin until September, 1967, at the earliest, he continued.

Townsend, head of the English dept., said that there will be a very considerable rearrangement of floor space.

Townsend continued, saying that "the Williams Bldg. is fundamentally strong and will last a long time."

A few of the other features of the new building will be a teaching auditorium fully equipped with sound amplification and equipped for movie and slide projection.

Also included in the renovation will be seminar rooms, new ceilings designed to improve acoustics, enlarged office space and possibly an elevator with a lock system for faculty members, Pugh said.

Reading and listening rooms may also be a part of the renovation. These rooms would be used by the humanities students, he said. Pugh said that they will "abandon the bull pens," large offices which now house from 15-20 graduate students.

Three or four faculty members, at the most, will be in each office, he continued.

There will no longer be any labs in the building, Pugh pointed out.

The architects will conduct a traffic study in the near future to determine change necessary in the hallways, said Pugh.

At present, 8,000 students are enrolled in classes in the Williams Bldg. each week, more than any other classroom building on campus, said Townsend.

FSU Display Sent To Baylor U.

Mel Smith, Student Government secretary of intercollegiate and public affairs, announced today that a formal display of FSU has been sent to Baylor University in Waco, Tex. The display includes: photographs of the football players, Coach Bill Peterson, the cheerleaders, the team in action, pep rallies and various areas of the campus, such as Westcott and the Union.

The display also shows the media of communication used on campus, such as the "Flambeau," "Pow Wow," "Tally Ho" and "Smoke Signals."

This is the first time that FSU has sent such broad coverage of its student activities to another sports competitor, said Smith.

He has asked for a report on the success of this he said. If it is successful, the school will set up an exchange traveling display to send to other schools a week before the competition, Smith continued. FSU will ask the other schools to do the same, he added.

Smith also announced that a complete revision of "Student Government: Overview" will be completed by next week.

This publication explains the structure of Student Government at FSU.

From Nelsen's Notes

Raging Controversy

Flambeau Sports Editor

The controversy over yesterday's "Ed Pritchett Not Another Tensi!" is hotly raging around the campus. It seems that many people misread or did not even bother to read the editor's note that preceded the column. In the note it was made quite clear that the comments were from people who saw the game.

No member of the "Flambeau" staff had the opportunity to make the trip, therefore any observations, pro or con, would of necessity be second hand.

Also included in the note was the remark that we will reserve judgement until the first home game.

The rash of letters and phone calls coming to this desk have, for the most part, been favorable toward the team and coaching staff. Unfortunately, nearly all the letters and calls have been from people who did not see the game.

ED PRITCHETT

Although everyone has the right to his own opinion, we feel that an eyewitness report has a great deal of value over the impression one receives by listening to the game on the radio.

As a whole, at least as far as can be determined, the majority of those who went to Ft. Worth feel that Pritchett is a capable quarterback and can do the job.

We have no quarrel with this contention; again, judgement is reserved until Saturday.

Several of the letters received were anonymous because of fear of "physical consequences from an angered football player."

"Flambeau" policy will not allow letters to be printed unless the student's name and student number are included. Names will be withheld upon request.

Cross Country Sprints To Win; Gators Sink Seminole Sailors

The varsity cross country team ventured down to Tampa Saturday and defeated the University of South Florida. The final score was FSU 15 and U of SF 48, in cross country the team with the lowest score wins.

The varsity was lead by Bob Hohnadel with a time of 23:01 for the four mile course. Rounding out the first five were Tom Graham, Bill Nelson, John Broglio and Ed Merchant. The team had a perfect score after taking the first five places. FSU took the first seven out of eight places.

The next varsity meet will be in Gainesville against the U of F. The meet is set for Oct. 11.

FSU finished second to the U of F in the Florida Championship Regatta on Lake Bradford over the weekend.

The Seminole sailors fell 70 and one-half -70 to the Gators who were 10 points ahead at the start of the last race. A disqualification on a protest by Florida Presbyterian resulted in the cut of the U of F's lead. FSU was followed in the scoring by Florida Presbyterian with 67 and one-half, St. Petersburg Junior College with 45, St. John's River Junior College with 39 and St. Leo College with 35.

Monday's and yesterday's flag football intramural schedule were wiped out by rain. Barring continuous downpour, there is a full slate of action for today.

At 4:15, the IKT's are facing the SN's, the KA's meet the DX's and the SAE's go against the PIKA's. The PUT's take on the SX's, the ATO's tangle with the PKA's and the TX clash with the TEI's at 5:15 in other Fraternity League play.

JOE PETKO

...sweeps to gain part of the 40 yards he racked up in Saturday night's 7-3 loss to TCU.

Stats Say Seminoles Tops

FSU beat TCU Saturday night—at least they did on paper.

The Seminole offense surpassed the Frog attack in every department except penalties, with the lesson in mind that the game must be played by the rules to win.

TCU chalked up 91 yards rushing and 119 yards passing, but the Tribe counteracted with 108 on the ground and 128 through the airways. FSU also racked up 13 first downs to the Horned Frogs' 12.

The big difference, however, came in the misc column. The Frogs were put back 74 yards through seven penalties, while FSU had to backtrack for 92 yards in one more forfeiture than TCU.

The Seminoles had two passes intercepted to the Frogs' off one, but FSU never lost the ball on fumbles. TCU butterfingered the pumpkin five times.

Both teams punted five times, the Frogs kicking out for 171 yards, and the Tribe booting for 162.

Phil Spooner picked up the longest run for the Seminoles, a jaunt of 13 yards, but maximum honors went to TCU for Kent Nix's 17-yd. sprint. The Frogs outdid FSU on longest pass statistics, but again it was a close margin with F.D. Shabaz's 19-yarder overcoming Ed Pritchett's 15-yd. throw to Max Wettstein.

Pritchett fared well in the final game data. He fired 29 passes, completing 14 for a 48.3 percentage. The Tribe field general's throws accounted for all 128 Seminole yards passing.

Spooner copped running honors for FSU by carrying the ball four times for 23 yards and 5.7 average. Petko logged the ball 11 times for 40 yds., and Pritchett and Giardino both kept it nine times each. Giardino for 19 and Pritchett 15.

Wettstein proved to be Pritchett's most popular receiver. The Seminole quarterback hurled to the big end four times, covering 42 yards. Buddy Blankenship took off 3 tosses for 28 yards and end Jerry Jones captured one for 13. Spooner captured two Pritchett passes for a 15-yd. total.

To the Sports Editor:

One thing certain about Sports Editor: the best quarter back FSU played the whole game. FSU have been punished physically inches may have separated FSU from the entire Seminole team.

A first-rate coach as FSU plays to win, and to win FSU men who are the best. Ed Pritchett is a team player. FSU for five years. More over he's been on the operating water helping FSU win in a Ed Pritchett is not Steve but neither was Tensi, Pritchett. Each plays the game the abilities he was given, are not comparable for FSU achieve a victory, with style.

Ed Pritchett is a team player never stops trying to uphold reputation. The only man passing final judgement call number one quarterback is Ed Pritchett.

A NEW FOLKSINGING GROUP,

Modern Folk Quartet, will perform in the second concert of the Student Entertainment Series Friday 8 p.m. in Tully Gym.

Nero, MFQ Entertain In Series Tomorrow

by KATHY URBAN
Asst. News Editor

The Modern Folk Quartet and Peter Nero will entertain Friday night at 8:30 p.m. in Tully Gym in the second Student Entertainment Series concert of the season.

Tickets are now on sale for $2.50 at the Union Ticket Office.

This is the quartet's second visit to the FSU campus.

The four young men said their new sound is "a wide range of music, from the vigorous to the pacific, the sober to the rollicking to the reflective."

All four of the group sang professionally before forming their own quartet.

Cyrus Faray performed with Dave Gull in the Whiskey Hill Singers until 1961.

Chip Douglas starred in Hawaii's "West Side Story" as well as other musicals.

Jerry Yester, the only native American, had left several groups in the entertainment world--the New Christy Minstrels, Les Baxter's Balladeers, Travis Edmondson and the Easy Riders--to look for a different approach to the music he had been performing all his life.

He heard about a new trio from Hawaii which he joined soon after meeting them.

Nero, who gained fame when he won first prize in Arthur Godfrey's talent show at age 19, has become an entertainer in many fields. He recently made his debut as an actor in MGM's "Sunday in New York."

Because of his success in scoring musicals, Nero now has three contracts for future motion pictures.

The pianist developed a unique style by combining two forms of music--classic and popular. The result is a pleasing arrangement of conventional music played in a "twisting style," according to Kay Vernon, director of special events, who has heard Nero's promotional records.

During the past few years, Nero has played in various supper clubs around the country.

Critics have applauded his technique and his wit.

SG President Term Of Office Limited

by BOB CORNET
Flambeau News Editor

Claiming "no personal intent" by its author, Student Senate passed Sen. Carl Domino's bill yesterday amended to exclude the incumbent, Jim Groot. Wood said that unless the Senate made such an exclusion, the bill should be interpreted as a slap by disgruntled senators at Groot.

"In the past two years," said Wood, "I've seen the office of student body president degenerate and lose stature because of unfortunate circumstances surrounding the elections."

"Feelings are still strong surrounding the election of the incumbent and the passage of the bill,

MEN'S VICE PRESIDENT

with his tenure being included under it, may be viewed as a senate amendment to get back at him," Wood continued.

Wood said that if this were truly a bill of principle and not of personalities he saw no reason why his amendment should not pass. Domino countered by saying that Wood, not he, was the one stressing personalities since his amendment would give the incumbent a privilege enjoyed by no other president, past or future.

It's conceivable, Sen. Domino said, that the incumbent could keep on running for student body president for the rest of his life if he could manage to stay in school at FSU.

Sen. Domino also surprised the Senate with a motion to waive the rules of procedures and consider an unwritten bill for passage. Domino's bill would move the polling area to Smith Hall to Kellum for Friday's run-off election only.

UF Ducats On Sale

Tickets to the Florida game are still available to students.

Tickets will be sold until tomorrow on the basis of one ticket per student with ID card.

Beginning Monday two tickets will be sold to a student with two ID cards.

Sen. Domino also surprised the Senate with a motion to waive the rules of procedures and consider an unwritten bill for passage. Domino's bill would move the polling area to Smith Hall to Kellum for Friday's run-off election only.

"The bill is needed for the run-off," said Domino, "because the Smith Hall senators have already been elected and require no run-off while Kellum has elected neither of its senators."

Kramer Explains Draft Deferment

Capt. William F. Kramer of the US Navy Reserve and a Navy recruiter, responded to yesterday's "Flambeau" editorial with some eye-opening news for draft-conscious college students.

According to Kramer, if a male college student at any time asks for deferment from the draft to complete his college education, he is automatically eligible for the draft until the age of 35.

However, if the college student reaches the age of 27 without being drafted and without asking for a deferment, he is no longer eligible for the draft.

Kramer said, "just about every male college student is draft eligible and doesn't realize it," because of the age extension after deferment. On the subject of draft status with regard to married men, Kramer said that being married doesn't change a male's classification, only his priority.

For example, he said, an individual's name is at the top of a list to be drafted, it is placed at the bottom of the list when he gets married.

This policy of changing a married male's priority is not a law, but rather a statement of policy and can be changed at any time by the President, Kramer continued.

Kramer said every male should explore all the possibilities of fulfilling his military obligation and not being held out of the service which best fits his needs.

There are hundreds of ways to meet the military obligation, according to Kramer, since there are six branches of the service; army, air force, navy, coast guard, marines, national guard.

Each branch has special programs for helping men fulfill their military duty, he said.

MIKE CUDLIPP

Frosh Senator

To the Editor:

No contest is ever over until the final gun is sounded. Elections are no different.

I am earnestly looking forward to meeting and talking with all of you to impress you with my sincere desire to serve all of you as a freshman class senator. Desire is the essential quality for any person in public office and it is the responsibility of myself and my campaign workers to demonstrate my willingness to serve you.

Mike Cudlipp

Freshman VP

To the Editor:

First, may I extend my sincerest thanks to all of you for your support in the elections. Your voting in weather such as this is an outstanding example of the interests of our freshman class in the affairs of FSU. Let us not let this interest die. Your desire for proven ability in government has been shown. Friday you will determine who will represent you in the affairs of the student body. I urge that you decide who you want as this representative by the merits and ability of the candidates.

I have already met many of you, but this is not enough. I strongly wish to meet all of you, and by such personal contact I will know how I can best represent you. However, I again need your support.

Candidate, Freshman President

To the Editor:

As a result of Tuesday's primary election, I am one of two remaining candidates still in contention for freshman class president. I wish to express my sincere thanks to all who voted for me, as my expression of support for me is greatly appreciated.

Now, as the campaign is in its final stage, I once again must ask for your support. To me, nothing would be better than to be able to meet and speak with every freshman of FSU. However, although I certainly intend to try to do so, the prospects of my being able to reach everyone are slim.

I hope that you will take time to read my platform sheet because, in this way, you will be able to best evaluate my qualifications.

I only wish to work for the freshman class, and what I will, please do consider me when you vote on Friday and remember this: my sole interest is to work for you, the fresh-

I consider the publication of Friday's editorial a significant service to FSU.

Any accused might well be unable to establish his innocence by being denied the following safeguards:

1. The presumption of innocence until proven guilty.

2. The right to cross-examine prosecution witnesses.

I believe it would be in the interest of all to have as a trial judge a mature and experienced adult with previous legal experience.

I question that anything less than a comprehensive revision of the matters would provide the standards of legal protection considered desirable in the case of law throughout the English-speaking world.

Moreover, I find it inconceivable that many students and faculty would not find this state of affairs and the ensuing possibilities of a miscarriage of justice, deeply troubling.

After Hours With Mancini

by SHERRI MANLEY and JANICE DUNN
Flambeau Feature Writers

Over 4,000 people listened to "The Concert Sounds of Henry Mancini" Friday night at Tully Gym. After the concert, Mancini spent a few minutes talking about himself and his music for the "Flambeau."

His father encouraged him to take up the piccolo at age eight. Later, he began playing the piano and at 15 he was doing his own arrangements, he said.

The phases of his career, which include being a recording artist, a concert artist, working with several publishing firms and composing, are each of equal importance to him.

At present he hopes to put out a new album in February. It will include the 37 Academy Award winning songs and will be titled "Henry Mancini Plays the Oscar Winners."
In reference to his past works, he said that his favorite musical piece from his film music was the song "Soldier in the Rain."

During the year Mancini gives from 30 to 35 concerts, including concerts with most of the major symphonies. He usually visits three or four colleges in a series, an arrangement which allows him to be at home in Los Angeles more than he is away on tour. When at home, his favorite recreation is relaxing aboard his 30 ft. cabin cruiser.
Mancini said that he has no routine method of composing. When working with Johnny Mercer, he generally arranges the melody first and sends the recording to Mercer for the lyrics. Sometimes, however, a title will suggest a melody.

"Moon River" was written by Mancini after he was requested to compose music for a scene with Audrey Hepburn sitting on a fire escape.
Adding the words, Mercer called the song "Blue River" until he discovered a previous song by the same title. The result was "Moon River," proof of the genius of Mancini and FSU Rathskeller Unveiling Set For Early Nov.

FSU will soon have an informal student gathering place -- the Rathskeller. It takes its name from a German word which has come to refer to a restaurant beyond ground level.

Formerly a fall-out shelter, FSU's Rathskeller will be located beneath the cafeteria in the Union and will be open the same hours as the rest of the Union.

The room itself, dimly lit and with enclosed booths, will lend itself to an intimate atmosphere away from the usual campus activity. There will be vending machines for snacks and a juke box for dancing at any time.

On special occasions, the booths, normally seating several hundred people, will be moved out and a combo brought in for a Union planned dance.

Plans for the Rathskeller were started late last winter. It is now hoped that it will open in the early part of November. This would tie in with the first anniversary of the University Union which will be Nov. 13.

Cable Vision Isn't

Cable vision service will not be available on the Union TV after Friday because of campus construction, said Archie Kramer, Union business manager.
It will be re-established as soon as possible.

New Lines Installed

University Phone Bill Due For Boost

FSU's $14,000 monthly phone bill is expected to be even greater in the near future.

In order to keep up with campus growth, 12 new incoming trunk lines from Tallahassee and 200 new extension lines on campus are expected to be installed within a matter of weeks, said Monte Drake, FSU assoc. director of planning.

"It will now be possible to grant additional telephones to departments and buildings that were previously denied," said Drake. This, he said, was because of the lack of sufficient lines.

The only dormitory to be affected directly will be Salley Hall. There will be additional phones on every floor. At present they are located only on every other floor, Drake added.

The new lines will be in the 4,000 series, and will increase the maximum capacity of lines on campus to 1,500. Two hundred new phone lines will be put into actual use in the near future, he said.

Presently on campus, Drake said, are lines numbered in the 1,000 and 2,000 series. For every additional 1,000 series, there is a possibility of 500 extension lines. Three hundred lines of the 4,000 series are not to be used until future need arises.

There are 49 incoming trunk lines from Tallahassee, he continued, which are considered insufficient for the extensions on campus. "Twelve new incoming trunks added to this number are expected to increase the efficiency for incoming calls," said Drake.

There are also 46 outgoing trunks connected directly with Tallahassee. In addition to the increase of lines, there will also be an increase in equipment necessary for handling the new lines. The equipment is installed and maintained on campus by the telephone company, Drake said.

The PBX equipment necessary for the functioning of campus extensions is located in the basement of Caverton Hall. Incoming calls go through this station. However, with direct dialing it is possible to complete a call any place on campus. There are 6 operators on duty at this center, he continued.

Scholarship Deadline Tomorrow

The deadline for application for nomination to the 1966-1967 Danforth Graduate Fellowship national competition is tomorrow, according to Dr. Robert A. Spivey, Danforth liaison officer for FSU.

Graduating seniors who are interested in a career in college teaching are asked to apply for nomination by filling out an application form in 304 Longmire Bldg.

FSU may nominate up to five qualified students. A faculty committee composed of Dr. Guinar Bosch, chairman of the art dept., Dr. Charles Grigg, professor of sociology; Dr. Hans Fiendl, professor of physics; Dr. William Paton, professor of accounting and Spivey, chairman of the religion dept., will interview the candidates to determine the nominees from FSU.

Fellowships are open to men and women who are seniors or recent graduates of accredited colleges in the US, who have serious interest in college teaching as a career and who plan to study for a PhD in a field common to the undergraduate college, said Spivey.

Applicants may be single or married, must be less than 30 years of age at the time of application, and may not have undertaken any graduate or professional study beyond the baccalaureate, he said.

The fellowships are open to persons of any creed, race or citizenship, he continued. The award is for one year and is normally renewable for a total of four academic years of graduate study, Spivey added. Fellowship stipends depend on individual needs.

In Fraternity League flag football action today the KS's range with the PKPS's, the PKT's face the DX's and the SN's go against the PIKA's at 4:15 p.m.

At 5:15 p.m., the LCA's tackle the DTD's, the PDT's clash with the PIK's and the SX's take on the TEP's.

Wednesday night mixed bowling league results showed the Wild Turkeys tied for first place with team no. 7, and a three-way knot for second among the Delinquents, team no. 9, and team no. 6.

Team no. 7 had high game of 1,138 and high series of 3,186.

Officers of the bowling league this year are Mike Selznick, president and Nancy Cooper, secretary.

New Racquettes Club officers are President Lynne Chalmers, vice president Karen Baughan and secretary-treasurer Carol Castell.

Six new women netters will bolster the team this year — Cathy Harris, Mary Morehead, Donna Russell, Arlene Kraczyk, Lee Kyser and Carol Biller.

The first home match will be Nov. 13 against Sophie Newcomb College.

The FSU men's bowling league started their season Sept. 20 at Crenshaw Lanes. Monday's high game and series was rolled by the coaches' team with 830 and 2,293 scores, respectively.

Bill Watson bowled individual high game at 207, and Roger Sandberg posted a 537 high series.

There is still room for interested bowlers in the handicap league which plays every Monday night at 7 p.m. at Crenshaw Lanes.

The FSU Chess Club met for a blitz tournament following the Sept. 19 business meeting. Robert Ludlow was successful in the round-robin event with a score of 10-0. Steve McNeil and John Hoffman tied for second and third with identical 7-3 tallies.

FSU was well-represented at the recent Florida State Chess Championships at St. Petersburg.

In the open division, former titleholder Ludlow barely missed becoming the first man in more than 10 years to repeat as state champion. He finished in a tie for first place with a score of five and one-half to one and one-half but was relegated to second place on the basis of supplementary tie-breakers.

In the State Amateur Tournament, Hoffman earned second prize by scoring four and one-half points of a possible seven points.

Air Raid Warnings

Baylor Looking For Third Win

by RICH HALTEN
Flambeau Sports Writer

Campbell Stadium is the target for an air raid Saturday night and both sides are fearing the bomb.

Baylor University's "air-force," fresh from two smashing victories, zooms into town with a battle plan that includes giving FSU some of its own medicine.

Last year's Seminoles pioneered the wide-open, pro-type passing offense in college football as opposed to the traditional three-yards-and-a-time ground game. Seeing the success of Tensi-Biletnikoff and Co., many colleges quickly built similar razzle-dazzle pass patterns into their attack.

No newcomers to passing, Baylor's Bears have taken the high-flying pro style to heart and want to show the Seminoles the lesson was well learned.

Piloting the aerial show is junior whiz Terry Southall who in 1964 completed more passes than any other sophomore in Southwest Conference history.

Last week "Terry and the pirates" passed by the usually rugged University of Washington 17-14. Southall moved the Bears 75 yards in 1-10 minutes with five pin-point passes to score the winning margin.

This has the same aroma as last week's TCU game when young P.D. Shabaz threw five for five to engineer the Horned Frogs' on-again-the Seminoles.

Fred Biletnikoff's column year's All-American team.
